

HEARTY WELCOME
AND A FAREWELLBig Demonstration Greeted
Our PresidentCHEERING THOUSANDS MET HIM
ON ARRIVAL.People of Oyster Bay Expressed Cordial, Neighborly Feeling When He Left There.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 30.—Thousands of citizens turned out to welcome President Roosevelt to the national capital this evening and made his homecoming an occasion for an ovation from the time he was sighted on the platform of his car until he passed within the doors of the White House. There was no band of music, but the sweeter melody of cheers of assembled people made the air ring with hurrahs as his carriage passed slowly up the avenue.

The president was deeply touched by the welcome and especially by its spontaneity.

"It was awfully kind of them to come to greet me," he remarked to some friends at the White House port cochere, "and I was deeply, deeply touched by their welcome."

The presidential train came into the station at 6:19 o'clock. On the platform were assembled a dozen or more officials. At their head was District Commissioner West, who was in charge of arrangements for the welcome and who was the first to shake the president's hand as he stepped from the train. With the president was Secretary of State Root and Mrs. Root and Secretary of the Treasury Shaw. At the station were Secretary Hitchcock, Postmaster General Cortelyou, Cuban Minister Quesada, Dr. Hisey, the surgeon-general of the navy, Marshall Palmer of the District of Columbia and others.

A mighty cheer went up as the crowd inside the station caught sight of the president, which was taken up by the crowds outside the station and passed along the line as the president was recognized. He shook hands first with the cabinet members and other officials, then giving Mrs. Roosevelt his arm, he walked slowly to his carriage, which was waiting at the Sixth street entrance. As he reached the engine the president thanked the engineer for his safe trip and stopped to shake his hand.

In the carriage with the president were Mrs. Roosevelt, Ethel, Kinit and Quentin. Quentin sat on the box with the coachman.

The cabinet and the other members of the party followed in carriages accompanying the president to the White House. The president frequently arose and bowed to the cheering crowds on both sides of the avenue and during the latter part of the drive the "hurrahs" became so enthusiastic that the president stood most of the time. Mrs. Roosevelt was greatly pleased with the greeting and her face was radiant as she looked to the right and left. The president's eyes were full of tears.

Not since last inauguration day has Pennsylvania avenue held such a crowd as lined it this afternoon from the station to the White House. Heavy eadles stretched the whole length on both sides kept three rows on the sidewalks. Street cars were stopped and vehicles were halted in the side streets as the party came up the avenue. From every flagpole and from many windows flags were flapping in the cool evening breeze.

A brilliant scene greeted the president's eye as he reached the White House. The mansion was illuminated from basement to attic, bathing the whole white structure with a radiant glow.

The president received a great cheer as he passed the line of C. A. R. veterans who stood in front of their hall on Pennsylvania avenue. The president acknowledged the greeting with a bow and a cordial wave of the hand.

OYSTER BAY, N. Y., Sept. 30.—With the cheers and good wishes of his neighbors and friends following him, President Roosevelt's vacation ended, left Oyster Bay at 10 o'clock this morning for Washington. The farewell given the president by the residents of his home town was notable.

Throughout the village, residence and buildings were decorated and Audrey avenue, over which the president passed to the railway station, was hung with large American flags at intervals of twenty feet.

At the railroad station, over the entrance to the waiting room, a white dais with outstretched wings perched on an American shield had been placed. Beneath this emblem was the one word "Peace." The whole was entwined with the national colors of blue and yellow.

At the station hundreds of neighbors and acquaintances of the president and his family had assembled. Scores of school children were massed about the platform, each waving a little American flag. Within a part of the platform which had been roped off to enable the president and his party to reach the train, were twenty young women attired in white, trimmed with ribbons of red and blue. As the president boarded the train they sang "God Be With You Until We Meet Again." The president from the rear platform of his car made a few farewell remarks to his friends and neighbors.

While the president and family were being driven to the village from Sagamore Hill, the rear axle broke and the back part of the wagon settled down. Fortunately the axle did not break short off, but splintered, and the body of the coachman did not fall to the ground. The coachman stopped the horses immediately. He then went to the residence of John A. Weeks near by and borrowed a carriage, to which the president and his family were transferred and driven to the station. The president made light of the accident, insisting that he and his family were at no time in any danger whatever.

NOTABLE INCREASE IN RECEIPTS FROM CUSTOMS AND INTERNAL REVENUE.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 30.—The monthly report of the government receipts and expenditures, which will be issued next Monday, will show a remarkable increase in the receipts from customs and internal revenue sources. For September, 1904, the customs receipts amounted to $23,230,340 and for the three months of the fiscal year $65,131,784. For the month just closed the receipts from customs were $27,244,146 and for the three months $75,015,577, being an increase of $4,014,786 for the month and $9,883,793 for the three months. Last year at this time the deficit amounted to $17,854,250, as against $9,023,305 for the quarter ending today. During the last three months the internal revenue receipts show a gain over last year of $2,491,979.

JAMES J. HILL IS UNWILLING TO MEET
RAILROAD COMMISSION.

SEATTLE, Sept. 30.—President J. K. Hill, of the Great Northern railroad, refused to meet the state railroad commission yesterday before continuing his journey to Portland. He stated that if the commission had any business to transact with his road, it could do it with the heads of the traffic department.

In a speech delivered at the Rainier club last night, Hill paid his respects to the interstate commerce commission, saying that the const. states were being without it. He said the state of Washington is enjoying the lowest possible rates at the present time and that the government regulation of rates would paralyze the commerce of Washington.

Charged with Wife Murder.

REDDING, Sept. 30.—A warrant was issued today for the arrest of A. O. Brown, accused of having murdered his wife near Acton yesterday and afterwards burning her body in her house.

YELLOW FEVER
UNDER CONTROLAFTER TEN WEEKS FIGHT IN NEW ORLEANS.Only Two Deaths Reported Yesterday Indicates Mild Nature of the Infection.NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 30.—Report of yellow fever cases to 6 p. m.:

New Cases 31
Total to Date 3000
Deaths 2

A terrific epidemic of yellow fever on the city today, but as the water was speedily carried off by the drainage machines there was no interruption of the work of either doctors or inspectors. The death list was again a source of gratification, pointing unmistakably to the fact that the type of fever is exceedingly mild.

It completed the tenth week of the fight against the disease. With the fever practically whipped, conferences are being held favoring the establishment of a permanent hospital, by which it is hoped to prevent any further recurrence of the fever in epidemic form. Following the example of Havana, the fundamental action of the promoters is to secure a site likely to be most free of Stygian mosquitoes.

PENSACOLA, Fla., Sept. 30.—Fourteen new cases of yellow fever and three deaths were reported today. A new city ordinance requiring property owners to keep their premises free from standing water was applied today when two arrests were made.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Sept. 30.—Alabama has quarantined against the entire state of Mississippi.

VICKSBURG, Miss., Sept. 30.—Twelve new cases of yellow fever and two deaths were reported up to 6 o'clock this afternoon.

NATCHEZ, Miss., Sept. 30.—Four new cases of yellow fever were reported today. The total cases to date number eighty-five.

MAIL POUCH ROBBER
SOON TO BE RELEASED
TO STAND TRIAL AGAIN.

TACOMA, Wash., Sept. 30.—It has just become known that on September 13th Albert E. Bell, the notorious mail pouch robber, was transferred from the Federal penitentiary at McNeil's Island to the United States penitentiary at Fort Leavenworth, Kan. Bell has but one month to serve on a two years sentence. The order for transfer came from the United States attorney-general and it is understood Bell is to be tried for robbing the mails in Iowa and Pennsylvania, where he got away with $200,000 in securities, many of which he succeeded in cashing.

American Educator Dead.

NEW YORK, Sept. 30.—The death of Theodore Woodley Heermance, director of the American school at Athens, was announced today in a cablegram received from Professor Wheeler of Columbia university. Dr. Heermance has been ill for some weeks of typhoid fever. He was 30 years old.

Insurance Agents Disband.

JEFFERSON, O., Sept. 30.—The fire insurance agents of Ashtabula county, twenty-eight of whom were recently indicted on the charge of violating the anti-trust laws in maintaining an association to regulate rates, have decided to disband.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 30.—When the president's train arrived today Mrs. William Lock, Jr., wife of the secretary to the president, who is ill with fever, was taken from the train to her home where she is resting quietly tonight.

JURY ACQUITS EMMET RIGGINS

COMPLETELY UNEXPECTED RESULT OF TRIAL DUE
PROBABLY TO SENTIMENTMan Who Shot Robert E. Deane In the Back Is Found Not Guilty—District Attorney Jones Closed The Prosecution With Force and Energy

Emmet Riggins walks the street a free man. The jury that tried him, declared him not guilty of murdering Robert E. Deane.

These are the men who brought in that verdict:

Charles W. Sowers, Frank G. Story, W. M. Wyatt, Warren R. G. Story, Lucius Baker, John W. Fannin, H. F. Holcomb, Josiah Hall, Marvin Simpson and H. Equin.

Under oath to decide the case according to the evidence and the law these twelve men after being out of court for an hour returned a verdict and that verdict set Emmet Riggins free. The twelve men filed into Judge Church's courtroom at 5:30 o'clock yesterday, and W. M. Wyatt, foreman of the jury, handed the verdict to the judge. It was read by Clerk Curtis Bell:

"We, the jury in the above entitled cause, find Emmet Riggins not guilty."

Riggins sprang from the floor and started for the jury box. He was met by Frank H. Short and M. K. Harris, two of the three attorneys who stood between Riggins and the jury, and they shook his hand. Then he went to the jury box and each of the twelve men clasped the finger that pulled the trigger on Deane as they were thanked for their judgment. The last of the twelve to be reached was the foreman, Jim Riggins held in a firm grasp and said more to him than any of the other jurors. Riggins' family was present when the jury brought in the verdict.

How They Did It.

There was much surprise expressed upon the street and no small amount of indignation at the verdict. Speculation as to how the jury came to reach the conclusion expressed in its verdict was rife and the guesses and theories advanced were numerous. It was generally stated that the strong appeals to the sympathy of the jurors by three able attorneys had their effect and probably those appeals to sentiment are responsible for the verdict.

Riggins' friends were very active before and during the trial, and it looked like an organized effort to get him off. Among the most active workers were Fire Chief Ward, Charles Schweizer, Al Ferguson, Dan Dismukes and E. Mathewson. The last named was pushing money around on the outcome of the trial. Owing to his pronounced and outspoken sympathy for the fact that he and Juror Simpson were seen riding in an automobile together Friday night, excited not a little unfavorable comment. It is also known that statements calculated to prejudice jurors were made within the hearing of the trial. The last five days, and the opinion was freely expressed that the jury should have been placed in the custody of the sheriff. To be sure, the sheriff's office was plainly in sympathy with Riggins.

After the verdict, Riggins, accompanied by Judge Harris, went to his home and there a spread was served in celebration of the verdict. The defendant's attorneys and some friends were present.

Emmet Riggins was defended by S. J. Hinds, M. K. Harris and Frank H. Short. The people were represented by District Attorney Jones, who closed the case with as thorough a presentation as could have been prepared, and W. D. Crichton appeared as the special counsel for the relatives of the dead man.

"This is not a battle of the giants," said Jones in his argument yesterday. "For the giants are all on the other side." But Jones made the strongest appeal to the jury, and that Riggins was not convicted was not due to his efforts in presenting the case.

Crowded to Corridor.

The courtroom was crowded full throughout the day. Frank H. Short finished his appeal at about 10 o'clock. The district attorney commenced talking a few minutes later and when adjournment was taken for noon he had about half finished. He completed it after 3 o'clock and Judge Church read the instructions, which took three-fourths of an hour or more.

A Juror Smiles.

During Jones' address the conduct of one of the jurymen became noticeable to everyone in the courtroom. Juror Marvin Simpson, sitting on the front row of the box, kept his eye on the district attorney and the most serious parts of Jones' talk a broad smile bathed the features of the juror from Lecher. When Jones was pleading for justice, discussing points on which seemed to rest the life or liberty of a man, Simpson smiled and smiled at the attorney for the defense. This was kept up until late in the afternoon. Once Jones turned around and seemed to look for the cause of the smiles of the juror who sat before him. Then Jones said without referring particularly to anyone, "This is no smiling matter, no trifling matter, this thing of trying a man for murder, and therefore the smiles no longer wreathed the face of the juror."

Family Was There.

As on previous days of the trial Riggins' family was present beside him. Tears flowed in plenty. Mrs. Riggins, veiled in heavy black, sobbed as she had done on the other days. A large number of women sat within the railing throughout the day while the audience room was filled.

Weeping Has Played a Part In the trial, and probably in the reaching of the verdict, the tears of feeble Mrs. Riggins have played a part. The tears of little Mary and the tears of relatives of the man who was accused of crime have played their part. There was no man who attended the five days of the trial whose heart did not go out in pity for the poor woman.

When the jury was taken from the courtroom to the juryroom there a verdict to render, the twelve men were filed past the place where wept the wife, where wept the daughter, where wept the relatives, where the wife's arms and the daughter's arms could be seen around the prisoner's neck. Early in the afternoon the jury was given a recess. Then the twelve men passed quickly and quietly behind the bench and into the corridor without passing by the disconsolate family. When the jury went to the juryroom the bailiff cleared the fore part of the audience room, keeping the jury in the box, and the jury passed within a yard or two of the sobbing wife and crying child.

The Verdict.

The jury began deliberations a short time after 4 o'clock. Riggins was taken to jail. At 6:20 o'clock the jury announced that verdict had been prepared. Court convened and the jury reported Riggins not guilty.

The jury agreed not to tell what took place behind the closed doors. Such was the answer given by Wyatt, the foreman. What the reason for keeping secret from the public these facts is not known. However, it is known that the first eight of the jury, twelve men stood for acquittal and four for conviction of some degree of murder. After an hour the twelve men agreed on the verdict of not guilty.

The Defense Closes.

When court convened at 9 o'clock yesterday morning Frank H. Short resumed his argument to the jury. He was the last of the three attorneys for the defense and his peroration was a magnificent piece of oratory, touching and tender. It was generally expected that Short would go much into the evidence, as his talk Friday afternoon was an appeal to sympathy as had also been the appeal of Judge Harris, strong on sentiment.

Short closed with an appeal for the acquittal of Riggins on the ground that he was acting in accordance with his natural impulses, the natural impulses of any man who holds his family life dear and whose spirit will not stand an insult to any one of his loved ones.

Return on Evidence.

District Attorney Jones deserves credit for as strong an argument as any district attorney could have made. He said that it was not a battle of the giants, because the giants were on the other side, but he put up the talk of a giant and struck straight from the shoulder. Clearly, forcefully he analyzed the evidence and clearly, fully, he presented it. There were many who predicted that as a result of Jones' speech the verdict could not be less than murder in the second degree. He made the best argument given the jury.

"I did not make the facts in this case," the defendant has made them."

"Every witness of the affair was prejudiced except those silent monuments that cannot be denied—three holes in a human being's back, one powder-burned hole from the front through the heart, three scars in the window. The facts in this case must ride the fate of this defendant. The district attorney asked the jury to stand on their oaths as he was doing and do justice, depending upon facts."

"I have listened to three men speak to you, three lawyers at the head of the bar of the valley. They appealed almost wholly to your sympathies. I have heard them say that they might have left out the Deane had no place in the world and for that reason Riggins had a right to kill him."

"I want to argue facts, a departure from the procedure of the defense," Jones said that it was in evidence that both Riggins and Deane were in a state of intoxication. Mrs. Riggins wanted Deane to go to his home because she did not want the children to see a drunk man there.

"If Deane said anything about an arsenal he meant the guns in caves on the floor." Jones took considerable time in discussing the probability that a pistol was in that closet the day of the shooting. He said that if it had been there John White and Conner Cowan would have seen it. "It is an important fact, the master of the pistol in the closet, and I tell you the evidence stands out damning to the defendant."

"Had Riggins' claim been an honest claim would he not have told the world of it the day the man was killed? Would he have lived the life of the best attorneys in the state to tell his simple story? Innocent men do not say 'I plugged him.' Suppose the dead man should return and tell his story. He would say 'I asked for water and he gave me bullets.'"

Story as Jones Saw It.

Jones said that he believed that Deane came out of the bedroom drunk. "I want you to consider that each time Mrs. Riggins approached the vital point of telling of the insult she broke down and cried, and likewise when she approached telling of the shooting."

At this juncture Juror Simpson smiled and Jones turned to see at whose antics he was receiving amusement.

When Riggins ordered Deane to get his coat and vest he knew they hung near the revolver, if there was one in the closet. Hinds said the husband would not let the drunk man go by his wife, yet the wife passed him on the stairs without harm. The wife went to Riggins because she knew his disposition, and she cried 'Emmet, don't, put it away.'"

The Shot From the Front.

The district attorney then gave his reasons for believing that Riggins stood over Deane and fired the fourth shot through his heart. "First because it was powder burned; second because of the blood stain on the carpet. Had the shot in the heart come before he fell no blood would have been pumped from the wounds to the floor. The blood flowed and then the bullet went through the heart."

"The wife cried out, 'Why did you do it?' She knew that Deane had done nothing to be killed for."

Jones then made a plea for fairness under the law and he submitted the case.

The Instructions.

Judge Church then read his instructions. In part they were as follows: Gentlemen of the jury: This case is about to close. The duties of court and counsel are nearly at an end and to you now will be entrusted the important duty of determining from the evidence under the instructions now to be given you the merits of the charge here made against the defendant.

You should consider the arguments of counsel not as proof, not as evidence, nor in the way you do the evidence, but as theories which may be drawn from the evidence in the case by those interested. You must not accept those theories unless you in your conscientious judgment believe them to be well founded upon the evidence you have heard. The evidence and the instructions of the court must finally be your sole guide.

You are about to determine the guilt or the innocence of the accused. The importance of your duties requires that you should consider the right of the public to have the law properly executed, and that it is with you jurors, citizens selected from our community, that daily rests the duty of determining the guilt or innocence of those accused of crime, and unless you do your duty, laws may as well be stricken from our statute books.

You should always keep in mind the importance of the result of your deliberations to the accused and be just to him. The duty you owe to him is the same as the duty you owe to the public and the defendant, have the right to demand and expect that you will carefully and dispassionately weigh and consider the evidence and the law of the case and give to each your conscientious judgment, and that you will reach such a result that will be just to both sides regardless of what may be the consequences.

You are further instructed that testimony as to certain admissions and declarations alleged to have been made by the defendant which have been admitted in evidence are to be received with great caution.

If a warrant of conviction he must be proved to be guilty so clearly and conclusively that there is no reasonable theory upon which he can be innocent when all the evidence of the case is considered. In criminal cases the evidence must be so clear as to preclude all reasonable theories but one of guilt.

The existence of actual danger is to be considered from the standpoint of the defendant.

If the jurors are satisfied that the defendant acted in self defense it will be entirely immaterial in what part of the body of the deceased the fatal wounds were inflicted, entirely immaterial whether the alleged fatal bullets entered from behind or in front of the defendant.

The conduct of the deceased to the wife of the defendant must be considered as material in considering manslaughter.

The defendant had a right to act as promptly as the situation appeared to him to require viewed from his then point of view.

If the deceased by actions and demonstrations, if any, at the time of the shooting gives the defendant a right to believe and he does believe that the deceased intends to inflict great bodily injury on him, the defendant need not wait for the deceased to carry out his intention but may use all necessary means to prevent such threatened attack and if necessary shoot and kill the deceased without giving the deceased a chance to use his weapon.

The jury is to consider from the standpoint of the defendant and his viewpoint at the time of the homicide and not from the standpoint of the jury in the light of the facts proved on this trial.

If the jury is not convinced that there was deliberation, though the time was short, it cannot find the defendant guilty.

Inquiry may be made as to whether the heat of passion continued down to the moment the alleged fatal bullets were fired, but did the person cool or was there time for cooling.

Let the jury clearly understand the doctrine of "cooling time." It is when the jury must decide between murder and manslaughter that the question as to whether reason interposed and passion died down is to be considered.

A person interposing a plea for self defense need not show that the danger was immediate at the moment of the killing. He may anticipate the attack of his antagonist if necessary for his protection to having good reason as a reasonable man to believe and he believing that if he does not intervene in his own behalf that his antagonist will at once carry out his design to do him great bodily injury.

Should manslaughter be considered provocations are not required to be so grievous and threatening as to justify a caution or attack or an assault, but such as are calculated to produce in an average, ordinary mind a high degree of exasperation, rendering the mind of the defendant incapable of cool reflection and deliberation.

No mere word or language, however approbrious or offensive, will alone justify an assault by one person upon another, or justify one person in killing another or taking his life.

It often happens that there are elements in the case by reason of the connection of other parties with it; the manner it may have already affected them, or will probably affect them in the future, even the manner in which the defendant himself may be affected by the result that appeals at once to the kinder part of our natures and sympathies.

And, while you may not, cannot, put aside such feelings altogether, while the fact that this part of your nature thus appealed to, may, and should, make you careful of what you do, still you must not allow any such feelings to weigh in the scales, which you measure the merits of the case on the evidence of your own duty to either side.

That others will be injuriously affected by your verdict is not to be considered. If you have ever had any feeling in the case, or as to any of the parties connected with it, this is no place for such feelings, and you must leave them all aside.

You must decide on the case as you have heard it on the evidence which has been allowed before you. Deal only with the question of the guilt or innocence of the accused and leave aside all possible results.

TEARFUL SCENES
AT NIGHT FIRETHREE LIVES LOST AND SEVERAL PERSONS INJURED.Survivors Experienced Tortures on Burning Roof Between Death by Flames or Jumping.

NEW YORK, Sept. 30.—Two men were burned to death as they slept, a third was so badly burned that he died in a hospital, another is in a dangerous condition and several others suffered serious, but not fatal, injuries in a fire in a two-story saloon restaurant and lodging house at No. 221-223 West Third street. The two men who lost their lives occupied a room in the rear of the building. They were overcome by smoke and burned to death in their bed. All the occupants of the house were safe and longshoremen except the woman, the housekeeper. Those who suffered death and injury were suffocated and burned within a few minutes, the fire being extinguished before the damage had exceeded $3000.

The first known of the fire outside was when McClelland, his clothes on fire, dashed downstairs from the lodging house and ran into the saloon. The bartender threw his apron around the flaming man and finally succeeded in smothering the flames. McClelland's condition was such, however, that he died within an hour.

McClelland was the only lodger to get to the streets by the stairs. The cases as the women in the stifling smoke found the stairs blocked by flames. Some of them succeeded in reaching windows from which they were rescued by firemen, but McMahon and Vaughn were overcome by smoke and burned to death in their beds.

Four of the lodgers who were unable to reach windows had a narrow escape from death in the flames. They made their way to the roof of the building through the skylight, only to find the burning building separated from those adjoining by chasms a dozen feet in width on both sides. None of them dared attempt a leap which might have landed them in safety on another roof. They went to the roof and stood there, surrounded by flames and the roof on which they stood was searing their bare feet when their plight was called to the attention of the firemen and they were rescued.

Patrick Dowd, the worst injured of those rescued from the fire, later died from his burns.

Big Fire Near Baltimore.

BALTIMORE, Sept. 30.—A destructive fire occurred today at Highland Town, a suburb, the plant of the Red C. Oil company being entirely consumed, as was the plant of Sherwood Bros., manufacturers of oils and grease; a street railway car barn and several small dwellings and business structures. The loss is estimated at $500,000.

New Russian Political Party.

MOSCOW, Sept. 30.—During the recent sessions of the congress of zemstvos and municipalities here a new political party, entitled the Constitutional-Nationalist party, was formed. Many prominent persons are members of the new organization.

Dan Patch's Good Effort.

CHICAGO, Sept. 30.—The pacing stallion Dan Patch was sent against the record for a half mile track (2:01) at the West Side Driving park today. Conditions were favorable with the exception of the wind, which was strong. The mile was made in 2:01.2.

Third Ticket in New York.

NEW YORK, Sept. 30.—A statement was issued tonight by Judge Samuel Seabury, C. Augustus Haviland, Judge Palmer, Thomas Gilleran and Melvin G. Palliser, of the Municipal Ownership League, that it had been decided to place a third municipal ticket in the field.

TURKS MASSACRE
THE MACEDONIANSSlaughter of Christians Is Reported UponGRAVE CHARGE MADE AGAINST THE AUTHORITIES.Turkish Soldiers Vent Their Ire Upon Innocent Women and Children

Unchecked.

LONDON, Sept. 30.—W. A. Moore, secretary of the Balkan committee, who has returned from a two months' tour of Macedonia, said to the Associated Press today:

"The wanton slaughter of Christians in Macedonia continues under the eyes of Europe's representatives. Crossing the Bulgarian border the first news to greet me was an unparadise massacre in the little village of Kompanitz, which occurred three days before my arrival. In visiting the village I found the bodies of a man, two women, a girl and three children still unburied and laid out in the Christian church. The woman had been shot, but I saw one child whose head had been crushed, probably with the butt of a gun."

"The wounded had been taken to Erpi Palanka, an hour's ride distant and where resides the Austrian officer in charge of the district."

"The story of the affair is a repetition of the oft-told tale. An insurgent band visited the village and demanded food on departing. The Turkish authorities, learning of the visit, dispatched a body of troops, which, discovering no insurgents in the place, dealt out their revenge on the Christians."

"The observation of the European officers seldom deters the Mohammedans from slaying Christians. The Austrian officer at Komanova district has charge of 419 villages where murders are of daily occurrence and are not noticed by the authorities. In the Monastir district the Italian officers sleep with the Turkish army in order to observe its methods of 'suppressing insurgents.' This, however, only prevents special detachments from penetrating crime."

"The village of Mogila, in which an Albanian brigand was assassinated, was punished by the Turkish troops. Nine unarmed peasants were killed and arms were placed beside them in a corn field in order to deceive the Italian officers, who were invited to inspect the insurgents. But the rifles were of the pattern used by the troops in the Monastir district."

"Brigandage continues flagrantly and business and property are less safe than before Russia and Austria were given the mandate to reform the country two years ago. The gendarmerie officers admit their inability to protect the population and several of them told me they had so reported to their governments. The Macedonians have no hope left."

Moore says the country is still swarming with Asiatic troops which have not been removed since the mobilization against Bulgaria in 1903.

James Bryce, M. P., president of the Balkan committee, is now touring Macedonia and investigating conditions preparatory to laying the results of his tour before the British parliament. The authorities in Macedonia are said to be employing every means to prevent him from gathering information and the port has requested the British government to permit the expulsion of Bryce from Turkey.

ALLEGED BLACKMAILER OF PAUL MORTON TO BE SENT TO ASYLUM.

DENVER, Sept. 30.—A Republican special from Albuquerque, N. M., says: George Barrett, accused of attempting to blackmail Paul Morton, president of the Equitable Life Assurance society, for whom the police have been searching all over the country, was arrested at Thornton, N. M., last night and brought here this afternoon on the charge of insanity. Barrett, it is asserted, wrote letters to Paul Morton demanding $5000. In his possession were numerous letters from big trust companies and railroad magnates showing he had attempted to blackmail them. He will be committed to an asylum.

Church of God Camp Meeting.

At the annual camp meeting of the Church of God was held on its grounds near the corner of Park and Washington avenues from October 6th to 14th. Visiting evangelists and local leaders will be present to proclaim the doctrine of the church, the message of this last reformation in which the church is being restored to her pristine glory of holiness, the gifts of the Spirit (divine healing, etc.), and the unity of the one body or Church of God preparatory to the coming of Christ. The meetings will also be enlivened by singing. Services will be as follows: Preaching, 10:30 a. m., 2:30 p. m. and 7:30 p. m. Morning prayer 6 to 7 a. m. All are cordially invited to attend these services.

Le Grand Grange.

A new grange was formed at Le Grand last Thursday by John S. Dore. Officers were elected as follows: Worthington, A. E. Montrey; overseer, C. Zimmerman; lecturer, Mrs. A. E. Montrey; steward, D. W. Eno; assistant steward, N. O. Miller; chaplain, Mrs. N. O. Miller; treasurer, J. L. Ipson; secretary, J. Vetterli; gate keeper, L. H. Kahrt; lady assistant steward, Miss O. Harrison. State grange meeting at Napa this week will begin on Tuesday and continue through the week.

Portland Day at the Fair.

PORTLAND, Sept. 30.—Although Portland day at the fair was by far the most successful in point of attendance during the entire exposition period, the ambition of Portland people to record 100,000 admissions fell short, probably by about 15,000.

GOTTSCHALK'S GOTTSCHALK'S GOTTSCHALK'S

Our Millinery Department a Dream of Loveliness

The new ideas in stylish millinery at such little prices is commented on by thousands who attended during our opening days. No person could afford to buy elsewhere before seeing what Gottschalk's are showing in the correct styles this season.

Patent Leather Hats 75c

Take a look around and see for yourself what other stores are asking for similar hats. We will let you be the judge of the best styles and quality. Our price is always lowest; price

The French Sailor Hat $6.50

One of the noblest dress hats of the season, made of genuine Panne velvet with novelty braid, trimmed crown and brim, Paradise bird, after the style of picture, a beauty at $6.50

Cold Weather Comforts at the Right Prices

COTTON BLANKETS, 59c PAIR—This is not the real cheap cotton blankets but a pair of good quality blankets that sell at 75c pair anywhere. 10-4 double blanket, size with fancy border. It is a great value and big seller at $59c

Large Comforters, $1.12 Wool Blankets, $4.00 Sateen Comforters, $1.79

Made of figured cloth, cover- 10-4 size double woolen ing filled with white carded blankets, bound with silk cotton, stitched or tufted; tape; one of our extra special special at $1.12 at $4.00 $1.79

Popular Stylish Weaves in Dress Goods and Silks

Our dress goods department is overflowing with this season's new weaves. This fall's new color shadings are soft and pleasing to the eye. The most popular being the new Alice blue, the new green, the new plum and the new grey. Interesting low prices on the following:

$1.25 Broadcloth, $1.00 75c Peau de Cygne, 57c 60c All Wool Granites, 50c

A genuine American broad- cloth, 52 inches wide, in all the new fall colors and black. This is the opening price on this new silk; comes in the season's newest shadings, very soft and clinging for the new dress this year. Here is something else in the new colors in granites. You could hardly find anything to make up prettier or wear better. Specially low priced at $50c

75c Scotch Suitings, 60c $1.25 Black Taffeta, 98c $1 Black Voile, 89c

Look around and see what other stores are showing and judge for yourself. All wool fancy suitings, plain colors, plaids and checks, worth 75c, special at $60c To introduce our sterling values in black taffetas we place on sale today only our 27 inch black taffeta, guaranteed price $1.25; special, $98c

Swell Styles in New Coats and Suits for Little Prices

We are giving some special values in cloaks and suits.

New Eton Suit, $14.00

Very jaunty and stylish, made of wool covert, in new fall shades, satin lined, full pleated skirt.

Long Covert Coat, $8.50

A rain coat, guaranteed water proof. You'd consider them fine value at $12.50, comes in mixed grey and tan, covered buttons to match seams, all double tailor stitched.

The Long Frock Suits $25.00

An all tailor made coat, 47 inches long, stitched seams, new hip pocket, latest cut in sleeves, comes in gray and all colors of pan chevrot, satin lined, pleated skirt. Compare this suit to what other stores are asking $40.00 for and you will think it very modestly priced.

A safe place to trade. We exchange or refund your money.

Watch our windows for goods underpriced but not advertised.

EARLY HOUR EATING

MAY NO LONGER BE ASSISTED BY FESTIVE GLASS.

Complaint About Management of Restaurants That Sell Liquor Being Noticed by Officials.

Complaint that has been growing from day to day for several months regarding the conduct of certain restaurants in this city will probably call for action by one or another branch of the city government in a short time. Mayor Lyon stated yesterday that he thought the situation demanded some immediate attention.

The police commissioners at a number of meetings have discussed the question of the sale of liquor in restaurants, especially after late hours and in small quantities. The restaurants all sell under special licenses, which permit sale in bottles and not by the glass. It was reported that many of the eating places are selling whisky by the glass contrary to law.

Saloons are now all required to close at 10 o'clock in the morning and the violations of this law are very few. Saloon proprietors have been complaining of unjust discrimination, in that restaurants, which are competing with them in the sale of liquor are permitted to run all night, and this is particularly bad if it is true that they sell by the glass.

The sale of liquor in eating houses has been accompanied by more or less disorder. A number of places in the center of town have been frequented during the early hours of the morning by women in a state of partial intoxication. Graver stories have been afloat of the use of the stalls of restaurants, and while possibly all of these would be hard to substantiate they have been sufficient to make responsible men think that there should be a means of permitting the officers to exercise a strict control.

Mayor Lyon stated yesterday that he was in favor of forbidding the sale of liquor altogether in restaurants after 1 o'clock.

"Most of the people who go to restaurants early in the morning," he said, "and become noisy there, go there because they can get liquor and not that they want something to eat. They can buy beer by the bottle at small expense, even if they cannot get drink by the glass. These things make the restaurants objectionable to the persons who wish to go there and eat in peace, and restaurant owners are a hard body, knowing when to throw people out of their places, especially as they make more from the liquor than they do from the food."

"Besides, the sale of this drink in the restaurants is an unfair competition with the saloon keepers who are required to pay a very high license and then close at 1 o'clock."

"As a matter of fact, if it is objected that the restaurants will sell after 1 o'clock anyhow, I think the restaurants that have permits to sell liquor could be closed altogether after 1 o'clock. It is done in other cities, and strictly enforced. In Oakland, you cannot get anything to eat in a restaurant after 1 o'clock in the morning. I don't believe in any extremes like that, for there are people who are properly abroad during the early hours and have a right to eat if they are hungry, but such places do not need to handle liquor."

PRESBYTERIAN CHOIR

Will Render a Special Program This Morning and Evening.

The choir of the First Presbyterian church will open the season today with special music both morning and evening. The church has been fortunate in securing Arthur G. Wahlberg again as musical director for the coming year. Mrs. Ralph Powell will be soprano soloist, a position which she has so ably filled for several years. Mrs. D. C. Leonard will continue to preside at the organ, where she has faithfully served for a number of years.

The choir anticipates giving a series of sacred concert monthly, the first to take place this evening, given by a choir composed of twenty ladies' voices.

The program will be as follows: Prelude, "Pilgrim's Chorus" ... Wagner Choir, "No Evil Shall Befall These" ... From Costa's "Eli."

Responsive Reading. Trio, "Life Thine Eyes" ... Mendelssohn Mrs. R. A. Powell, Miss Zoe Glasgow and Miss Bell T. Ritchie.

Prayer. Choir, Psalm XXIII ... Schubert Congregation and Choir, Hymn No. 46.

Announcements. Offertory Solo, "Like a Heart Desires" ... Allitsen Miss Bell T. Ritchie.

Sermon, "A World-Wide Outlook" ... Dr. Boyd.

Choir, "Prayer I Leave With You" ... From Trowbridge's "Emmanuel" Congregation and Choir, Hymn No. 16.

Benediction. Postlude, "Verset" ... Bastiste.

The choir is composed of Arthur G. Wahlberg, musical director; Mrs. D. C. Leonard, organist; Mrs. Ralph Arthur Powell, soprano; Miss Zoe Glasgow, mezzo; Miss Bell T. Ritchie, contralto; First sopranos, Mrs. Jessie Leblanc, Mrs. C. H. Eccleston, Miss Maude E. Graham, Miss Julia Teague, Mrs. J. E. Trowitt. Second altos, Mrs. J. L. Reall, Mrs. W. F. Forsyth, Mrs. S. F. Glasgow, Miss Minnie B. Marshall, Miss Kate Parsons.

DEATH OF MRS. DWYER.

Wife of Popular Theatrical Manager Suddenly Taken.

Mrs. Grace E. Dwyer, wife of George Dwyer, wife of George Dwyer, of the Novelty Grand Theater Company, gave birth to an infant daughter night before last and died yesterday forenoon. The boy was such a bitter one that the young husband was under the care of physicians during the afternoon. It was thought at first that the child would die, but it was resting easy last night.

During her two years residence in Fresno, Mrs. Dwyer had become universally loved by those who had come in any way into contact with her. A native of Missouri, she was 24 years old, and was married to Mr. Dwyer about four years ago in the East. They came to Fresno about two years ago, while Mr. Dwyer was still an operator on the Santa Fe. This was their first child.

The funeral will be held at 1 o'clock this afternoon from the home, No. 119 Diana street. Episcopal services will be conducted by Rev. H. S. Hansen.

Life Insurance in Wall Street. Why not have your reserve invested at home? The Conservative Life invests its money in California and deposits securities with the State Treasurer at Sacramento, to protect your policy.

CHURCH NOTICES.

Rev. A. C. McKeever of the Christian church will preach at the park services this evening, beginning at 8 o'clock, on the subject, "What Sin Does For Us." Christian—N and Mariposa. Rev. A. C. McKeever, pastor. 9:30 a. m. Bible school. 11. morning service. Sermon by pastor. 6:15 p. m. Christian Endeavor. 7:30 p. m. Evening services, sermon by Rev. D. A. Russell of Red Bluff.

Unitarian—A. O. U. W. hall. Rev. N. A. Haskell, pastor. 9:45 a. m. Sunday school and kindergarten. 11. morning service. Sermon by the pastor, subject, "The fault, dear Brutus, is not in our stars, but in ourselves, that we are underlings." No evening service.

Cumberland Presbyterian—Nand Tulare. Rev. Duncan Wallace, pastor. 9:45 a. m. Sunday school; 11. morning service; sermon by the pastor, subject, "Whatsoever a man sows, that shall he also reap"; 6:30 p. m. Junior Endeavor; 7 p. m. Christian Endeavor; 8. evening service; sermon by the pastor, subject, "Let the redeemed of the Lord say so." Special music has been provided for morning services. Mrs. Edward Bush will sing in the morning, and Mr. Walter Olney in the evening.

United Presbyterian—K and Merced. Rev. J. M. Gillespie, pastor. 10 a. m. Sunday school; 11. morning service; sermon by the pastor, subject, "Messengers of Truth"; 6:30 p. m. Christian Endeavor; 7:30. evening service; subject, "Christ's Mission."

Congregational—K and Inyo. 9:45 a. m. Sunday school; 11. morning service, sermon by Presiding Elder J. E. Moore; 7:30. evening service, sermon by Rev. J. E. Moore.

Methodist Episcopal—M and Tulumne. Rev. Harcourt W. Peck, pastor. 9:45 a. m. Sunday school; 11. special services for the Sunday school rally day; 7 p. m. special service by the Epworth League.

Methodist Episcopal (South) will meet with the Congregational at K and Inyo. 11. morning service, sermon by presiding elder, J. E. Moore; 6:30 p. m. Epworth League; 7:30 p. m. evening service; sermon by Rev. J. E. Moore.

Baptist—N and Merced. Rev. A. P. Brown, pastor. 9:30. Sunday school; 11. morning service, sermon by the pastor, subject, "How to keep from growing old"; 6:30 p. m. B. V. P. U. meeting; 7:30. evening service, sermon by the pastor, subject, "Is the world coming to universal peace?"

Immanuel Danish Lutheran—Elm and Lincoln avenues, Easton. Mr. N. Andersen, pastor. 10. morning service; 3 p. m. Sunday school in Oleander mission. St. James Episcopal Church—Corner Fresno and M streets. Rev. H. S. Hanson, rector. Sunday school 9:45 a. m.; Litany and holy communion, 11 a. m.; subject of sermon, "Modern Sanctification." Evening prayer, 7:30 p. m. Subject of sermon, "The Standard of Modern Men and Women." Offertory solo, "A Dream of Paradise." Mrs. J. E. Munn of San Francisco.

REAL ESTATE TRANSFERS.

(Recorded September 30, 1905.) Pacific Improvement Co. to H. A. Smith et al., blocks 100, 110, sw 1/4 block 106 and 107; Redley, $330.

California Savings & Loan Society to Alexander Moore, w 1/4, e 1/4, se 1/4, section 18, t 14 s, r 20 e; $10.

Henry Sherwood to George Hall, lot C, block 1, Villa addition, Fresno; $10.

Jonathan Elwood to W. L. Fletcher, n 25 lot, lots 18 to 23, block 2, Hazelton addition, Fresno; $10.

Ische Kinspel next to Alice Townsend, no 1/4, ne 1/4, section 13, t 16 s, r 21 e; $10.

Alexander Bopp to Katie Bopp, lots 9 and 10, block 231, Fresno; $10.

Laurits Jensen to Christian P. Sneitrop, e 1/3, w 1/4, nw 1/4, sw 1/4, section 36, t 16 s, r 22 e; $1230.

Graff's Is Stove Headquarters for Fresno

When you're planning to buy your winter stoves, it's quite wise to visit our store, and look over our complete and elegant assortment.

After you've seen our collection, you will readily see why "Graff's is stove headquarters for Fresno."

Our ranges and cook stoves are all modern, have all the latest improvements and for durability, style and economy of fuel can't be surpassed.

Whatever you need in the line of stoves whether it be heating stoves for oil, wood or gas stoves, you will find the best for your money here.

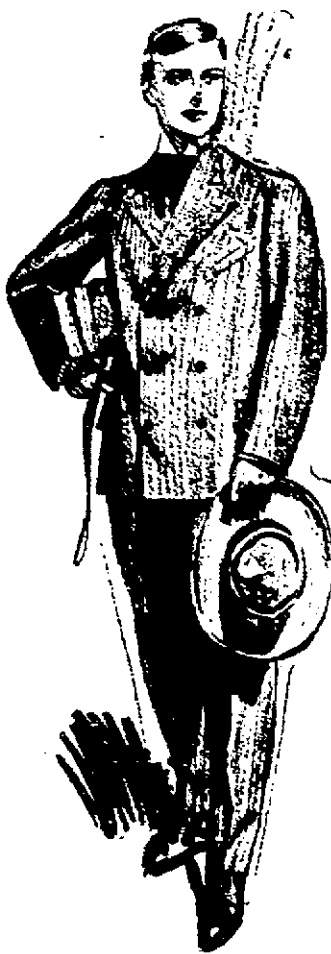

Glance over our prices and then get yours tomorrow.

Heating Stoves, $2 to $15 Oil Heaters, $4 to $6 Gas Heaters $2.50 to $5.50

We're more than pleased to show you our stoves so come in any time for we're always glad to talk this stove question over.

Better Clothing Values THAN EVER

We will continue for this week to give you the best suit values ever offered in Fresno. Suits at...$10 and $12.50 Worth $20.00.

The suits at $10.00 comprise a very fine variety that every store gets $15.00 for but we have decided that quick sales and small profits is good enough for us. See our window display of suits at $10.00 and you will be astonished at the splendid values. The suits priced at $12.50 are positively the very best assortment ever offered in Fresno at $12.50 The clothes include fancy and black worsteds, in both single or double breasted sack styles and we can assure you that all our clothing is splendidly tailored and that you will get a perfect fit. Look at our window display of $12.50 suits; they are world beaters. These suits are certainly worth more money but for quick selling we have priced them to you at $10.00 and $12.50.

1014-1016 I STREET.

FRESNO, CAL.

THE NEW TAILORS

AT ROOM 3 SHORT BUILDING.

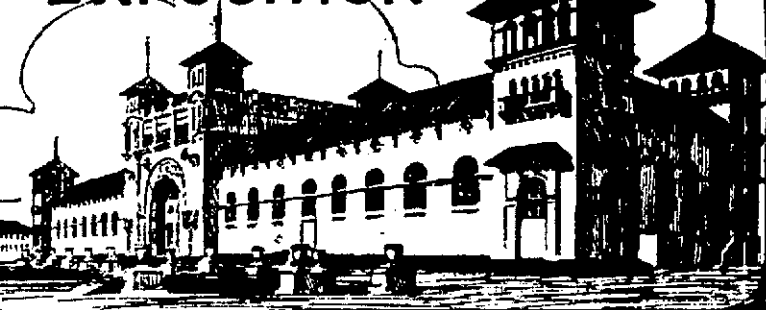

Have a full line of the swellest patterns for the coming season. If you want the best, see them.

Lindquist & Nelsen

1033 J STREET

PHONE MAIN 993

LEWIS & CLARK EXPOSITION

The European Exhibit Building

Can't you visit Europe?

Then you should go to Portland to see this building and its unique European exhibits. The building is 462x100 feet in size and cost $51,720.

From the center rises a huge square tower, the floor of which contains a roof-garden commanding a magnificent view of the Exposition grounds.

Exhibits from the principal countries of Europe are in this building and a visit there is a good illustration of what you would see if you were to visit Europe.

COMMENCING SEPT. 25TH.

10 day round trip tickets, $20.00

21 day round trip tickets, $24.00

END OCT. 12, 1905.

For full particulars see Agent

SOUTHERN PACIFIC

AGENCY INDIAN MOTOR CYCLES

You Will Buy No Other After Examining These.

1905 Foot Ball Rules
Foot Ball Supplies

For Weak Ankles Try Our Ankle Supporters
SPORTING GOODS DEPT.

Donahoo-Emmons & Co.

California Fruit Cannery Assoc'n will Pay Cash for RAISINS

Apply to

J. M. and G. M. Seropian or C. H. West, at Seropian Pkg. House, Santa Fe Reservation. Phone Main 40

Your Scalp Looks Bad
When covered with dandruff, and soon your covering of hair will be gone. Use Smith's Dandruff Powder; the only positive cure for dandruff. Price 50c, at Smith Bros' Drug Store.

Get Money.

We will save you 10 per cent on your stoves and ranges, if you walk just 2 blocks further to Foin and Sons', J and Merced. Don't forget the name and place.

Facts.

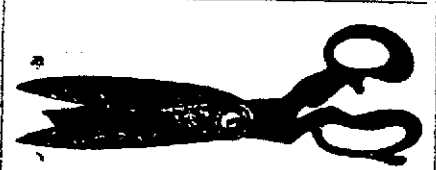

If you want to see the finest line of ranges in the San Joaquin valley go and see Foin & Sons, corner J and Merced.

Dr. M. K. Chappell, Osteopath, Suite 147 Forsyth bldg. Phone Main 1240.

J. M. Collier Co., 1223 Tulare street. Real Estate and Fire Insurance.

Dr. Parrett, Osteopath, room 5-6 Bank Central Calif. bldg. Tel. Main 1459.

Farm wagons at cost. Lyons-Boles Co.

ORDER YOUR SUIT TODAY

Pay $2.50 Down and $1.50 Per Week Until Paid for.

PRICES

$14.50. $17.50. $20.00. $22.50. $25.00 and $27.50.

Quality for quality, these prices are $10.00 to $15.00 less than anywhere else.

YEZDAN BROS. TAILORS

1115 K Street.

Suits Cleaned and Pressed $1.00

Our Fall Opening Monday and Tuesday

October 2 and 3

No cards; please consider this a personal invitation to attend.

Tailored Suits, Afternoon Dresses, Reception Costumes, Lace Robes

Street and Evening Coats, Dress Skirts, Waists, Furs

THE WONDER CLOAK AND SUIT HOUSE.

BOOKS BOOKS

JONES DAVIES CO. STATIONERS AND BOOKSELLERS.

WE MAKE A SPECIALTY OF OUR BOOK AND MAGAZINE DEPARTMENTS.

We get nearly every new book that comes out. If we don't happen to have what you want when you want it, we will gladly send it for you without extra cost. We receive subscriptions for any magazine or periodical published in the world.

HEROIC OPERATIONS ON PRESIDENT HARPER MAY BE NECESSARY.

CHICAGO, Sept. 29.—It has been decided by the physicians in attendance upon President Harper, of the University of Chicago, that nothing will save his life but a surgical operation of heroic character. It is admitted that there is practically no chance of saving his life unless the cancer which is killing him can be checked by the removal of the large intestine. It is proposed by the surgeons to make an examination in a few days to decide upon the advisability of the operation. It is, however, admitted that the chances are greatly against the permanent relief of the patient if the operation is performed.

NEW VACATION TRIP

Summer Excursion Rates. Effective May 1st, the Southern Pacific and Santa Fe lines will send round trip through tickets to points on the Pacific North Shore at reduced rates. Fresno to Camp Taylor and return, $9.05; Ft. Reyes, $9.40; Camp Meeker, Monte Rio and the Russian River, $10.00; Duncan's Mills, $11.30; Cazadero Big Trees, $11.65. Cottage and camp sites, hotels, boarding houses and mineral springs, hunting, fishing and camping trips to the North Coast. All information in illustrated folders, "Summer Outings," free on application to local ticket agent or by mail to Geo. W. Heintz, Mutual Life Building, San Francisco, Cal.

A DAYLIGHT TRIP.

Through San Joaquin Valley in Parlor Cars. Travelers on the Southern Pacific may now see the great San Joaquin valley by daylight while riding through it in comfortable parlor cars. These new and finely furnished cars are carried on train No. 84, the Bakersfield Passenger, which leaves San Francisco daily at 8.30 a. m., arriving at Bakersfield 6.05 p. m., and on train 84, leaving Bakersfield 7.30 a. m., and arriving at San Francisco 4.50 p. m. These cars have large windows and easy cushions, and the daylight trip enables the traveler to see all the great valley.

ARE YOU HUNTING FOR YOUR NEW FALL SUIT?

You may call to see us. We'll build you a suit of clothes from thoroughly dependable goods, perfect in fit and finishless in style, the lowest in price for the kind of goods, trimmings and workmanship we use. Ladies' tailor made suits to order. Buttons made to order. Suits cleaned and pressed. $1.00 Phone Black 77.

S. KOPLAN

Ladies' and Gents' Tailor. 1038 I St. Redlick Block.

Orchard Farm. We have been authorized to offer the well known and valuable property on Ventura avenue, known as "Orchard Farm" and consisting of 113 acres made up of three parcels of 50, 20 and 43 acres, which can be sold as a whole or separately on most reasonable terms. This is one of the best located and paying vineyards in the county and adjoining the estate of the late Dr. Baker. Summary of sales pass the property. Prices and terms on application at our office, H. H. ALEXANDER & CO., 1049 J St.

Fat Folks.

I reduced my weight 70 pounds, bust 6 inches, waist 6 inches and hips 14 inches in a short time by a guaranteed harmless remedy without exercise or starving. I will tell you all about it. Enclose stamp. Address Mrs. E. A. Richards, 226 E Ninth street, Riverside, Cal.

A Neglected Cold or Cough.

Often leads to consumption. Take warning in time and take S. B. Lung Tonic, the best remedy for coughs, cold and hoarseness. Price, 50c, at Smith Bros' Drug Store.

Search out all impurities and expel them from the system through the natural channels by using Lask's Kidney and Liver Bitters. The bitters of bitters. Miss Kate Parsons, Florist 1917 Fresno, Phone Main 469. Cut flowers, floral designs.

TACOMA LIKES SPOKANE'S AIR

SHUT OUT THE OAKLANDERS BY GOOD PLAYING.

Seattle Put Up Good Game Against Portland—Los Angeles Had Easy Work.

SPOKANE, Sept. 30.—Pitcher Iberg, backed up by the Tiger team work, and fancy base stealing, was too much for Oakland. Fitzgerald was fairly effective but Oakland's errors came with Tacoma's hits. Score: R. H. E. Tacoma.....4 7 0 Oakland.....0 6 2 Batteries—Fitzgerald and Hogan; Iberg and Byrnes. Umpire—McDonald.

At Seattle.—Portland's ragged work in the field and their inability to hit Rose Miller, lost the game for them this afternoon. The Seattle team backed their star pitcher well and but one error was chalked against them. The game was played on a muddy field and fast work was out of the question.

Score: R. H. E. Seattle.....3 6 1 Portland.....0 3 7 Batteries—Miller and Frary; Cates and Conrad. Umpire—Howells.

At San Francisco.—There were liberal contributions to the error columns in today's game, no less than half a dozen being made on each side. Los Angeles launched three hits in four different innings and found it easy to accumulate runs. Nagle was not touched to any extent outside of the sixth inning. Score: R. H. E. Los Angeles.....10 12 6 San Francisco.....3 7 6 Batteries—Nagle and Eager; Henley and Wilson. Umpire—Davis.

National League.

At Chicago.—Boston finished their season here today and won. Wicker pitched better ball than Fraser but his fumble of an easy hit spoiled his good work and was largely responsible for two runs. The great work of both shortstops was a feature. Attendance 5200. Score: R. H. E. Chicago.....0 3 2 Boston.....2 6 6 Batteries—Wicker and Kling; Fraser and Needham.

At St. Louis.—After the third inning New York played horse with the local team, the visitors refusing to run out hits and doing everything in their power to end the game. Attendance 220. Score: R. H. E. St. Louis.....2 7 1 New York.....0 12 0 Batteries—Brown and Leahy; Ames, Elliott, Bresnahan and Clark.

At Cincinnati.—Cincinnati's two pitchers were badly punished in today's game each lasting a fraction over three innings. Lusk pitched for Philadelphia and kept the home team's hits well scattered. Gleason's batting was a feature. Attendance 7000. Score: R. H. E. Cincinnati.....3 7 2 Philadelphia.....15 22 3 Batteries—Vowinkle, Johns, Walter and Street; Lusk and Dozin.

At Pittsburgh.—Pittsburgh won the first game and the second was called at the end of the eighth to let Brooklyn catch a train. Attendance 440. First game:

Score: R. H. E. Pittsburgh.....8 13 3 Brooklyn.....3 13 2 Batteries—Case and Gibson; Easton and Ritter.

Second game: R. H. E. Pittsburgh.....2 5 3 Brooklyn.....2 9 1 Batteries—Kinsella and Gibson; McIntyre, Bergen and Ritter.

American League.

At New York.—New York and Cleveland met for the last time this season in a double header today and broke even. The second game was called on account of darkness at the end of the fifth inning. Fultz and Elberfeld, of the home team, were severely injured during the fourth inning of the earlier game when they had a head-on collision while chasing a fly ball in left field. Both men were carried to the club house, where an ambulance surgeon attended to Elberfeld but Fultz had to be removed to a hospital. Score:

First game: R. H. E. Cleveland.....5 10 3 New York.....7 12 3 Batteries—Bernhardt and Clark; Leroy, Hogg and Kleinow.

Second game: R. H. E. Cleveland.....1 4 0 New York.....0 4 0 Batteries—West and Clark; Puttman and Kleinow.

At Washington.—Washington's timely hitting gave them both games of a double header. The second game was called at the end of the seventh inning, on account of darkness. Attendance 6000. Score: First game: R. H. E. Washington.....5 8 1 St. Louis.....2 7 2 Batteries—Townsend and Heydon; Snodgrass and Sargent.

Second game: R. H. E. Washington.....10 13 2 St. Louis.....9 11 2 Batteries—Falkenberg and Knoll; Howell and Spencer.

At Philadelphia.—The record crowd of the season today saw Philadelphia defeated in the third game of the series. Plank and Owen were the opposing pitchers and both were hit freely. Attendance 25,500. Score: R. H. E. Philadelphia.....4 11 1 Chicago.....3 10 1 Batteries—Owen and Sullivan; Plank and Schreck.

At Boston.—Honors were even today. Detroit taking the first game by hitting hits and Boston the second. Detroit stopped the game. Attendance 7300. Score: First game: R. H. E. Boston.....2 2 3 Detroit.....2 7 0 Batteries—Tannehill and Armbruster; Wiggs, Warner and Drill.

Second game: R. H. E. Boston.....4 8 1 Detroit.....1 3 6 Batteries—Harris and Kruger; Kins and Doran.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 30.—That former Chief of Police George Wittman was legally dismissed from office, is the opinion of Judge Hunt handed down today in the suit of Wittman against the board of police commissioners.

NEW YORK, Sept. 30.—The strike of the drivers employed on United States mail wagons in this city, which has been in progress for several weeks, was settled today. The strikers get all they demanded.

STRANGE TALE OF HIDDEN CRIME

TWO MURDERS AND A SUICIDE ARE INVOLVED.

Cambridge, Illinois, Has for Months Been Seething With Conspiracy of Criminality.

CHICAGO, Sept. 30.—Details of a series of sensational crimes which are alleged to have smoldered for months in Cambridge, Illinois, and which may explain the mysterious death of John V. Streed, a prominent attorney and politician who was found lifeless at his office door in Cambridge a week ago with a bullet through his head, were revealed here today.

Dr. Byrd C. Powell, a veterinary surgeon of Sandwich, Ill., came to Chicago and told a story running back of the recent suicide of his brother, William D. Powell, of Cambridge.

The story discloses a chain of facts connecting the Powell and Streed cases, with the virtual murder of a Swedish domestic in the home of a wealthy and prominent man at Cambridge more than five years ago. She was buried secretly, without death certificate or inquest.

In the opinion of Dr. Powell, Attorney Streed was murdered because Streed knew the truth of the woman's death. Streed got the facts from William D. Powell, who committed suicide August 26, last, after Powell's home had been broken up and the guilty persons shielded, it is alleged, by influential political friends. Dr. Powell declares his brother was driven to his death by a clique at Cambridge. He suspected several men of prominence of being too friendly with his wife and encountered, as a result, persecution which it is said drove him to suicide.

Finally Powell awoke one morning to find "tar and feathers" written on his door with a note ordering him to leave town within four days or suffer violence at the hands of a mob. Then Powell summoned his brother, William, detailed the story of his sufferings, of his love for his wife, the persecutions and the threat of death.

"What shall I do?" he asked in despair. "Go after them," replied the adviser, "you know something of the death of this Swedish girl. The men persecuting you are involved in that case. Go after them."

Two detectives arrived at Cambridge, as a result, to work up evidence in reference to the death of the domestic, W. D. Powell took the evidence to Attorney Streed and asked him to prosecute the men. Streed refused to do it, because it involved some of his best friends. William D. Powell's suicide followed. Dr. Powell believes that Streed and some of the suspected men quarreled and in the heat of dispute Streed betrayed knowledge of the domestic's tragedy.

"My brother," said Dr. Powell today, "was bound to his death by a clique of men who control everything in the administration of law in Cambridge. If Streed was murdered it is a simple matter for the Cambridge authorities to figure out who are the persons interested in bringing about his death. But they have purposely suppressed the truth which, if revealed, may lead to the discovery of Streed's murderer and bring to light another murder."

TEXAS RAILROADS ASK INJUNCTION TO DEFEAT TAX LAW.

AUSTIN, Tex., Sept. 29.—Fifteen of the trunk lines in Texas appeared before Judge Brooks of the twenty-eighth District court here today, through their attorneys, and asked for an injunction restraining the state from enforcing the provisions of a taxation bill passed at the last session of the legislature and which will become operative October 1st. The law permits the state to collect 1 per cent tax on gross receipts. The injunction is asked on several grounds, principally that the tax is both confiscatory and unconstitutional. The judges took the matter of granting a temporary injunction under advisement and will hand down his decision tomorrow. Should the railroaders have to pay this tax it will represent upwards of $150,000 for this year alone.

Curzon's Departure Delayed.

SIMLA, India, Sept. 30.—The departure of Viscount Lord Curzon and Lady Curzon from India has been postponed as King Edward desires Lord Curzon to remain and officially welcome the Prince and Princess of Wales. The viceroy and his wife therefore will reach Bombay in time to preside at the ceremonies connected with the arrival of the royal party and will sail thence for England November 15th.

Postoffice Was Burglarized.

ST. HELENA, Sept. 30.—The post-office at Rutherford, a small town four miles from here, was entered and robbed last night. The robber first broke into a hardware store, where a brace and drills were secured, then entered the post-office through the rear. The robber got away with $150 in cash besides a box containing some private papers.

Government Hospital in Illinois.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Sept. 30.—Dr. Louis DeClermont of Washington, D. C., has secured an option on 640 acres of land at $250 an acre at Illinois, this county. On this land the government contemplates building a $400,000 hospital for the army and navy. The hospital will be for the treatment of bowel and stomach disorders and will have a capacity of 2000 patients.

City Officials Are Indicted.

MADISON, Wis., Sept. 30.—The mayor, city clerk and the entire council were today cited to appear in court Monday to show cause why the license of a saloonkeeper convicted of law breaking was not revoked.

GUAYAQUIL, Ecuador, Sept. 30.

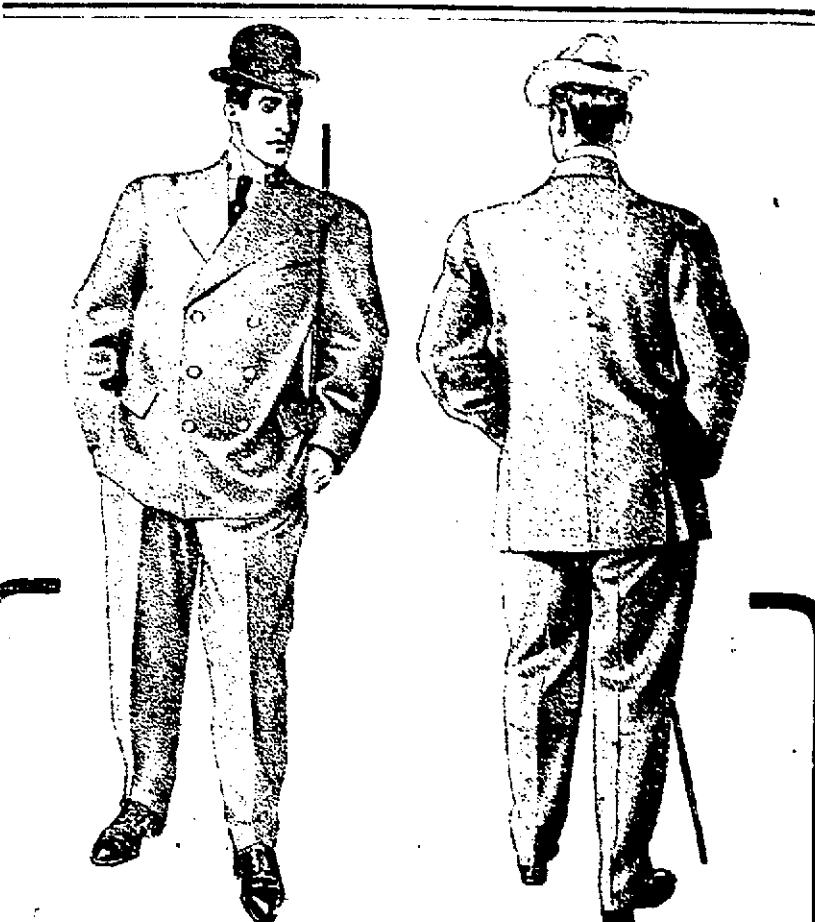

The president has asked congress for authorization to negotiate a foreign loan of $20,000,000 gold.

Saved His Life.

J. W. Davenport, Wingo, Ky., writes, June 14, 1902: "I want to tell you I believe Ballard's Snow Liniment saved my life. I was under the treatment of two doctors and they told me one of my lungs was entirely gone, and the other badly affected. I also had a lump on my side. I don't think I could have lived over two months longer. I am indebted to a friend for Ballard's Snow Liniment. The first application gave me great relief; two fifty cent bottles cured my lung and well, it is a wonderful medicine and I recommend it to suffering humanity. Geo. H. Monroe, Special Agent."

THE LEADER of all whiskies for the club, the home or medical use, is JESSE MOORE

JACOB RICHTER, AGENT.

SAVE 25 PER CENT Extra On Your Clothing Now

Not many more days left until our remodelled Mariposa street store front is finished, and then this offer will be withdrawn.

While we are deprived of our window display, we are offering an extra discount of 25 per cent on all clothing.

It means a big saving to the man who is wise enough to take advantage of it. Like all Redlick sales, this offer is on the level; the original price tickets have not been touched; you can figure the discount yourself; pay us 25 per cent less than the marked price. Try to match our original prices in other stores; if you do we won't ask you to purchase here, or if you do buy, we will refund your money.

We picture some of our $10 suits on sale tomorrow; they are really our $12.50 garments.

Notice the extreme cleverness of the styles. The front view shows the long stylish lapel; the close fitting collar; the broad shoulder effect; the rear view shows the deep vent; the smooth fit of the back; the rightness of the garments. We are showing all the new materials and patterns in these suits. See them tomorrow.

Sole Agents for Men's Walk Over Shoes.

Redlick's

Trading Stamps with all purchases groceries included.

The Conservatory of Music — Los Angeles offers advantages for the study of music unequalled by any institution west of Chicago. Its course of instruction embraces every phase of a distinctly high-class musical education, including the following:

Piano, Violin, Harp, Theory, School of Opera, School of Acting, Normal Course, School of Expression, Physical Culture, Languages, Sight Reading, Children's Piano Course.

Included in the faculty are the well known instructors and artists, MAY HEINRICH, School of Acting, School of Expression, JULIUS ALBERT JAHN, School of Opera, School of Acting, School of Expression, JULIUS ALBERT JAHN, School of Opera, School of Acting, School of Expression.

together with many others, twenty-five in all, whose training fits them for the special work in which they are engaged. Our school is equipped with every convenience for thorough instruction in all lines of music. Parents who are desirous of giving their children an ideal musical education should write for our catalogue. We take particular interest in students from other cities and find them suitable rooms.

The fall term is now in session. For further information address, LOUIS EVANS, Mgr., New Blanchard Hall Bldg., 202 S. Hill St., Los Angeles, Cal.

CALIFORNIA GEOGRAPHY

Should be studied by every citizen of California. It should be taught to the children, both in the school-room and in the home, as a matter of first importance. One of the easiest ways to learn California Geography is to secure one of the Fresno Republican's New Home Wall Charts. It will give you an excellent topographic relief map of California with statistics on elevations and irrigations. It will also give you a political map of the state of California, showing every county, river, railroad, town and city in the state. It also gives the population of every county, city, town and village, according to the latest government census, and this is not all. It shows you a splendid map of the United States, the Panama canal and history and statistics, it also gives you a special topographic map of Eastern Asia, Japan and the Island of Sakhalin. Also gives you a special map of the Philippines, Hawaii, Porto Rico, and to add to the beauty and usefulness of these charts, we give you in beautiful colors the flags of all nations. These all make a most convenient and useful reference aid to the business man, lawyer, doctor, teacher, or any other intelligent citizen. Every office, library or home should have one of these excellent library wall charts. You can obtain one of these wall charts by subscribing or continuing the paper for six months and paying extra express charge of 20 cents. Any further particulars, address the Wall Chart Dept., Fresno Republican, Fresno, Cal.

TALK NO. 68 At Church

We presume there are some of people who look over the hymns at church, and when they come to the church, they find people with proper glasses. I have seen many of such people more every time I go to church, sometimes in the evening especially they do not seem to find the page, still they do not seem to realize that they are wearing glasses.

If they knew the injury they were doing their eyes they would not be without glasses a single day. Vision is the driving away the mist and fog and letting them see clearly and comfortably. If you are one whose eyes are thus affected we want you to come in and let us show you what benefit comes from right glasses. We fit the right kind.

FRESNO OPTICAL CO.
2336 Mariposa Street.
J. M. CRAWFORD, Pres and Mgr.
The Only Exclusive Optical House in the Valley.

THE FRESNO MORNING REPUBLICAN

PUBLISHED BY
Fresno Republican Publishing Co.
CHESTER H. ROWELL, Editor and Manager

BLIND JUSTICE.

The universal indignation at the outcome of the Higgins murder trial yesterday justifies the Republican in departing from the custom of avoiding comment on judicial proceedings. It is hard enough that misplaced personal sympathy should have produced an inconspicuous miscarriage of justice, but it is much worse that the confidence of a whole community in the very foundation of justice should have been shaken last week, a man who had killed another under extreme provocation was brilliantly presented—and convicted. This week, a man who had killed another with no justification at all was ably presented and brilliantly defended—and acquitted. What wonder if people jump at the anarchistic conclusion that conviction or acquittal are matters not of law, evidence and justice, but of the skill of lawyers, and that the penitentiaries are filled, not with the men who committed the worst crimes, but with the men who hired the wrong lawyer? And if a man with friends, money and prominence may slay with impunity, what wonder if men literally conclude that this is a government of injustice and privilege in which the only crime is to be poor, friendless and obscure?

There may be room for debate as to the degree of crime of which Higgins was guilty, depending on the seriousness with which the extraordinary defense sprung at the trial is taken. But that he was guilty of some crime there can be no reasonable doubt whatever. Even taking the defense at its face value, it could not excuse the shooting of Deane. When a man takes a drunken guest to his house, the insult to his wife is already complete, and nothing the drunken guest may say can add to it. Moreover, even an actual insult is not a killing matter in civilized countries. And when Higgins drew his pistol on Deane, that fact might have justified Deane in going for another pistol, as the newest defense claims he did, and might have justified a plea of self-defense, if Deane had shot Higgins, but it can not possibly make out a case of self-defense, when Higgins shot Deane. Neither could it explain why Higgins, a dead shot, with the "drop" on Deane, should have found it necessary to shoot his victim in the back while he was obeying instructions by going toward his coat, and had not yet reached or approached the alleged second pistol. All this aside from the inconsistencies and improbabilities in this tale of the second pistol itself. At its very strongest, this defense could have been nothing more than a palliation, to lessen the degree of the crime. As a justification leading to acquittal, it is an absurdity. The only principle on which the acquitted could have been based is that any criminal having innocent female relatives may commit crime with impunity. And this doctrine, less bluntly put, was in fact the only thing to which the attorneys for the defense appealed.

Such misstatements of justice call for reforms in our system of criminal procedure. There are too many restrictions on the prosecution and too few on the defense. The prosecution is debilitated from showing the general character of the prisoner; the defense is not debilitated from exploiting the merits of his innocent relatives; the prisoner is permitted to appear in his own defense, but can not be compelled to answer at the call of the prosecution; the prosecution is held by strict rules of legal ethics, and must comply with them implicitly; the defense is held to much looser rules, and is expected to stretch these to the limit; to win a case by irrelevant humbug and hypnotic eloquence is a brilliant victory for the defense; to win it by any other, but calm appeal to reason would be a disgrace to the prosecution. All these considerations give undue advantage to the defendant. Still worse, they give this advantage to the rich defendant, while depriving the poor defendant of it. A reform is needed, not in the interest of greater severity, but in the interest of justice.

The "superior privacy" of the English commitment chambers, as against the "vulgar publicity" of the open American railway car, was once more illustrated last week, when a young woman was murdered on a running train and her body thrown out of the window, leaving no clue to the perpetrator of the crime. When will our European cousins learn that there is no privacy in being shut up in a cell with persons not of your own selection, and no vulgar promiscuity in being in the same large car with persons whom you are not acquainted to recognize? The "vulgar" American day coach or parlor car and the "choking" American sleeper are really the least offensive and safest, as well as the most comfortable means of travel in the world.

An anonymous newspaper dispatch from Vienna announces that the semi-official assurances of the Turkish government in regard to the Serbian minority are false. And everybody will believe this unsigned newspaper dispatch as against the official word of the Turkish government. Who says newspapers are unreliable?

It is not to be expected that the churches will pass resolutions commending the recent order licensing prostitution as another step in the direction of its abolition.

"GHOSTS."

To the man who looks at men and things, instead of books and dreams, this is not an age of individualism. Men no longer act as units, but as members of a class or group. The laborer who goes it alone is a "scab," worthy to be starved. The business man who will not join the trust goes broke. The push politician, slave of one organization, goes out after the votes of other organizations and groups—the "German vote," the "Irish vote," the "Catholic vote," the "A. P. A. vote," the "church vote," the "saloon vote," the "labor union vote," the "Citizens' Alliance vote," the "fraternal vote," and the rest and he gets them. The reformer appeals for the votes of the individual citizens, and finds to his astonishment that the breed is extinct. Even nations no more stand in lonely isolation, but count their strength by alliances. It is an age of combination, and all men are in the combine.

All but the geniuses. But these limited souls who float in the upper ether, where dreams dwell, trusting to luck and the charity of their inferiors for the feeding of their bodies, are pre-claiming with one voice the only of the individual. We of the anti-hill have developed the virtue of the anti-hill—cooperation; but they of the honey-cups have developed the virtue of the butterfly—caprice and waywardness. Dead-end verse embalms the lawless passion of a lawless mood. Strange impressionistic paintings, resembling nothing on earth nor in the waters beneath the earth, reflect the morbid artist's dream of what might be in the heavens above the earth. And writers of literature, novelists and dramatists, who do not write for the market, but as prophets bringing a message, preach the doctrine of unbridled individualism. The marriage institution is taboo; virtue is a bourgeois prejudice; the conventions of society mere old women's crutches; duty a delusion, remorse a weakness, unselfish devotion a lunacy. All that is, is the individual; and his whole duty is to foster his own personal development, regardless of the laws and conventions which society has established for the repression of the individual. Most of all do they rail at the institution of marriage. George Meredith has proposed to limit marriage to a brief term of years. George Bernard Shaw assaults marriage as "the most licentious of human institutions." The whole Quartier Latin, in Paris, prides itself on living unmarried but not unmated. Tolstol denounces marriage, along with government and civilization, as unworthy of the free individual, and thousands of Russian flunardi, living in moral marriage, refuse to pollute that relation by such immoral sanctions as priest or law. In his hopeless tragedy of "Ghosts," he holds up the conventions of church and society to contempt, and the aberrations of lawless though fatal passions to sympathy, and the versatile and hypnotic advance agent, now touring California to advertise a performance of "Ghosts," does not hesitate to deny, in the name of the "New Thought," all such outward conventions of the old thought as duty, remorse and social obligation.

As a literary caprice or intellectual amusement, this smashing of images may have its place. But not all the freaks of genius and degeneracy will ever undo or overturn the old standards of right and wrong. A man may, by taking thought, argue the solid earth out of existence, but it only needs more thought to argue it back again, and the wisdom of philosophy and the instincts of common sense vindicate, it requires only small ingenuity, also, to argue all the foundations of morality out of existence, and it has been a periodic mania of ingenious minds to undertake the feat. The ingenuity to outdo their ingenuity, and to make clear what their sophistry has confused, may be rare, but the common instinct of mankind, which is after all our wisest and safest guide, is universal. The geniuses may still wear their free empyrean, and despise the horde below, groveling in the burrows of duty. But freak geniuses no longer speak the voice of our age. The people are no longer dumb; the workers are no longer beasts of burden, nor the merchants mere tools of trade. The freak individualism of our aesthetic classes, which makes the critic no longer say "that book is good," but "I like that book," is a phenomenon of literary and artistic history, but not of human history. Its aesthetic absurdity would work its own destruction, in time, but its moral anarchy will work it sooner.

The Secretary of War has his first glimpse of the great water course of California's greatest valley, says a Sacramento Union headline, referring to Secretary Taft's trip up the Sacramento. Inasmuch as the San Joaquin valley has about twice the total area, twice the arable land, twice the developed resources, and twice the population of the Sacramento valley, the appropriateness of the superlative "greatest" becomes evident.

Curon's Departure Delayed. SIMLA, India, Sept. 30.—The departure of Alcocky Lord Curzon and Lady Curzon from India has been postponed as King Edward desires Lord Curzon to remain and officially welcome the Prince and Princess of Wales. The viceroy and his wife therefore will reach Bombay in time to preside at the ceremonies connected with the arrival of the royal party and will sail thence for England November 18th.

Postoffice Was Burglarized. ST. HELENA, Sept. 30.—The postoffice at Rutherford, a small town four miles from here, was entered and robbed last night. The robber first broke into the hardware store, where a brace and drills were secured, then entered the postoffice through the rear. The robber got away with $150 in cash besides a box containing some private papers.

RAIDED A CELLAR

TWO CHINESE CAUGHT IN A LOTTERY AGENCY.

Chief White and Officer Farnham Buck the Center Into the Hing Sing Company.

The fourth lottery raid was made last evening in Chinatown, this time again by Chief of Police White and Officer Farnham. As a result two Chinese Pan Yon and Yung Wah, are out on bail, the first charged with conducting a lottery and the second with assisting at the game.

The place raided was a cellar on the north side of Tulare street, No. 317, going under the name of Hing Yick & Co. It is known as one of the places of business of Low Moon, the prosperous merchant who runs a fan tan game behind a gilded store front in China alley. The way into Hing Yick's place is down a dark flight of stairs, then by a winding way through three doors into an inner office, where the tickets are marked and sold.

Last evening the chief and Farnham caught the lookout man at the second door napping, and did the dying wedge on the two inner doors. White got behind Farnham and shunted him heavily through before there was a chance to shoot bolts and they found themselves in the office with two Mongolians.

Pan Yon was behind the table with the money box and marking brush, and the other Chinese was possibly only a patron. They were handcuffed and a collection was made of the apparatus and tickets. The men were lodged in jail, but in half an hour were out again on release from the police judge.

Chief of Police White, after the raid, in describing the place said: "The den is so full of winding passages that we thought for a while that we were not going to get out at all. It was only by a scratch that we got through those heavy doors, each several inches thick of solid timber."

"It seems to me that under the power of the trustees in passing building ordinances, they should forbid places like that to be constructed for any purpose. It would be practically impossible to get in there to put out a fire, let alone make an arrest."

Meeting Will Be Held in Grammar School—Club Women Are Invited.

The movement toward the organization of an Audubon society in Fresno has resulted in the issuance of a call to all the club women to attend a general meeting for the purpose of forming such a society.

The date of the meeting will be determined sometime this week and announcement will then be made. The meeting will be held in the auditorium of the Grammar school.

The call is as follows: Dear Clubwomen: As members of clubs, the women of Fresno have much good work to their credit, as the planting of trees, building the cemetery fence, etc. But there is another field as yet untouched in the protection of our song and non-game birds.

We are issuing this call for the formation of an Audubon society in Fresno. The society is formed for the purpose of protecting the non-harmful species of wild birds, and to discourage the destruction of their eggs; to spread information of the value of birds in their relation to agriculture; to aid in establishing Bird Day exercises in the schools; to discourage the wearing of skins or plumes of wild birds by women, and to stimulate, in old and young, a love of the beautiful in nature.

Any person is eligible for membership, who is willing to subscribe to the principles of the society. Will you kindly read this letter at your next meeting; also, enclosed leaflet setting forth the present game laws, and endeavor to ascertain how many are willing or able to cooperate in forming such a society, and will attend a meeting to be called for this purpose, on date to be announced later in daily papers.

MRS. W. N. SHERMAN,
MRS. A. C. SWARTZ,
MRS. C. H. MILLER,
MRS. J. ED HUGHES.

TAKEN FOR ROBBER

LUMBERMAN ARRESTED ON TELEPHONE COMPLAINT.

Joe Mitchell Accused of Stealing From Fellow Workman in Saloon Near Shaver.

A sudden call from Clovis came to the sheriff's office yesterday afternoon and Deputy Sheriff McSwain was sent out to arrest a man named Joe Mitchell on a charge of robbery. It was stated that the man robbed would be in town today to swear to a complaint.

McSwain got his man and lodged him in jail about 6 o'clock in the evening. Mitchell claimed that he was on his way to Fresno for work, and had been headed off by a telephone message from Shaver. Mitchell said last night that he procured the large arose from an incident two nights ago at a saloon at what is known as the Meadows, two miles from Shaver. He came into the saloon with some other men, and saw a fellow workman named Brooks asleep at a table. He was drunk and had been counting his money in front of him, where it still was. Mitchell claims that he picked up the money, about $100, put it in the man's purse and offered it to the bartender to keep, who said: "Oh, that's all right. Put it in his pocket." He slipped it into the old man's pocket and thought nothing more of it until the arrest.

DEAD ROBBER

IS IDENTIFIED

BERKELEY POLICEMAN'S VICTIM WAS NOTORIOUS THUG.

Chicago Detective Says He Was a Member of One of the Worst Gangs Ever Known.

BERKELEY, Sept. 30.—J. S. Thatcher, an ex-Chicago detective, called at the office of Marshal Vollmer today and identified the safe cracker killed by Policeman Lestrang, in his fight with four thugs in West Berkeley on Thursday morning.

He says the dead man is John Conway, a desperate Chicago safe cracker, who was the leader of a gang of numerous criminals in the East. Thatcher last saw Conway in 1901 when he was arrested for complicity in a safe cracking job during which the thugs murdered a watchman who surprised them at work. Conway succeeded in clearing himself from complicity. Marshal Vollmer has communicated with the Chicago police and will secure pictures of Conway and information as to his latest movements so far as known to the police.

SCHMITZ PARTY'S COMPLETE TICKET

SAN FRANCISCO'S UNION LABOR NOMINATIONS.

Colonel Thomas O'Neill Up for Sheriff and Harry Mulcravy for County Clerk.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 30.—The Union Labor party today completed a municipal ticket by making nominations in addition to that of E. E. Schmitz for mayor as follows:

Auditor, Samuel W. Horton; treasurer, Charles Bantel; recorder, John H. Nelson; tax collector, J. F. Nichols; public administrator, Joseph F. Stultz; sheriff, Colonel Thomas O'Neill; coroner, Dr. W. J. Walsh; district attorney, William Lugdon; county clerk, Harry Mulcravy; city attorney, William Burke; police judges, Charles Conlan and Edward Shortall; supervisors, Fred Nichols, John Ferry, Jennings Phillips, Edward E. Walsh, Thomas Leonard, Samuel Davis, M. W. Coffey, Max Manlock, W. M. Sanderson, James L. Gallagher, L. A. Ben, Charles Daxton, D. C. Coleman, P. McGushin, Cornelius Harrigan, J. F. Kelly, George Duffy, A. M. Wilson.

CAPITOL WORK PLANS ACCEPTED

SUTTON AND WEEKS OBTAINED THE FIRST PREMIUM.

Work of Improvement Will be Begun After the Usual Legal Procedure.

SACRAMENTO, Sept. 30.—A meeting of the capitol commission was held late this afternoon in Governor Pardee's office for the purpose of considering the plans submitted by competing architects for improving the capitol building. The first premium was won by Sutton & Weeks of San Francisco, who will thus have control of the work. The second premium of $750 was won by Meyers & Ward of San Francisco, and the third premium of $500 fell to Copeland & Pierce of San Francisco.

It is understood that Sutton & Weeks will be allowed about a month to perfect their plans, after which the contract will be advertised for the usual time and the work put in hand without unnecessary delay.

If the contracts of the architects is obtained, the plans, successful and unsuccessful alike, will be exposed for public inspection in the senate chamber or other convenient place.

POLITICS IN CAPITOL CITY

REPUBLICANS NOMINATED TICKET HEADED BY ELKUS.

Mayor Hassett Announced That He Will Not Again Be Candidate for Mayor.

SACRAMENTO, Sept. 30.—The Republican municipal convention tonight nominated the following ticket:

Mayor, Albert Elkus; assessor and auditor, Fred W. Curry; collector, Edward West; treasurer, Charles M. Proctor; attorney, S. Luke Howe; for city trustees—first ward, George R. Rider; third ward, John H. Stecker; fifth ward, Harry A. Nauman; ninth ward, R. C. Jucks.

School directors—second ward, no nomination; fourth ward, William M. Pottery; sixth ward, James M. Hendon; son dr.; eighth ward, William F. Jackson.

Mayor W. J. Hassett authorizes the announcement that he will not go before the Democratic convention for nomination, declining to make the race for re-election. It is believed that this will insure the nomination of M. R. Beard.

Is Your Hair Sick?

BIG BLANKET SALE TUESDAY—SOMETHING DOING

Monday Grocery Specials

Sugar, finest cane granulated, 19 lbs. for $1.00
Bread, 3 loaves10c
Van Camp's Ketchup19c
Walnut Sugar Corn, can.....9c
New Pack Tomatoes, 2 1/2 lb. cans7c

KUTNER-GOLDSTEIN
THE HOUSE THAT SAVES YOU MONEY
1119 to 1133 I St.
1801 to 1819 Mariposa St.

MONDAY BARGAINS FROM THE BASEMENT

35c Gem Furniture Dusters23c
$1.50 Alarm Clocks95c
15c Cloth Round Backs50c
$1 Cloth Round Backs50c
15c Toilet Paper, 3 lb.25c
25c Toilet Paper, all colors5c
75c Box Paper and Envelopes32c
25c Caps and Suspenders35c
25c Caps and Suspenders19c
25c Good Quality Bristle Tooth Brushes12c

The FINERY FOR FALL Is Here In All Its Splendor

Today's story of the new fall hats is worth reading with the keenest of interest. It breathes of the spirit of by-gone days, the influence of the second Empire when Napoleon was intoxicated with the fever of conquest; when court fetes and balls were the reigning passion; all these influences are felt today for the leading style creators take their cue from the Paris of a hundred years ago, just as Paris then borrowed style ideas from the Ancient Greeks.

That is why you say that the new styles are trying; they look so queer. It takes some time to get accustomed to these startling changes. Last season when we brought out our Paris hats you poked fun at their queer appearance. So today we are ready to announce the arrival of some very stylish hats that are being well thought of by the foremost New York milliners.

Draped Veil Hats the coming vogue. We are the only concern in Fresno showing them.

Feather Hats and Toques, the late Paris novelty. French Nattier, after the famous artist, Tam O'Shanters, in a most bewitching lot of shapes.

More new styles from Gage that are creating so much interest this season. All this means that you buy the work of masters here while in the workshop store you get the ideas of whom?

Young Man or Mr. Business Man

Are you facing the problem of getting a new fall suit? Let us tell you of some of the new features that make this clothing the kind you're expecting to buy.

Are the coats long and with deep vent? Yes. Are the London greys represented? Yes. Are they from Alfred Benjamin & Co., America's best tailors to the trade? Yes. Are the shoulders concave and hand padded? Yes. Are the prices within my reach—say $15.00 to $25.00, as you can afford.

How about overcoats? We can give you nearly everything you can ask for—Cravenettes as well. By all means and a beautiful line to select from. What prices? Anywhere from $15.00 to $25.00.

The Benjamin Double Breasted Sack Suit

Monday Dress Coods Offers that Bristle With Economy

$1 All Wool Oxford Suitings, 60c
Full 64 inches wide, in a variety of mixed shades of tan, green, brown and navy.

$1 All Wool Newport Suitings, 60c
A very fine fabric, in mixed shades of navy, tan, grey.

$1 Clay Worsted Suitings, 75c
A variety of mixed greys just suited for winter suits, a beautiful fabric.

We have to announce the arrival of a beautiful line of colors in new skirt materials35c yard

Munsing Underwear

In full readiness now for brisk fall buying. At 50c—Ladies' fine cotton fleeced vests and pants, in grey and white, finished with hand seams.

At 75c—Ladies' out-size fine cotton vests and pants, high neck and long sleeves, finished with hand seams.

At $1.50—Ladies' all wool vests and pants, in natural wool or white, will not shrink.

At $3.00—Ladies' all wool Munsing union suits, in white and natural wool, buttons down the front, double lap in the back below the waist.

Shoes For Fall Priced For All

$3.50 Ladies' Kid Bluchers, $2.98 Patent tip, extension edge, Cuban heel.

$3.00 Ladies' Kid Lace, $2.48 Dull mat tops, patent tips, high arch shank, Cuban heel.

Good News to Hear From the Fancy Goods Section

Novelty Belts, 50c and 75c
Either silk patent leather or seal, fitted two piece belts, shaped like an hour glass, are very popular.

New Handkerchiefs, 25c and 50c
Fine pure linen handkerchiefs, some embroidered effects; others with fine Val lace.

Unaltered hand embroidered linen handkerchiefs, 3 for48c

Linen Collars With Turnovers, 15c Attached, something new.

Curvable Binding, $1.3c
The newest idea in skirt binding, a braid that will protect the skirt.

Beautiful Trimmings, 25c to $7.50 Yard
Gorgeous showing of all that's rich and beautiful, are seen in the new trimming for fall, colors that will harmonize with all the new fabrics.

Lace Tuckers, 25c and 50c
These dainty neck pieces of Oriental, St. de Gaze and Venice lace, are shown in a wide range of styles.

Lace Neckwear, 25c to $2.50
Cream and white, edged with ruching, trimmed with beads, are very fetching.

Beantella Neckwear
In the new tailored stocks, leading New York novelties$1.50 to $3.00

Looking for the Exceptional Man. Progressive employers are always looking for the exceptional man or woman, the one who can step out from the crowd and do things in an original way, who can economize in processes, who can facilitate business. They are always looking for the earmarks of leadership, of superior ability. They are looking for the progressive employee with new ideas who can help them to be more of a success. They know very well that they can get any number of automatons—multitudes who will do a thing just well enough to keep their places—but they are looking for individuality, originality, for up-to-date methods. They want employees who can put through things with vigor and determination, without lagging, whining, apologizing or asking questions. Nothing can bar the advancement of employees of this kind. Nobody can keep them down. If by chance some one above you is actually trying to prevent your promotion for selfish reasons, it ought to be very flattering to you to know that he is trying to keep you back, and should make you all the more determined to get ahead.

SCHOOL SHOES SCHOOL SHOES

Good Reliable School Shoes.

We can give you the best selection in Fresno. If you have never had satisfaction, try us. We can give it to you.

PHILADELPHIA SHOE STORE Near Court House Park.

Warner's Watch Repairing

gives satisfaction. The highest skilled workmanship thoroughly assured. The most reasonable prices.

WARNER'S
The Oldest Jewelry and Optical House in the County.
1949-51 Mariposa Street.

Master Leon Hinton, of 3030 Fresno Street, won the Auto Car. We hereby offer our thanks to the little fellows who hustled so hard to win and trust that the mercantile lesson they have learned will stand them in good stead throughout their lives.

Radin & Kamp

FRESNO'S PROGRESSIVE STORE

OUR Millinery Showing

GORGEOUS, YET POPULAR PRICED

Our millinery display this season eclipses all former showings. We have rightly held the title of Fresno's best millinery store since we started and our claim is strongly augmented by our superb hats this season. Every hat in the vast collection is surely a work of art and every price within the reach of the average purse. Our millinery, like every staple necessity is marked at its intrinsic value, not like most stores for what it will bring. That's why you can get a better hat here for less money than elsewhere. Ladies, come in and see the proper hats. We will delight in showing you the correct modes even if you are not ready to purchase yet.

Ladies' Shoe Elegance

AGENCY FOR 'DOMBY & CO., SHOEMAKERS TO THE NOBILITY OF ENGLAND

We are delighted to inform our patrons that after two years of perseverance we have succeeded in obtaining the exclusive sale of the celebrated Dombey Shoes, England's swell footwear for women. They are now on display in our window and we can safely say, without fear of contradiction, that they are the neatest, swiftest, most stunning styles ever shown at the price. Every shoe in the line has a distinctive air, impossible to imitate, an aristocratic style not found in domestic shoes. We are showing exquisite styles at $5.00 and $6.00

LADIES' $3.50 BONITA SHOES, STILL $2.98

This celebrated shoe needs no further praise from us. We have only handled the line two months and hundreds of pairs have found their way in the best families in Fresno. Merit wins and the Bonita Shoes have fully $3.50 worth of merit for $2.98
Many new styles this week.

MEN'S SWELL FALL SUITS

HART, SCHAFFNER & MARX LATEST CREATIONS

Every season emphasizes the superiority of Hart, Schaffner & Marx line of men's hand tailored clothing. If there is any chance of bettering H. S. & M. clothing you will have to show us. Every garment is perfect to the minutest detail. Every garment fits like it was moulded and the materials and lining the best that money can buy. That's why the H. S. & M. suits keep their shape so well; that's why we sell so many and that's why all the good dressers wear H. S. & M. suits. Take a look—
$15.00, $18.00, $20.00, $25.00 and $27.50

Premium Stamps in Every Department—One With Every 5¢ Purchase

RAINIER BEER
GIVES VIGOR AND STRENGTH

JACOB RICHTER
Agent and Bottler
Tel. Main 30, Fresno.

RAISIN GROWERS

If you have raisins to sell for CASH in the sweat-box call on

Eagle Packing and Storage Co.,
NOBLE BROS. Mgrs.

Office, Rooms 114-116-118 Forsyth Building

Packing House, corner San Diego and K streets.

THE FRESNO MORNING REPUBLICAN

The Republican may be had in San Francisco at Cooper's book store, 714 Market street, and at the Palace Hotel News Stand.

WEATHER FORECAST.

Fresno, Cal., Saturday, Sept. 30, 1905.

FORECAST TILL 5 P. M. SUNDAY.

From San Francisco, Cal., Sept. 30, 1905

FRESNO AND VICINITY.

Tonight: Fair Sunday: Fair

Weather Conditions.

The area of low pressure has moved slowly to the northeastward and is now central over the Dakotas and covers an area bounded by Canada, the Mississippi river, Gulf of Mexico and the Rocky mountains, causing general rains from the North Pacific coast southward to Florida.

It is slightly warmer along the Pacific coast. Freezing temperatures have occurred along the Rocky mountain slope, with generally cooler weather from the Rocky mountains eastward.

Heavy precipitation has occurred at Miles City, 1.10, Lander, 1.06.

The weather is clear and slightly warmer at all points in California except cloudy at Eureka, where light rain has fallen.

J. P. BOLTON,
Official in Charge.

The Record.

Barometer 29.92
Temperature, dry bulb 77
Temperature, dry bulb 77
Humidity, per cent 17
Wind, N.W., miles per hour 5
Maximum temperature 68
Minimum temperature 42

General Forecast.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 30.—San Francisco and vicinity: Fair Sunday; fresh west wind, with light fog in the morning.

Los Angeles and vicinity: Fair Sunday; light west winds.

Sacramento valley: Fair Sunday; light north winds.

San Joaquin valley: Fair Sunday; warmer; light north winds.

Coast: Fair Sunday; fresh west winds, with light fog in the morning.

Nevada: Fair Sunday.

PERSONAL MENTION.

J. Jenkins left on the Santa Fe last night for San Francisco.

G. L. Adelsbach left on the Owl last night for Los Angeles.

H. G. Morrow was an Owl passenger last night for San Francisco.

J. T. Easton, a rancher of Madera was in town yesterday on business.

E. L. Hamilton has returned from a month's vacation spent on the coast.

Miss Bessie Thomas was a Southern Pacific passenger yesterday for Chicago.

John S. Dore and wife will leave for Napa on the 10:35 train tomorrow morning.

W. A. Bennetts, Jr., with his wife and little girl, has gone to San Francisco to reside.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Musick left on the Owl last night for their home in Pasadena.

Mrs. John R. Kittrell leaves tomorrow on a visit to friends in Meridian, Mississippi.

Mrs. W. O. Brady and daughters of Visalia have been visitors in town for the past few days.

H. L. Frick and wife of Pueblo, Colorado, arrived last week and will make Fresno their home.

Mrs. H. P. Cotton and daughter have returned from a month's vacation spent in San Francisco and San Jose.

Mr. and Mrs. A. U. Warkentrop are back from a trip through Oregon and Washington. They visited the Portland fair.

Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Meyer of Mendota were visitors in town yesterday, having come to attend the services of the Jewish New Year.

W. P. Eldridge and daughter Jennie, came up from Orosi yesterday. Miss Jennie will remain in the city some time visiting her aunts, Dr. Pugh and sister.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Leake, who have been spending a few days in Fresno, returned last night to their home in Los Angeles. Mr. Leake is connected with the magazine, "Out West."

Mrs. Emily Ridenour and Miss Minnie Ridenour of Hicksville, Ohio, delegates to the national W. C. T. U. convention in Los Angeles next month, are in town and will remain until after the meeting of the state body.

There was a surprise party given Bessie Sumpter at 253 Silvia street Friday night and a pleasant affair it was. Present were Katie Ridding, Waldo Gilbert, Beatrice Butler, Wallie Dooley, Willie Gray, Letta Butler, Jack Walton, Arthur George, Bert Anzine, Bessie Sumpter, Elmer Gilbert, Ida Sumpter, Baber Smith, Ethel Black, Valia Gray, Arvilla Martin and Mr. Sumpter.

LOCAL BREVITIES.

Shrunken

Wheat, $1.60

Per sack at Hollands.

Dr. Kelley, Dentist, Forsyth bl.

Dr. Aten, Dentist, Forsyth bldg.

Dr. Thomas, Dentist, Forsyth bldg.

Dr. Glasgow, dentist, Forsyth bldg.

Dr. Cockrill, dentist, Patterson block.

Fig packers wanted today at A. L. Hobbs Co.

Fig packers wanted today at A. L. Hobbs Co.

The interior of the eye has no secrets for Dr. Kearns.

Tally tags for fruit pickers at the Republican office.

Raisins; cash; see Frank Lyman Co., phone main 1424.

Dr. Belfils, Dentist, 1921 Mariposa st.

Associate, E. E. Badgley.

Hughes Cafe, Regular dinner, 75 cents. Best value in the county.

Cash for raisins. See Ellis Bros. Main 279, Butler and Santa Fe.

Anderson Bros' planing mill, Tel. main 136; windows, doors and screens.

The Mt. Campbell fruit lands are sold by W. N. Rohrer, 1044 Tulare street, Fresno.

Stream, up-to-date merry-go-round, will be on Tulare street opposite the park, this evening.

The regular monthly meeting of the Y. W. C. A. will take place at 2:30 o'clock next Tuesday afternoon.

Any of H. C. Ray's relatives knowing his address will please leave at box 19, Republican office, care J. L. Ray.

In planning your house don't forget the Climax Solar Water Heater; hot water free. Anderson Bros' Planing Mill.

Mr. Haskell will discuss this morning at Unitarian church Sheldon's "Science of Business." "The Fault, Dear Brutus, is Not in Our Stars, but in Ourselves, that We are Underlings."

The ladies of the First Baptist church will hold a Rummage Sale in the near future. All those having articles to contribute please telephone to Mrs. J. S. Eastwood, Mrs. Otis Turner, Mrs. J. S. Cowan or Mrs. N. C. Colwell.

The Fresno Belmonts and the Fresno Juniors are going to try conclusions on the baseball field this afternoon. A Vonbargan and J. Caldwell are batteries for the Belmont boys and L. Ward and C. Best for the Juniors. A hot game is expected.

There will be a special musical service at the Cumberland Presbyterian church this evening to which everyone is cordially invited. Walter Olney, the talented young singer who returned recently from a year's study abroad will sing a solo.

To Our Customers—The Republican business office is open for business from 8 a. m. to 10 p. m. All advertising copy must be sent to the business office. None will be received in the editorial or composition rooms. Telephone Main 97.

George A. Hudson, charged with an unnatural crime upon his daughter, was released at his preliminary examination at Madera, Mrs. Lydia A. Leady, aunt of the girl, was the complainant, but the girl herself positively asserted that there was no truth in the charge.

Fresno Rebekah lodge enjoyed a social session last night, it being the fifth Saturday of the month. The attendance was large. There was a drill, followed by speaking, singing, recitations and a general good time. Dancing concluded the evening. Next Saturday night there will be an initiation.

Officer Powell of Selma, one of the officers of S. P. C. A. yesterday brought to jail H. L. Lute, who was sentenced by Judge Tucker of Selma to serve 180 days in jail for cruelty to two horses. Lute hired them from a livery stable at Selma and then drove them to Traver and about the country. One horse was killed on the railroad and the other was driven so hard that it will probably die.

Today Presidio and Fresno will meet, and Recreation park will probably hold the biggest crowd of the season. The weather promises to be delightful, just the sort to make the bleachers comfortable. Moreover, the locals are promised the warmest contest in many months. Stockton and San Jose have both fallen before the soldier boys, and though Fresno has one victory over them it is a different team that Fresno has to go against.

Presidio stands a good chance of soon trying Fresno for first place if today's game is theirs. The locals have lost but one game this half, while Presidio has lost two. By losing today Fresno would have the same number of defeats and as the soldiers expect to play as many games before the season ends as do the locals, they will have an equal show in the race. Should Fresno win today, it practically clinches the pennant, for it will give Fresno a lead of three games over the closest team, and of the seven more games to be played it is pretty certain the Raisin Eaters will win the majority.

Hopkins will today be pitched against ROLLANDER, who held Stockton to two hits. A change has been made in the Fresno team. McKune going to short, Adams to second and Schimpff to right field. Schimpff is a fast man in the short territory, but of late has had a tendency to error in a tight place, and it is thought he will be of more value in the outfield. His batting is one of his strong points; and in practice he shows up like a record breaker in the pasture. McKune can be depended upon satisfactorily to fill the gap between third and second, while Adams is always reliable at the keystone sack.

The game will be called promptly at 2:45 o'clock.

Fresno

Hopkins, O'Brien ROLLANDER

Kulin Stanley

Curtright Fair

Adams Delmas

Moore Annan

McKune Raymond

Clynes Cussack

Blitt Cameron

Schimpff Beynton

Big Vineyard Sale.

50 acres of vineyard on California avenue were sold yesterday by H. H. Alexander & Co. for $20,000. The buyer is a gentleman from Solano county who has been attracted to Fresno by the fine outlook for raisins during the next few years.

Louis Einstein & Co.

DR. DIEMELS LINEN MESH—

A SURE CURE FOR RHEUMATISM.

Dr. Gans'

Sanitary Cushion Shoe is not, as you might suppose, an unsightly shoe. It is made on the regular fashionable last with a coin toe, a slight extension sole, and of plain vici kid with the patent tip. In fact, it's quite a dressy shoe.

The cushion sole which was invented and has been prescribed by Dr. Gans is just what its name would lead you to believe. If you happen to be one of those who are troubled with tender feet it will pay you to investigate this shoe. It sells for $3.50.

Heavy White Blanks in the stripes and figures, 20c double roll 12 1-2c

Heavy Tapestry effects, 25c double roll 15c

Rich Gilt Designs, in all colors and patterns, 35c double rolls 20c

A Wall Paper Sale of Marvelous Interest to Property Owners

It Comes Just at the Time of Need

WHEN THE HOUSES ARE BEING GONE OVER AND RE-PAPERED

The failure of a firm of wall paper dealers gave us the chance and we purchased their entire stock of new style wall papers, at such a very low figure that it enables us to make the following enormous reductions. There is almost every color and pattern you could ask for in the lot and enough for all.

THE SALE LASTS ONE WEEK, BEGINNING TOMORROW.

Rich Gilt Designs in mostly dark shades, 40c double roll 25c

Heavy Embossed Gilt Papers, 50c double roll 35c

Silk Finished in Floral Designs, light grounds, 65c double roll 35c

Forest and other scenic effects, 75c double roll 40c

Heavy Tapestry styles, $1.00 double roll 60c

Embossed Velour, two tone effects, $1.25 double roll 75c

Everything Points to Einstein's for Shoes

Because the styles are newer. The values are greater. The assortment broader. Give us a chance to show you how good our footwear really is. That's all we want—just the chance. We are confident of your decision.

Mr. Louis Gundelfinger Is Pretty Busy in New York

Every express brings us new things of his purchasing. There are suits, skirts, coats and waists, all of the latest approved styles.

All are beautiful. Come and see which you like best.

HOUSE BOES AT $2.50—Of German flannel in pretty colorings, tastefully trimmed with contrasting colors, has cord and tassel at waist, very full cut.

SUIT AT $12.50—Stylish tailor-made of fine mixed suiting, single breasted, 27 inch coat, semi-fitted back, strap front, patch pockets, and coat sleeves; skirt is cut nine gore with pleat bottom.

RAIN COAT AT $11.00—Of shower proof material, in brown, black or tan, with hair line stripes, collarless effect; twenty-four fine pleats at the waist line; finished with belt and two metal buckles.

NEW PETTICOATS, $1.50—

Mercedized sateen with 20-inch accordion pleated flounce; finished at the bottom with four inch nearly tucked ruffle. Very full sweep; colors, green, blue, brown and black.

SKIRT AT $6.50—Of fine all-wool serge; has new panel front and back, sides are plain over hips with three tailored straps and six knife pleats to bottom of skirt. They come in brown, blue and black.

FALL WAISTS AT $3.00—Of all-wool albatross in all the pastel shades; has silk embroidered front, with pleated yoke; fine tucked back; deep tuck cuffs; lined body and stock collar.

Wouldn't You Like a Sweater or Blouse for Cold Mornings and Evening Rides?

Boys' Sweaters, well made and nicely finished, double roll collar; buttons at neck and shoulders; a large assortment of newest combinations of colors, each 50c

Boys' Fine Wool Sweaters, superior stock, pearl buttons at neck and shoulders; comes in red, blue or brown grounds with white stripes; each $1.00

Brownie Sweaters for boys or girls, all wool, fancy stitched, handsomely finished, Norfolk style with standing collar, pearl buttons on collar and belt, two rows down front; each $1.50

Misses' Wool Sweaters, pineapple stitch; full, regular made, neat fitting sleeves; very neat and stylish; comes in white and cardinal; each $1.75

Ladies' Wool Blouses, ribbed stitched, double standing collar; covered seams throughout; Bishop sleeves, ribbed cuffs and pearl buttons down front; comes in red, white, navy and black; each $1.50

Ladies' All-Wool Blouses, basket-weave stitch, V-shaped front in new collarless effect; blouse front; Bishop sleeves and large pearl buttons; comes in red or white; each $3.35

All-Wool Blouse, fancy design; pineapple stitch; new collarless effect; Bishop sleeves; large, pearl buttons; comes in white or red; each $5.00

Ladies' Norfolk Jacket; fancy stitch, in stripe effect; strap over shoulder; pearl buttons; Bishop sleeves; comes in white and red; each $5.00

DIED.

DWYER—In Fresno, September 30, 1905, Grace E. wife of George Dwyer, a native of Missouri, aged 24 years.

The funeral will take place at 1 o'clock this afternoon from the residence, 119 Diana street.

CROWDER—In this city, September 30, 1905, Mable Crowder, wife of Wm. Crowder, a member of V. P. P. C., a native of Mexico, aged 32 years.

Friends and acquaintances are respectfully invited to attend funeral services this Sunday afternoon, October 1, 1905, at 3 o'clock p. m. from the Catholic church, Interment in Mountain View cemetery.

COLQUHOUN—In Fresno, September 28, 1905, infant of Mr. and Mrs. George S. Colquhoun.

BORN.

COLQUHOUN—In Fresno, September 28, 1905, to the wife of George S. Colquhoun, a daughter.

DWYER—In Fresno, September 30, 1905, to the wife of George Dwyer, a daughter.

J. B. Myers, insurance, 1044 Tulare, with Miss Colmore. Call and see me.

My Profit Is Small

If I did not have an immense practice I could not maintain these prices.

Beautiful Set of Teeth $5.00

Best Gold Crown, 22K $4.00

Gold Filling, small size $1.00

Silver Fillings 50c

Painless Extracting 50c

Dr. B. W. Doyle

Rooms 27-28 Fisk Building

Advertisers Use The Republican

FROM NEIGHBORING TOWNS ... AND COMMUNITIES ...

FOWLER.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Gower left Sunday for a visit to the Lewis and Clark exposition and the country about Portland, Me. Mr. Gower is a member of the committee appointed by the local board of health to investigate the sugar beet industry in other parts of the country and a visit to Oxnard, the latter part of last week.

Mrs. Ed. Gower and children went to Fresno last Monday to spend a week visiting friends.

Lida Sweeney of Fresno spent the day Tuesday with her sister, Mrs. John Sweeney.

P. M. Conklin spent the day Wednesday in town.

James Baird and Charles Mallott were visitors to Clovis Saturday afternoon.

Mrs. K. Van Lee of Fresno was in Fowler Tuesday visiting friends.

C. D. Axtell returned from a three-day visit to his old home at Monticello, Minn. Wednesday.

Justice Galloway of Fresno spent part of Tuesday in Fowler.

Sam Burnett, Sidney McKinnon and Richard Williams were among the Fowler enthusiasts to witness the ball game between Fresno and San Francisco last Sunday.

While returning from Fresno last night, Sidney McKinnon was hailed by a highwayman who stepped from the roadside and grasped the handle of his gun. McKinnon quickly drew his gun and fired along the side of the horse causing the animal to leap forward and throwing the man to one side. As the party dashed by McKinnon fired another shot in the direction of the intruder. Neither shot took effect but were sufficient to frustrate the plan of the foot-pat.

Sunday afternoon Mrs. L. D. Howard accompanied by two other ladies was out walking when she picked a bunch of grapes from a vineyard by the roadside and ate them. Soon she became sick and by the time she reached home she was very sick. A doctor was at once called and by the time he arrived her pulse was hardly perceptible and it was not until after four hours of persistent efforts by the doctor that her life was considered out of imminent danger. She has since recovered her normal state of health. It was thought that the grapes had been poisoned but the doctor announced that such was not the case but that the stomach was in such a state as to cause a poison to be formed by the acid of the grapes.

Frank Axtell came down from Fresno yesterday and at once resumed his work in the bank.

Ernest Dickey, accompanied by his wife and baby, drove down from Fresno yesterday and are visiting among friends here.

James Quinn returned Wednesday from a three month's visit to Ontario, Canada. Quinn is a native of Canada and visited his old home and parents for the first time in fifteen years. He reported upon his return that his northern trip had been the most pleasant three months of his life. James has lived here since he was a mere lad and had contemplated a visit home for some time, but hastened his trip on account of his father's poor health. After a visit to Sidney, where his father and one sister live, he then went to London, where he had another sister and brother, and then to Belmont to see another sister. At the time he returned his father's health was very much improved, he being able to be up and about.

C. M. Moss' new residence has been completed and is now occupied by the family.

Union services were held at the Christian church last Sunday evening, all three of the local churches meeting in worship.

Rev. D. A. Mobley occupied the pulpit and a good number were in attendance.

C. H. Hanner of Fresno, began the construction of J. C. Manley's new residence at the corner of Merced and Sixth streets, yesterday.

W. L. Giffon left here Friday for Kitzville, Washington, to look after some land which he owns there. During his absence he will also visit the Lewis and Clark exposition and other parts of the north. He expects to be gone about four weeks.

Miss Mabel Norris returned from Portland last Thursday after a visit of several weeks.

Mrs. R. G. Morrison arrived Friday from San Jose and will visit with her daughters, Mrs. W. L. Giffon and Mrs. C. C. Fullerton for a few weeks.

W. L. McKenzie of Lacona, Iowa, who has been visiting the Portland fair and other points of interest along the coast, arrived here Thursday evening to look over this section of the country. Mr. McKenzie was the guest of Rev. W. B. Gillespie, through whose influence he was persuaded to stop off here.

C. C. Fullerton left here last Friday to visit the Portland fair and other points of interest in that section.

C. K. Kirby and grandson, Kirby Clark, made a short visit to San Francisco last week to attend the wedding of Mr. Kirby's daughter.

Andy Brown and crew after finishing thrashing here started out with the barley crusher. At present they are at work at the Nelson warehouse.

C. L. Walter of Fresno was in town yesterday on business.

The construction of the Fowler Independent Telephone line is progressing rapidly. The switch board has been ordered and already several miles of line has been put up.

The ball game played here last Sunday between two teams selected from the local players was very interesting and very exciting and many spectators were out to see the exhibition. A special game has been arranged for next Sunday between the bachelors and the benefactors of this place which promises to furnish more sport than all the games played this far this season.

Mrs. Gordon Giffon came up from Traver last Friday to spend a few days visiting with relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Culp of Paulina, Iowa, arrived last Friday and have been spending the week with Mr. and Mrs. P. W. Hastie. Mrs. Culp and Mrs. Hastie are cousins.

Fowler, Sept. 29, 1905.

CLOVIS.

There will be services at the Cumberland Presbyterian church in Clovis, both morning and evening, Sunday, October 1. At the morning service there will be the sacrament of the Lord's Supper. The subject of the evening sermon will be "Again at Bethel." The Young People's Society meets at 6:30; preaching at 7:30.

The Woman's Missionary Society of the Presbyterian church held its quarterly tea and business meeting at the home of Mrs. J. S. Darnold on Tuesday afternoon, Sept. 28. After the study and business hour refreshments were served, and a delightful social time was enjoyed. About twenty-five ladies were present.

At the Baptist church Rev. F. C. R. Jackson will preach on "The Godly and Ungodly" in the morning and on "How to Come to Jesus" in the evening. Young People's meeting at 6:30; preaching at 7:30.

The reception given by Mrs. Edwin Treasure, in honor of her sister-in-law, Mrs. Conklin of Cincinnati, on Saturday last was a social success. The floral decorations in the rooms were artistic, the color scheme of the parlors being yellow with dark green. That of the dining room was dark red with green and as the dainty refreshments were served, each lady received a beautiful boutonniere. About one hundred and fifty invitations were issued. Assisting the receiving ladies were Mrs. T. R. Clark, Mrs. H. C. Johnson, Mrs. Shaffer, Miss Marie Shaffer, Miss Olive Jackson and Miss Leola Smith.

The ladies of the W. C. T. U. held an interesting meeting on Wednesday. After business was transacted, the presentation of the work of several different ladies of National renown furnished points for thoughtful discussion. Temperance instruction in the public schools and the work of Dr. Mary Hunt were interesting topics. The ladies will be at home to the Young People of Clovis at the reading room on Saturday, October 7th from 7:30 to 9:30 p. m. The young men and women are cordially invited to call during those hours. Refreshments and good music will be free. The attendance in Clovis schools is reported large. The High school opens with manifest interest in all lines of study, athletics and sport not being slighted in the meantime. The 3rd year Latin class has been dropped and a class in German under Miss Temple, substituted. The basket ball team is organized and is coaching with Miss Temple. The literary class will soon organize with all sub-juniors as new members.

Challenges have come to the base ball team from Fowler and Sanger. They will put themselves into training and soon be ready to meet their friends on the field.

The freshmen have submitted to the usual rushes, hazes, shampoos, etc., and have settled down to the regular order of work. The class numbers 14, 12 from Clovis and two from Wolters colony. Garfield, Redlands and Jefferson districts are not represented this year.

The work on the smelter is so nearly completed that several men have been laid off and have gone to other sections. J. E. Dalton, W. H. McCarthy and Ben Smith left Thursday for San Francisco. Mr. and Mrs. Chas. W. Sowers have gone to Seattle.

R. L. Neill has leased Mrs. Barnhardt's cottage.

Mrs. Borders and daughter, of Missouri arrived in Clovis on Wednesday to visit their relatives, J. S. Darnold and family. They are at the Hoblitts.

Several young Freshmans made business trips to Clovis on Thursday.

D. D. Hamilton of Morning Sun, Iowa, is visiting his niece, Miss Nellie Hamilton of the High school.

Mrs. C. H. Ingram has returned from a three week's visit in San Francisco. M. S. Munsey of Oakland visited Clovis on Wednesday.

A. N. McQuinn of Fowler and S. F. Fergus of San Francisco, were in Clovis during the week.

Taylor Young of the Copper King was in town on Monday. He reports on sight and plenty of work for months to come. Fifty men are employed. Clovis, Sept. 28, 1905.

KINGSBURG.

Mr. and Mrs. Asa B. Loomis returned Thursday from San Francisco, where they had gone to attend the funeral of Mrs. Loomis' sister.

R. D. Adams and wife, who have been visiting relatives here for a few days, returned to Fresno Monday.

Vigil M. Pinkley returned Monday to Nashville, Tenn., to finish his course in medicine.

Mrs. A. C. Loomis, who has been visiting relatives in Clovis for the past week, returned home Monday.

Gus Bodden and Ed Van Buren were down from Fresno Sunday.

J. R. Glazebrook, an old Kingsburger, but now of Bakersfield, was in town last week.

A. B. Olufs was here from Fresno Saturday, looking after his business interests here.

Mrs. C. M. Ebbjorn, returned Friday from a short visit to the bay cities.

W. T. Stoffers and family have moved to Fresno to reside, Mr. Stoffers having secured employment there in a packing house.

A. C. Palladine, Alfred Neulon, P. A.

Fallgren, M. B. Foster and wife and Mrs. C. Eastman, were in Fresno Monday.

W. E. Froelich of San Francisco was a visitor here last week on business. William Hedlin went to Turlock Tuesday to look after his business interests at that place.

Chas. Garrett went to Visalia on business Wednesday evening.

M. B. Foster was a passenger for Bakersfield Wednesday afternoon. He will spend a few days there on business.

Frank Stober had business in the rain in center on Thursday.

A bouncing baby girl was born to the wife of S. Dunbar Wednesday morning. Mother and baby are doing nicely.

Henry Rosendahl, the nursery man, is putting up a magnificent residence on his lots in the east part of town. Dunbar is the builder.

Miss Nellie Martin left for San Francisco Thursday morning to remain indefinitely.

August Nelson had important business in Fresno Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Levi Garrett and Eliza Gilreath have returned from Denver, where they have been attending the Grand Army Encampment. They also spent a few weeks in San Francisco on their way home.

Henry Rosendahl is building a modern up-to-date cottage in the south-eastern part of town. S. H. Dunbar is the contractor.

P. F. Adelsbach has been commissioned a notary public by Governor Pardee. Daniel E. Brown of the Grant, has gone east on a visit of a month.

Kingsburg, Cal., Sept. 28, 1905.

WOLTERS.

Mr. and Mrs. R. T. Elmore drove down to Sanger the middle of last week on a visit to relatives.

Mrs. R. F. Parks has returned from Madona after a three week's visit to her son George and family.

Mr. and Mrs. L. Dawson and little girl were over to see their relatives here last week.

Orrin Elmore has gone over to Roll Banks this month, where he has a position with John Lester.

Mrs. Martha Bassell returned to her home in Fresno this week.

Miss Stella Elmore has returned from her visit to Le Grange and Modesto.

F. M. Phillips is engaged as carpenter work this week.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Merritt, formerly of Sanger, were up to visit their relatives here recently.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence have moved into our colony this week, he having purchased the home of Chester Padlock on South avenue.

E. P. Ackley has disposed of his property on North avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Padlock and family have moved from the colony this week, having sold their place here.

The Misses Minnie and Dollie Merritt are attending the Union High school at Clovis this term from our colony, making the trip to and from by carriage.

Emmett Elmore is home this week on a visit to his people here from Stanislaus county, where he has resided the past two years.

Raisins are all stacked and a good many are in the sweet box here now, while some growers are making deliveries.

RANCHER No. 2.
Wolters Colony, Sept. 28, 1905.

WORLD'S GREATEST READERS.

Americans Read Three Times More Newspapers Than Any Other Nation.

In his article on "Paper and Its Manufacture" in the October issue of the Technical World Magazine, Mr. William R. Stewart says:

"The per capita value of the paper consumed in the United States yearly is the greatest in the world, and amounted during last year to about $1.75. News paper figured largest in the total production, with a record for 1904 with about 1,500,000 tons, valued at about $23,000,000. In 1890 a total of 190,033 tons, worth $18,106,634, sufficed to meet the demand. We were noted as the greatest newspaper-reading people on earth in 1890, but in 1904 we read three times more, or, at any rate, had three times as much offered us to read. It is interesting to note that in 1890 the cost of news paper was about double what it is at present, namely, 87¢ a ton, compared with about $35 now."

What Do We Drink?

In an article on "Coffee Traffic" in the October issue of the Technical World Magazine, Albert E. Gans says:

"According to the United States statistics there were imported to the United States in the six years, 1897 to 1902, both inclusive, 5,173½ millions of pounds of coffee, of which Brazil sent us 1,993 millions, that is, a little over 35 per cent of the total importation. During the same six years we received from Arabia (Aden, Masterson, U. S. Consul) 1,042 million pounds of Mocha, and from the Dutch and British East Indies, as well as from the Netherlands, there came 117½ million pounds of Java, so that of Java and Mocha we actually had in these six years a little over 137 millions of pounds."

Java and Mocha is the most popular brand of coffee in the United States. It is perfectly safe to say that the grocers of the country sold the people of this country during the six years mentioned a minimum of 3,500 millions of pounds of Mocha and Java in spite of the incontrovertible fact that we had but 137 million pounds of that commodity at our disposal."

In the Repairing Department.

"Half-soled and heeled, please." The old cobbler roared.

"Just wait," he said, "till I put down my lapstone."

"What is a lapstone?" the young girl asked.

"It is a stone," he answered, "that a cobbler uses to cobble shoes with."

"Why doesn't he use a cobble-stone?"

The Equitable Securities Co. of Los Angeles, will loan you money on city property. See Pearson's Exchange, the local agents; next to P. O.

Dr. Aten, Dentist, 108-9 Forsyth bldg.

MUSIC TO DEADEN PAIN.

Dentist Utilizes a Piano to Help Him in Operations.

On the principle that music hath charms to soothe the savage beast, a Broadway dentist has decided that it also has the power to deaden pain. In his dental parlors you may have your teeth fixed while an automatic piano plays, with all the expression and finish to be found in the modern automatic piano, "Bear Up, My Soul, the Strife Will Not Be Long." Or, if you would have something of a more strenuous nature to take your mind off the buzzing and scraping of dental instruments at work on your teeth, you may order a ringing patriotic selection—like "The Stars and Stripes Forever," or "Yankee Doodle Dandy" with variations.

The dentist who introduced the scheme says it works beautifully. His patients are emboldened by it, much after the manner of soldiers, who march with greater courage as long as they can hear the band playing. And even if the efforts of the boring and pummeling associated with dentistry are necessarily fatal, one may make a snail-like end, fading to music, in the most approved Shakespearean style.

"I sat down in the chair and he started the buzzer," said a woman relating her first experience with musical dentistry. "But before he put the 'buzzer' in the tooth he went over in the corner and touched a button on a piano standing there. The instrument began to play, and rendered everything from light opera to sacred music before I was ready to go. And it really quieted my nerves wonderfully. There was something about the music that had a soothing effect. The time seemed shorter than usual and I didn't get half so nervous. The music diverted my mind in a most pleasant manner. I'm delighted with the experiment."

"They all talk that way about it," said the dentist when asked about his scheme, "and I feel real proud of myself for thinking of it. There's quite a little art, too, in fitting the music to the case. For instance, one of my customers wants nothing but Chopin, while another will lie back and beat time with his foot to 'Marching Through Georgia,' and seem perfectly oblivious of the work going on in his mouth."—New York Times.

New York's Lighting Bill.

In twenty-four hours, the people of one city, the metropolis, burn for lighting over 100,000,000 cubic feet of gas, which costs them nearly $100,000. The nightly expense of electric lighting has been estimated at $3,000. With the total cost for lighting a single city amounting to not much less than $150,000 a night, not forgetting kerosene oil and candles, it will be seen that the world's warfare on darkness means the outlay of fabulous sums of money.—Technical World Magazine.

GET
IN
THE
CIRCLE

GET IN THE CIRCLE—$1 A WEEK. GET IN THE CIRCLE—$1 A WEEK. GET IN THE CIRCLE—$1 A WEEK. GET IN THE CIRCLE—$1 A WEEK. GET IN THE CIRCLE—$1 A WEEK.

Go Out Today and Pick Out Your Blackstone Park Lots

It's your opportunity to become a Fresno property owner on the easiest terms you've ever known or heard of—don't let the chance slip by—Fresno real estate is on the advance—make a little money, earn you much!

Lots Are Selling Fast!

The first week's sale of lots in Blackstone Park was a record breaker. Every one that purchased was only too glad of the opportunity and was very enthusiastic over the proposition.

Pick Out Your Lots Today!

Go out to Blackstone Park today, select your lots, then return to town and see L. W. Klein & Co., at their office between 10 and 12 o'clock, and 2 and 6 p. m. Knowing that there's lots of people who work all day during week days, they have decided to open up their office during these hours on Sunday. In that way every one has an equal opportunity to share in this great real estate bargain.

Fine Residence Lots at $100!

Most of these lots left now are $100 each. You may look the town over, but you couldn't find a more desirable locality for a home than Blackstone Park. These lots are of regulation size (25x130 feet), are level and the street signs are put up. There's nothing to prevent your building right away.

Electric Car Extension!

It's pretty certain that the Blackstone car line will be extended past Blackstone Park, out as far as Zapp's amusement park. As it is, the Park is only five minutes' walk from the car line, and you can get to town from there in twelve minutes.

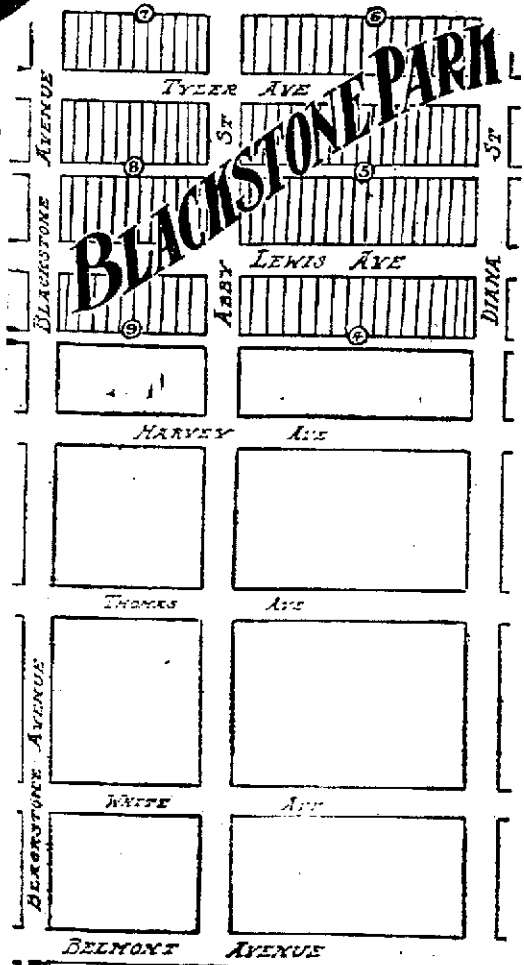

Home-Building Will Begin at Once!

Among the purchasers of last week were many who have expressed their intention of building at once.

These are the people who have been paying rent down town and are beginning to grow tired of it. They realize that money paid in rent is gone, forever. They have decided not to pay rent any longer, but to let their rent money buy them their own home.

Office Open Today From 10 to 12 and From 5 to 6 for the Convenience of Those Who Can't Come in During the Week.

BLACKSTONE PARK—JUST 3 1/2 BLOCKS FROM BLACKSTONE AND BELMONT. TAKE BLACKSTONE CARS.

OWN YOUR OWN HOME—STOP PAYING RENT—$1.00 A WEEK DOES IT!

Will Advance!

Just as soon as the first house is built, others will soon follow. Every house that is put up increases the value of the property. Buy your lots now while you can get them for $100 each, and watch them increase in value.

Easy Terms!

Just think, $10 down and $1 a week will buy you a home in one of the most desirable localities for residences in Fresno.

Save 10 a day—that's all. Why, every man or woman throws away more than that amount every day just on mere foolishness.

Look out for your future. Make investments while you are young, and have something to fall back upon in your old age.

Fresno Growing Northward!

In the past four years the greater part of the building has been all northward. Property in the northern part of Fresno is bringing a higher price than that in any other locality. Notice the improvements, the many beautiful homes already up, and see the prospective ones, and then you can see for yourself it's the best place to buy.

Take Russell Sage's Advice!

Russell Sage, the great multi-millionaire, advises all young men to buy close-in country property near growing cities while the prices are low. Soon the population is such that it needs your land for homes and residences, and in that way you can demand your own price and make big money in real estate.

Some People "Wake Up" Too Late! When these lots are all sold there will be hundreds who wanted to buy, but who waited too long. When they find it's too late to buy lots in Blackstone Park this offer will mean twice as much to them as it did; the lots will have increased two-fold in value and they will wonder why they were so foolish as to let this chance slip by.

Office Open Today from 10 to 12 and from 5 to 6 for the Convenience of Those Who Can't Come in During the Week.

L. W. KLEIN & COMPANY Room 34 Fiske Block (No. 1125 J Street)

GET IN THE CIRCLE—$1 A WEEK. GET IN THE CIRCLE—$1 A WEEK. GET IN THE CIRCLE—$1 A WEEK. GET IN THE CIRCLE—$1 A WEEK. GET IN THE CIRCLE—$1 A WEEK.

GET
IN
THE CIRCLE

GET IN
THE CIRCLE

BARTON OPERA HOUSE

ROBT. G. BARTON, MGR AND PROP.

TONIGHT
Sunday, October 1ARTHUR SIDMAN'S PRETTY STORY OF VILLAGE
LIFE, THE GREATEST RURAL PLAY OF THE DAYYORK STATE FOLKSThe Strongest Acting Company and the Most Elaborate Scenic Production Ever Given a Rural Play

Regular Prices, 25-50-75-$1.00

SEATS ON SALE ALL DAY

BARTON OPERA HOUSE

ROBT. G. BARTON, MGR AND PROP.

3-BIG NIGHTS-3Commencing
TUESDAY, October 3Chas. A. Taylor's New York
CompanyIN THREE OF THE BIGGEST METROPOLITAN SUCCESSSES OPENING WITHThe White Tigress of JapanA Play of This Period Dealing With the Russo-Japanese War, Scenes of Oriental Splendor, Accurate Costuming and the Romance That Brought About the Terrible Conflict.

WEDNESDAY—A Picturesque Drama in Four Acts

Queen of the Highway

THURSDAY—The Dramatic Sensation

Escaped From the HaremSTIRRING SCENES FROM LIFE, COMEDY WHICH SETS LAUGHTER LEAPINGSPECIAL PRICES, 25c, 50c and 75c
SEATS NOW SELLING FOR ENTIRE ENGAGEMENTTWO NIGHTS
Saturday
AND Sunday
Oct. 7-8WILTON LACKAYE

In Wm. A. Brady's Productions of

Saturday—"THE PIT"
Sunday—"TRILBY"Prices 25, 50c, 75c, $1.00, $1.50
Seats Ready Wednesday 9 A. M.Foot's Circus Grounds
2 Nights Only! Oct. 6 & 7From ocean to ocean this gorgeous, thrilling, stupendous $100,000 open air spectacle has created a sensation. Nothing like it in the wide world. See it while you have the opportunity, for you may never look upon its like again.PAIN'S MAGNIFICENT PYRO-SPECTACULAR TRIUMPH
LAST DAYS OF
POMPEIIEach Performance Terminating With a Beautiful $1000
Nightly Display of Pain's FamousFIREWORKSTerrifying Earthquakes and Awe-Inspiring Volcanoes Destroy
An Ancient Roman City350 Gorgeously Costumed Performers in the Thrilling
Episodes and Glittering PageantsACRES OF BEAUTIFUL SCENERY.*PRICES 25c, 50c, 75c and $1.00*Empire Theatre The Grand Theatre

FORMERLY UNIQUE

RE-OPENS SEPT. 25th

E. HOEN, Prop. and Mgr.

2-- SHOWS NIGHTLY --2

Matinees Daily Except Monday.

10c ADMISSION 10c

Fine Musical Program By Empire

Orchestra, Direction of Prof.

Franzoni.

GREAT VAUDEVILLE BILL

All Feature Acts

BOBBY BOYLE AND THE THREEGEORGE GIRLS

Presenting Their Comedy Novelty

Sketch, "The Four Goggles."

CLEVER CONY

Comedy Juggler.

MISS CORA HOEN

Fresno's Favorite Soprano, in Illustrated Songs.

WOODS AND WOODS

The King and Queen of Tight Wire.

The Latest Motion Picture Novelties.

Theo. Rothschild, Pres. and Treas.
Sam. Loverich, Secretary
Geo. M. Dwyer, Local ManagerTHE BEST OF VAUDEVILLE AND AN ALL FEATURE SHOW

The Great Richards

Male Soprano, the Man With the $5000 Diamond Dress.

The Two Franciscos

Burlesque Magic.

Salvini and Bards

Operatic Tenor and Harp Duetists.

Sanderson and Bowman

High Class Sketch Artists.

The Favorite Tenor

Geo. F. Keane

Descriptive Song.

The Latest Motion Pictures on the Grand-o-scope.

.. SOCIETY ..

Mr. Eugene Mellen and his fiancée, Mrs. James Berry, whose marriage will take place on Wednesday.

Down to Business.

There's a glimmer of snow on the mountains.

And a flash from the sun in the sun.

There's a call from the trail and the campfire.

But the sands in the glass are run.

The wanderer's feet turn homeward

For the summer's day is done.

And we all have to get down to business—

"We all gotta make da mon."

There are flying sails on the ocean

That the wind of the sunset fills.

There's the red rust of a demon

On the steel girth paths of the hills.

All because of the sloughy dollar

And the lust that the thing instills.

So the voice of the pines is unheeded,

With the voice of the driven foam.

As we pack up our kites at the dawning

And hike down the trail toward home.

There to draw some reserve for a dollar—

Pouches wherever we roam.

Behind us are God's blue heavens.

Behind are the deeds we have done.

Before us the pool and the ticker.

Behind us the pool and the gun.

Forgotten—fish garnished with bacon

And everything under the sun.

But the call of the almighty dollar—

"We all gotta make da mon."

This bit of verse seems to hit the nail on the head in expressing the feeling of the wanderers who have returned from the fascinations of an outdoor existence to their own cozy hearthside once again.

The fine crisp air that has heralded the advent of October has at last reconciled us to the homecoming. September with its glaring sunny days and its breezy nights—the finest ever for raising—made one ask why we did not linger longer in those favored spots where the mountain breezes sing among the pines or where the grand old ocean is rolling its waves shoreward.

But duty is a stern mistress and her voice drowns entirely those soft summer voices which lure us away a few short months ago. The children must be in school and the house must be prepared for the winter's living and comfort. Then of course the housewife is ever confronted with that old vexatious question of the servant. The household machinery cannot run smoothly until this urgent need is supplied and all thoughts of entertaining fly straight out of the window until it is. So it will probably be another month yet before social life is quite in its best running order and the new debutantes will have a chance to try their wings.

With all of the lovely new homes which are completed or nearly so there is sure to be a house warming or two before long. Mr. and Mrs. Frank Rehorm are quite settled in their elegant new home, which is the admiration of all their friends. There are rumors of a dance to be given in it later on—but this is a secret. Mr. and Mrs. Frank

Gray have just moved into a most attractive and comfortable house on Mil-dreda avenue, which Mrs. James Berry has built just next to her own pretty bungalow.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Riege are at present stopping at "The Palm," but will move into their lovely new K street home within a few weeks. Mr. and Mrs.

Milo Rowel are going to build very soon a very handsome residence on T street just opposite to the T. W. Patterson home. Another elaborate residence which is building in this part of the town is the F. K. Prescott house on the corner of S and Tulare street. When completed this will be one of the most complete homes of the city. Mr. and Mrs. Frank Rehorn are about to move into their handsome new residence on the corner of Mariposa and Q streets.

And there are lots of others, too, which you will know of later.

A Judicious Inquiry.

A well known traveling man who visits the drug trade says he has often heard druggists inquire of customers who asked for a cough medicine, whether it was wanted for a child or for an adult, and if for a child they almost invariably recommend Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. The reason for this is that they know there is no danger from it and that it always cures. There is not the least danger in giving it, and for coughs, colds and croup it is unsurpassed. For sale by all druggists.

A very happy announcement is the the news of the engagement of Mrs.

James Berry to Eugene Weller, who formerly lived here, but is now assistant manager of the Singer Lumber company at Sanger. Mrs. Berry has lived in Fresno for a number of years and has gained a circle of warm friends through her many charms. Personally she is a most attractive woman and added to this pleasing personality is a kindness of heart and genial nature which have won her a warm place in the hearts of those who know her best. Mr. Weller is to be congratulated upon his good fortune and is quite deserving of it, for he has ever been known to be a reliable young business man and during his residence in Fresno was one of the popular young men in society.

The wedding will occur on Wednesday at the Palace hotel in San Francisco and will be a quiet ceremony, with only a few intimate friends present to witness

it. After the honeymoon they will return to Fresno, where they will make their home on Van Ness avenue.

Captain Samuel Francis Bottoms, who has been stationed in Manila for the past two years, has been paying a visit to his mother, Mrs. Robert Bottoms of

No. 3114 Tulare street. Captain Bottom left yesterday for San Francisco, where he is to be stationed at the Presidio for the present.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Perkins have come to Fresno to reside. Mrs. Perkins will be remembered as Miss Mattie

Dunn, whose pretty wedding was one of the events of the late spring. It is with much regret that this attractive young pair are leaving Fresno so soon.

They are keeping house in a cozy flat on the corner of I and Calaveras streets, where they will receive their friends.

Mrs. D. D. Allison and her mother,

Mrs. Myra Webster, are the latest returned arrivals from picturesque Carmel-by-the-Sea. This charming spot has many warm champions in Fresno who grow more enthusiastic at each visit over its fine points, both as to climate, scenery and people. This year there gathered there artistic, musical and literary folk which added not a little to the pleasant life there. Mrs. J. A.

Webster and children spent the early summer there in their cottage. Mr. and

Mrs. John Short and their three children also occupied their pretty cottage for most of the summer. Mrs. Ernest

Lachmund and her two little sons were down from Berkeley for a month or more. Colonel and Mrs. Forsyth spent a few days there; as did also Mrs. W.

J. McNulty, her sister Miss Sprengle, and Mrs. H. C. Warner.

A popular member of the younger social set who will be greatly missed for the next few months is Miss Imb Dickinson, who with her mother, Mrs. J. E.

Dickinson, has gone East for a three months' visit with relatives in Illinois.

They expect to visit in Bloomington, Decatur and Chicago before their return.

Mrs. Frank Gray will be hostess for the Friday Afternoon Card club on Friday of this week.

Judge and Mrs. Wiley J. Tinnin are enjoying a delightful northern trip visiting the Portland fair and other points in Washington. They are expected home on the 10th of this month.

Mrs. L. O. Stephens entertained at a luncheon of ten covers last week in compliment to Mrs. W. McD. Rowan of Garden City, Kan., who has been the guest of her sister, Mrs. A. C. McKeever, for some weeks. The table was gracefully adorned with trailing red roses with a knot of the roses tied to each place card. With the hostess at table were Mrs. Rowan, Mrs. McKeever, Mrs.

A. Linforth, Mrs. W. W. Eden, Mrs.

G. R. Taylor, Mrs. Ellis of Nashville,

Tenn., Mrs. M. K. Harris, Mrs. Elizabeth

Tyree and Mrs. C. H. Hotelling.

Mrs. J. D. Davidson was a luncheon hostess of the week just past entertaining on Friday in honor of Mrs. Ellis of Nashville, the guest of Mrs. M. K. Harris. Sweet peas formed a dainty decoration for the pretty luncheon table and also for the place cards. Mrs. Davidson's guests were: Mrs. Ellis, Mrs.

Elizabeth Tyree, Mrs. L. O. Stephens,

Mrs. E. D. Edwards, Mrs. P. N. Russell,

Mrs. C. H. Riege, Mrs. W. D. Crichton,

Mrs. W. T. Maupin, Mrs. W. W. Phillips and Mrs. J. C. Cooper.

Rev. and Mrs. C. A. Munn have issued invitations in celebration of their golden wedding on Tuesday next at their residence, No. 720 Angus street. The hours are from 7 to 11 in the evening.

Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Slocum of Garden

City, Kan., who have been the guests

WHAT TO EAT

Is very often a hard question for the person to solve who is afflicted with a weak stomach. Experience has taught him to select his food with great caution or else suffer from attacks of heartburn, bloating, headache, cramps, indigestion, dyspepsia, vomiting, constipation and biliousness. Strengthen the digestive organs by taking a dose of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters before meals and be made well again. Insist on having.

HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS

Roasts

Every one enjoys a roast—they're quite a change from steaks and chops.

Our roasts are tender, juicy and satisfying—they provide meat for two meals.

Send in an order for a pork, a beef, a veal or pot roast—you'll find it the best you've ever had the pleasure of eating and cooking.

FRISCO MARKET

Bales & Henderson
Fresno and J Streets
Phone Main 111.

JUST ARRIVED

1906

Rambler TOURING CAR

18 horse power, speed 5 to 30 miles per hour, price reduced to $1380.

W. R. ROBB AGENT

1216 I STREET

Notice

Keep your eyes on our new store in the Grand Theater building, corner J and Kern streets, where we will be glad to show you our large stock of Paints, Oils, Glass, Wall Paper and Picture Frames, about October 1, 1905.

Sronce & Donihue

Successors to SRONCE & DICK.

THE COOLEST PLACE IN TOWN

Jim Van Meter will serve you with a cool glass of Fresno Beer at

BARNUM'S GARDENS

Cor. Mono and G Streets.
Tamales a Specialty.

STEPHENS & BEAN

Undertakers
1141 I STREET, FRESNO, CAL.
Coroner's Office Lady Asst.
ALWAYS OPEN.

C. M. Shannon H. V. Joyaux J. L. Beall
Pres. Sec'y. Vice Pres.

FRESNO UNDERTAKING CO.
Calls Answered Day and Night.
Lady Assistant.
2032 Fresno St. Phone Main 180.

A. B. HOPKINS
Undertaker and Embalmer.
J. H. Kennedy, Asst.
Successor to Witten & Hopkins
OPEN DAY AND NIGHT.
Phone Main 153, Cor. 2 and Merced Sts., FRESNO, CAL.

DUDLEY CHASE HASKELL

BY SAVOYARD.

When the United States Congress convened in 1877 there appeared at the bar of the senate three individuals who had just been transferred from the other house—James G. Blaine, Benjamin H. Hill and Lucius Q. C. Lamar—and men said that their translation was an irreparable loss to the national branch of congress and an incalculable gain to the Federal. But great parliamentarians as these men were, brilliant orators, formidable debaters, profound thinkers, the house of representatives was not inconceivable for there first appeared in that body, that same session, John G. Carlisle of Kentucky, Thomas B. Reed of Maine, William McKinley of Ohio; and Dudley C. Haskell of Kansas. Other new members of the forty-fifth congress were Thomas M. Brown, George D. Robinson, Thomas M. Bayne, and John E. Kennan. In those days it was yet fashionable for a constituency to send the ablest man it could find to the national councils, if his politics suited the majority.

The forty-fifth congress came into being in 1877. "Southern" republicanism was about to give place to economic questions. The G. O. P. was convinced that the bloody shirt was no longer useful as a party ensign, and was getting ready to fold it and lay it away. It is true that Omar G. Conger, Martin I. Townsend, and a few others, who had got so much profit out of it, refused to surrender the banner of discord, but the time had come when men coughed at these things. The forty-fifth congress was the last victory of the grand old garment. Not even super-lavishly itself could stomach the Eliza Pinkston business.

Dudley C. Haskell was the ablest debater Kansas ever produced. He died at the age of forty-one when he had just introduced himself to the American people. Had he lived it is almost certain that he would have been speaker of congress and it is probable that he would have been president of the United States. He was a man of the profoundest convictions, political and moral. What he saw to be right he loved with his whole soul, mind and strength, and what he saw to be wrong he hated with ceaseless intensity. Such men as he are always, and necessarily, leaders wherever their lot may be cast. When their judgment has been right, they have brought incalculable benefits to mankind; when they have been wrong they have brought incalculable injury. Haskell never had a doubt—he was a plain, downright, positive man. Probably he felt something like disdain for the brilliant rhetoric and splendid vocabulary of John J. Ingalls, and it is certain that the delicious humor and amiable satire of J. P. Brewster was incomprehensible Greek to him. He listened to Knott's profound legal logic and rollicking drollery in the great speech on the removal of causes from state courts to Federal courts with mingled emotions that filled Dominie Sampson in a discussion with Counselor Pleydell, and he could not understand a mind that was so facetious the next. He was always in earnest—no joke in Haskell.

Dudley Chase Haskell was born in Vermont in 1842, and though only two years of his entire life were spent in his native state, he was a Vermonter all his life, and nothing else. Stephen A. Douglas and Matt H. Carpenter, Vermonters, became Westerners; but Haskell was born a Puritan, lived a Puritan, and died a Puritan. The family moved to Massachusetts in 1844, and ten years later the father was sent to Kansas by the "Emigrant Aid Society." He settled in Lawrence, in a community that was in search of trouble. His mission was to violate the law, fundamental and statute. It appealed to the "higher law" and there was nothing more natural than that his neighbors across the border in Missouri should have a quarrel with it. Those neighbors were necessitated of certain property recognized as legal in the Constitution of the United States, the laws of congress, and the adjudications of the Supreme judiciary. The Lawrence community believed that under the "higher law" it was illegal to possess such property and that it was a duty to steal it and send it by "underground railroad" out of the country.

Of course, that brought trouble and there was mutual lawlessness and violence indulged in by the opposing forces, and Lawrence found the trouble it was in search of. The elder Haskell was joined by his family in 1850, and young Haskell was enrolled in the Free State Militia while yet a youth. No doubt he understood the issue as well as any of his associates, and no doubt his convictions were more intense than those of most of them. When the Lincoln constitution was submitted to the people of the Free State party refused to vote and the instrument was ratified by an immense majority. Then came the quarrel between Douglas and Buchanan, which was followed by the split of the Democratic party at Charleston, the election of Lincoln, secession and war. Young Haskell engaged in the war on the Union side. After the war he engaged in business pursuits, and was a merchant. In 1871 he entered politics and was elected a member of the state legislature, and was twice re-elected, serving as speaker of the house the last term. In 1878 the Republicans nominated him for congress, and he and his competitor, a veteran lawyer and strong debater, engaged in a joint discussion, which proved a victory for the younger man. He was triumphantly elected, and took his seat in congress in October, 1877, at the age of thirty-five.

When Dudley C. Haskell entered congress, William D. Kelley was the titular leader of the Republican side, though James A. Garfield was the actual leader of the minority. Sam Randall was speaker and Fernando Wood chairman of Ways and Means. Kelley distrusted Garfield, who, in conviction, was as much opposed to the dogma of protection as his bosom personal friend, John Randolph Tucker. He belonged to the Golden Club, and though he was a protectionist, it was because he was a Republican, and not because he believed in it. He declared that he was for protection that would lead ultimately to free trade. That declaration infuriated Judge Kelley, who refused to vote for him for speaker when he got the caucus nomination, but cast his vote for Hendricks B. Wright, a former Democrat, and now a Greenbacker.

That Garfield was the ablest Republican in congress Judge Kelley well knew, and it was more in sorrow than in anger that he contemplated the free-trade heresy of his actual leader. Kelley was now old, enfeebled, and actually ill, and he set about to find a pupil on whose shoulders his mantle might descend, and he found two of them—

William McKinley and Dudley C. Haskell. There was no free trade about these two men. Every seed Kelley planted in their young minds fell in virgin and fruitful soil. It took deep root, flourished, fructified, and yielded abundantly.

It was about this time that the Democrats in congress, in spite of Sam Randall, began to press the tariff issue. The year before Tilden had been elected on a platform demanding "a tariff for revenue only." Morrison, Carlisle, Mills, Ford, Tucker, and Knott were great debaters, and they were recognized by Wilson and the Breckinridges. The campaign of 1880 was not fought on the tariff, but the tariff was an important issue, and Haskell would have been elected had he not congratulated the rag money victor in Maine in September. The tariff question could not stand still, and the forty-seventh congress, Republican in both houses, reluctantly faced it.

But it did not face it squarely. It appointed a committee to do it, and put at the head of it a protectionist Englishman. They went up and down the earth in search of statistics. Of course, when a set of men seek statistics they are not going to put up with any except such as suit them. This commission got protection statistics, just as a Democratic commission would have got free trade statistics. It is a very easy matter for a protectionist to show that when a man buys he can not possibly gain, and when he sells he can not possibly lose. That is the foundation stone of protection. Disprove that and protection crumbles. It has not a peg to stand on. Sell everything; beg nothing—that is the entire creed of protection.

Well, they brought in a bill embodying that principle, and referred it to the Ways and Means committee, of which both Haskell and McKinley were now members. There was a great debate and Haskell was given the post of honor—he closed the debate for the Republicans. It was a great speech from the protectionist standpoint, a conclusive speech. It stamped him as one of the great debaters of the country, worthy the steel of Carlisle, or Tucker, or Wilson. He had no doubts. He was altogether in earnest. He was never a Kansan, and did not know how to fashion a tariff for Kansas; he was ever a New Englander, and made a tariff for New England. Under it Kansas continued to sell her products at prices fixed in the free trade markets of Liverpool, while New England sold her products in the protected markets of America. New England bought food at prices fixed in free trade England; Kansas bought manufactures at prices fixed in protected America. That is all there was to the law, all there ever was to protection, all there can be to it. But Haskell did not see it that way. He had been educated in the school of William D. Kelley, who was educated in the school of Henry C. Carey.

This was Haskell's last labor. Kelley, superannated and stricken with disease, survived him. And it was pathetic—the words of Kelley in his eulogy—"He is as true now as it was before the flood that of two in the field, or two grinding at a mill, one shall be taken and the other left." Haskell was young and had a magnificent physique. His frame was Herculean, his carriage erect, his voice powerful and commanding. When he rose to speak he had the presence and the air of the orator, and he was the most inspiring figure of the whole body, and there has been none to match him in this respect since John C. Breckinridge.

Haskell taxed too severely his magnificent physique and greatly impaired his therefore robust health by his incessant labors on the tariff bill of 1883. He never recuperated, and in December of that year he died—fell in a service of his country as the soldier stricken on the field. But death had no terrors for him. He was a Christian, and believed with a single doubt, if he had had a doubt he would not have believed at all. Where he trusted he trusted entirely; where he doubted he doubted entirely.

Of such a man as Dudley C. Haskell, even as of Stephen A. Douglas, when he is cut off so early in a brilliant career, we instinctively speculate on what his subsequent career would have been had he survived. Would Douglas have continued his support of Lincoln after Lincoln refused to be bound by the constitution in the prosecution of the war? No one knows. We can only surmise. Would Haskell have defied the heresy of Populism or eringed to it, as did Plumb and Ingalls and nearly all Kansas, for that matter? Nobody knows. We can only speculate. We know that if he had defied it he would have been swept off his feet for a time, but like another Antaeus, he would have risen from the ground stronger than ever, and with it. Had he bowed to it, he might have been the head of it—a greater Bryan.

It is easy to believe that he would have been the nominee of the party for president in 1888. And, failing that, or a senatorship, it is next to certain that he would have been speaker of the Fifty-first congress.

Kansas will be envious when she shall produce his like again. And that will not be soon.

The Joy of Living.

To take each step on the way with thoroughness and with conscious joy in the taking of it, that is living one's life intelligently and sanely and to the best advantage. Not to be confused by the conventional ideas of pleasure, but to see how enjoyment is distributed finely and evenly throughout all effort, rather than in one nugget—there is a preventive against disappointment and disillusion. The old adage has it that the Fates, in planning men's acts, assign a certain definite amount of happiness to each sequence of events, and any actor might choose how he should be paid. He might enjoy either in anticipation, or in achievement or in memory, but if he distributed the payments among the three, one payment would diminish the others, for the installments must inevitably add up to the same amount at the end. But a more fitting allegory would teach that pleasure can not be hoarded with miserly craft, to be spent or wasted in riotous bliss. If we try that—and how often have we not tried—we are always disappointed. Pleasure, the legitimate reward of effort, is an interest that is regularly paid. We can not spend it or waste it, for we can not save it against a rainy day. It behooves us to collect it therefore, to the last farthing, day by day.

NEWS OF VISALIA.

Crazy Chinaman Terrifies Indian Cell Mate.

VISALIA, Sept. 30.—Ah Kee, a Chinaman, brought over from Tulare recently to serve a term for vagrancy, was this afternoon examined for insanity by Doctors Farrow and Cross and ordered by Judge Wallace committed to the Stockton asylum. Ah Kee has become violent of late, smashing his bed and other furniture in the jail. He also tried to set fire to his cell. This morning when the jailer went to his quarters he was found perched like a monkey on the bars of his cage near the ceiling. Several Indians who have been confined in the same corridors have been deathly in fear of the "Chink" and stamped like cattle whenever he came near them. Some of the Indians have not slept for several nights in consequence.

Sim Francis, who a year ago was committed to the asylum but later released on parole, became violent again this morning and started to knock down the fence in the yard and to do other damage. His father, George Francis, by the aid of a passer-by secured and held him until the arrival of the officers. Straps were placed on him and he now occupies a place in the padded cell. He will be taken back to the asylum.

The Republican team of Fresno will be here tomorrow for a game with the local team. The game with the El Dorado team of Stockton, which was to have been played, has been called off.

J. D. Waugh has returned from Portland, Tacoma, Seattle, Vancouver and other places, where he had been staying for the last four months. He is counted to return tomorrow from New York state, where they have been visiting for several months.

Members of Theta chapter, Alpha Sigma, fraternity, formed a theater party last night, together with a number of invited guests and attended the show at the opera house. Miss Anna May Bell and Miss Caroline Paine, teachers in the High school, were the chaperones. The following composed the party: Misses Christina Bradley, Laura Cairns, Taylor, Pinkham, Enolia Williams, Gerda Perkins, Anna Parker, Addie Larkins, May Hammond, Muriel Moffett, Sara Noel, Helen Swain, Genevieve Bradley, Thalia Graham, Lola Newman, Ruth Maddox and Marguerite Miller.

Coroner T. M. Dungan returned last night from Eschm valley, where he went to hold an inquest over the remains of A. S. Cooper, who died at that place on Thursday. Heart disease was found to be the cause. Cooper leaves a wife and eight children.

Clara, wife of Justice J. S. Clack, died at her home on North Garden street at 8:30 o'clock last evening. She was a native of Andover county, aged 41 years. She had been ill for several weeks. Her father, J. E. Pettit of Santa Cruz, has been telegraphed for and will arrive shortly.

John Simpson has returned from Goldfield, where he went to visit his daughter, Mrs. H. Chamberlain, who has been very ill with typhoid fever. She was able to accompany him to San Francisco, where she is staying with her aunt, Mrs. Wyatt Humphrey.

SELMA HAPPENINGS.

Japanese Waiter Dies of Corrosive Poisoning—Involved in Mystery.

SELMA, Sept. 30.—A Japanese named I. Murakama, died suddenly yesterday morning at the Japanese boarding house from what seems to have been corrosive poisoning. He was a waiter at the Noxally house and his associates say he retired at 2 o'clock in usual health. A New York doctor, who was brought for a post mortem, found that the cause of death was a result of some corrosive poisoning administered either with suicidal intent or by party or parties unknown. The stomach of the dead Jap was removed and an autopsy examination by Dr. Williams revealed strong symptoms of poisoning. It is a mysterious case and the officers are at work upon it. A large number of Japanese attended the funeral this afternoon.

A very pretty double wedding was solemnized Thursday evening at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joshua W. Brown, west of this city, when their daughter Miss Jennie became the bride of J. C. Dodson, and Miss Viola was wedded to George H. Jantzen of Berkeley.

The ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. J. H. Henry of the Methodist church in the presence of only the relations of the contracting parties. The decorations of white and pink crepe paper, flowers and acacia and pine branches were handsome. After the ceremony a sumptuous wedding dinner was served.

The brides are among Selma's most accomplished daughters, both being prominent in lodge and social circles. J. C. Dodson is a successful fruit grower. George H. Jantzen is a student and assistant instructor in German at the University of California, from which institution he graduated this year. Mr. and Mrs. Dodson left on an early train for Portland to be away a couple of weeks, while Mr. and Mrs. Jantzen were Owl passengers early Friday morning for Berkeley, where the groom had prepared a home at No. 2122 Dwight Way. The city trustees have rescinded their action of September 4th in allowing the bills and issuing warrants in favor of P. L. Blair and E. Ingram, aggregating $625.75, for detective services in the recent anti-liquor prosecutions. The resolution passed recites, in part, that it is now made manifest to this board that the said auditing and allowance of said seven claims and of each thereof, was inadvertently made for the reason that said seven claims were not properly and sufficiently itemized, as required by the charter and ordinance of said town. Attorney Joel H. Smith, assignee of the claims, returned his warrants to City Clerk Mitchell last night. It is understood that the bills, properly itemized by the detectives, will again be presented and acted upon at probably the first meeting of the board in November.

TOURIST CAR EAST.

Every Wednesday Through San Joaquin Valley. If going East, remember that a comfortable tourist car, personally conducted, leaves San Francisco, 10:30 a. m. every Wednesday over Southern Pacific line, through San Joaquin valley by daylight to Los Angeles and then via San Antonio and M. K. & T. line to St. Louis. Ask Southern Pacific agents.

A FREE TRIP TO SAN FRANCISCO.

Have you $100 or more that you want to get the best possible value for and want a free trip to San Francisco and return? You can have it for your money. You can have the judge. Send for full particulars, G. W. Smith, 23 First street, San Francisco.

ALADDIN'S UP-TO-DATE LAMP

When Benjamin Franklin sent up his famous kite and captured electricity, he would perhaps, have been even more surprised had he suddenly realized that in less than two centuries humanity would be cooking its breakfast with this same mysterious substance. Using captured lightning to toast bread and boil an egg or two seems almost disrespectful to Providence. But every year more and more people are doing it. Heating by electricity, and heating means cooking, washing the dishes and various other every day household utilities—has "made good" in all the larger American cities and in many of the smaller ones. What we should do without electricity, as it is utilized in the conventional trolley car and the almost universal telephone, is as difficult for a modern to imagine as it would have been for our ancestors to realize how the world ever got on without candles and Dutch ovens.

Everybody knows more or less about electricity as applied to the big public utilities, but acquaintance with the many uses of the "fluid" to make domestic living more comfortable is still confined largely to the individual users. How many persons know, for example, that a man may go on a journey with a stove in his steamer trunk? Such is a fact, however; the stove, together with a cup that will hold three and a half pints of water, packing away in something less than the space needed for a pair of shoes. The little stove looks like a plain iron disk, but inside of it are the wires that generate heat whenever it is connected with an electric light fixture. And this heat is without flame, and therefore much safer than an alcohol burner. It provides him with hot water for shaving, bathing or drinking—if he happens to be one of the good-sized army of men who find that good digestion waits on a regular supply of hot water, or maybe, for a little laundry work necessitated by the exigencies of travel.

If he likes to keep his clothes pressed, his trunk may also contain an electric pressing iron which hitches to a convenient electric light fixture. Women travelers nowadays often carry these convenient irons, and their remarkable safety is illustrated by a bit of carelessness that recently occurred in a New York hotel. A woman, using the iron, forgot to unplug it, and the iron remained hot; but without setting the house on fire it slowly burnt its way through the wood and was discovered when it was just about to burst through the ceiling of the room underneath. It had settled slowly, literally eating up the flooring and leaving a hole the exact size of the iron.

In many city apartments electricity nowadays does practically everything domestic, from calling up the butcher over the telephone to order a steak, to broiling the steak on an electric broiler and washing the dishes in electrically-heated water. To make the thing complete, the up-to-date butcher is not unlikely to bring the steak in an electric delivery wagon, and the mistress of the house may go again to the telephone and invite a friend to the feast, who comes dashing up a few minutes later in an electric rambot.

Aside from its most simple manifestation as a box on the wall through which one may converse with half a continent, the telephone itself has a remarkable number of adaptations to domestic living. There are telephones so arranged, for example, that the transmitter and receiver may be taken down at night and carried to bed with you, which is a much better protection for the family silver than to put it under the mattress. Special instruments of this kind are made for physicians and so designed that the owner may speak and listen comfortably without even taking his head off the pillow. Other instruments, in large mansions, are so arranged that the butler who answers the general call can immediately connect the caller with whatever part of the house the owner or his good wife happens to be in at the moment; and others are so arranged that the signal bell sounds in different places, while the telephone itself occupies the most central and convenient station.

Curious, too, are the places in which some people keep their telephones. A lady, for example, went not long ago to pay a visit to an old friend now situated in a splendid New York mansion. The room into which she was shown was a large drawing-room filled with bric-a-brac, and in one corner a splendid old "Sed" chair that the owner had "picked up" in Europe. The visitor, making a tour of inspection to while away the time until her hostess (who, being of the fashion, was not unlikely at the moment curling her hair with an electrical curling iron) should appear to receive her, approached the old Sedan chair and was suddenly surprised by the sound of a bell ringing within it. Some demonstration she stepped back when a maid appeared mysteriously, stepped into the old chair and began a conversation over the omnipresent Bell telephone concealed within it. As the hostess explained afterward, it made a "perfectly lovely" telephone booth, and the ghosts of the former occupants probably enjoyed the stray bits of gossip they now and then overheard between herself and a list of friends and acquaintances all over the country.

Often, too, in hotel living, the telephone serves as the means of bringing the guest some of the other electrical conveniences. Electric heaters for curling irons, for instance, are so often carried away, entirely as "souvenirs" that some of the large hotels that started out with a set in every room have been driven to make a rule that what ever wants them shall call up the office over the individual telephone that has nowadays become practically universal in first-class metropolitan hostilities. And in these same hotels the electric broiler is rapidly displacing the less reliable "bed of coals" in handling steaks, chops and broiled fish or chicken.

In the "electrical household" chafing dish parties are, of course, conducted with electric chafing dishes, the heat being not only more regular, but much safer than that supplied by the familiar alcohol burner. But in many households where electricity has not displaced either the coal or the gas stove, the electric oven has become extremely popular. The advantage of the electric oven is that it heats up quickly and maintains a perfectly uniform heat; to cook a pie or bake a loaf of bread takes just so long every day in the week, and there is no opening the oven door to see if there's "anything doing" inside the oven with consequent despair if there's "nothing doing," or if the stove has got too busy and has done altogether too much. Or, in this same partly electrified household, one may find that an electric lighter, with a small, portable battery, is being used to light the gas, or that a small electrical searchlight is taking the place of any other form of illumination when the mistress of the house wishes to find something "back in the pantry or linen closet." Clocks also are now made to keep time by electricity, and the smallest member of the family may likewise thank Benjamin Franklin for discovering a substance that warms the milk bottle almost quicker than one can get thirsty, to say nothing of providing a remarkably neat and comfortable substitute for the old-fashioned hot-water bag.

The electrical household, of course, is found only in those places where the use of the electric light supplies immediate connection with the great fund of electricity. You can't fasten an electric store to the telephone, although if that were possible, it's safe to say that the domestic uses of electricity would be much more prevalent among the millions of persons who nowadays find the telephone indispensable.

Beveridge Is Glad He Laughed.

"The direction of my career was completely changed," said United States Senator Albert J. Beveridge to the writer, "by a careless laugh. When I was a youth in Illinois, I heard that the congressman from our district intended to hold an examination to determine what young man he should appoint to West Point. I pitched in and studied hard for that examination, and found it easy when I came to take it. Most of the other fellows seemed to be still struggling with it when I had finished, and I was so confident that I had made few mistakes, that I was in a pretty cheerful frame of mind. This is why I laughed when one of the strugglers asked a rather foolish question of the professor in charge. The latter evidently felt that the dignity of the occasion had been trifled with, for he scored one per cent against me. When the papers came to be corrected this loss caused me to fall one-fifth of one per cent below the boy who stood highest on the list. He is a captain in the army now, where I suppose I should be had it not been for that laugh. I believe in the power of cheerfulness. Looking back, I am rather glad that I laughed."—Success Magazine.

TRY A HOT LUNCH AT

Wells & Co's. Cafe

WE ALSO SERVE

OYSTERS

TAMALES

AND ALL KINDS OF HOT DRINKS.

Lee W. Wells & Co.

J Street, Near Fresno

1035 J STREET

1035 J STREET

A. Iverson & Co.

(A. Iverson and Bart Harvey)

Partnership Sale

Bart Harvey has become a member of the firm of A. Iverson & Co. The stock has been inventoried. We are going to give the people of Fresno city and county a straight, legitimate sale. Everything in the store will be underpriced. $20,000.00 worth of men's clothing, hats and caps, furnishing goods, will be sacrificed—our loss and your gain.

MEN'S CLOTHING.

200 Men's Suits, good $8.00 and $10.00 values, now... $6.25
300 Men's Suits, good $10.00 and $12.00 values, now... $8.50
250 Men's Suits, good $13.50 and $15.00 values, now $10.00
300 Men's Suits, good $15.00 and $17.50 values, now $12.50
250 Men's Suits, $17.50 and $20.00 values, now 15.00

SOMETHING DOING EVERY MINUTE

You Can Save Dollars on

HATS, FURNISHING GOODS, SHOES

Everything in the house must go. Sale ends October 15, 1905—20 days of continuous bargains. We have accepted the agency for the best clothing. The best hats and furnishing goods in the United States.

A PACKAGE OF CRACKERS FREE

You've seen the arguments about Royal Soda Crackers printed from time to time in this paper and you therefore know something of the care and skill employed in making them.

We now propose to prove to you by practical demonstration how good and delicious they really are.

Cut out the coupon in the right hand corner, sign it and take it to any leading grocer in Fresno and he will give you absolutely free a full size package of Royal Soda Crackers.

There is no string to this—we simply want you to try them—we are willing to abide by your judgment. We feel sure the good taste of the crackers will appeal to your good taste.

American Biscuit Co.

San Francisco, Calif.

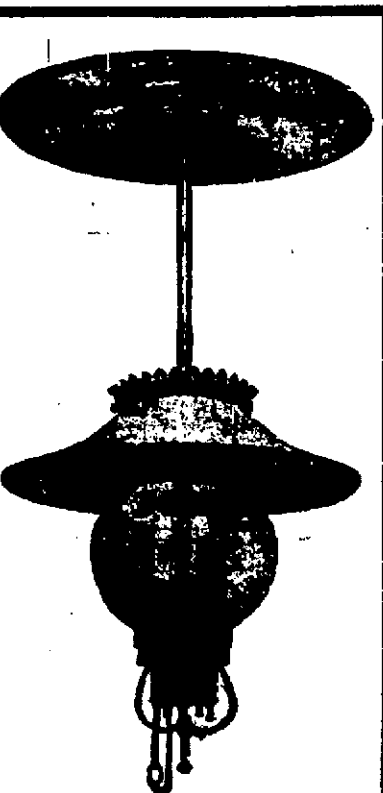

Cut this coupon out and sign it on line below.
Present it to any leading grocer in Fresno and he will give you absolutely free a full size package of Royal Soda Crackers.
Name _____ Address _____
City _____
State _____
Date _____

ELIHU ROOT'S NEPHEW

Housekeeping Rooms To Let

THE AUGUSTINE,
945 Post St., San Francisco.

209 Mason Street, Bet. Geary and O'Farrell, Two Blocks From All Leading Theaters.
San Francisco's Newest and Most Modern European Plan Hotel.
Long Distance Telephone, Steam
Heat, Electric Bedside Reading Lamp, Hot and Cold Water—in Every Room.
Sanitary Compressed Air Cleaning Plant, Ladies' Parlor and Gentleman's Smoking Room.
Rooms Without Bath 75c Per Day.

Best for STORES
WINDOWS
FACTORIES
BILLIARD HALLS
BOWLING ALLEYS

Humphrey's Gas Arc Lamps give forth a clear, strong, bright, economical light.

Get one now.

Fresno Gas Co.
1050 J Street. Phone Main 36.

ONLY $45

We have an overstock on the above and also some top buggies and surreys with steel and rubber tires on which we are making extremely low prices for the next 30 days to reduce our stock and make room for two cars of goods now on the way. It will be to your advantage to examine our stock, should you need a buggy or surrey.

915 J STREET

ARCHIBALD INPLEMENT CO.

CREDIT

Small Payments Down Balance on Easy Terms.

EMPORIUM FURNITURE COMPANY

COR. J AND MERCED STS.
Phone Main 6-15.

Freight Prepaid on Out-of-Town Orders.

Advertisers Use the Republican keeper—most everything but a time observer. He knows the men as they are, and inquiry among them revealed the fact that not only are the men

If a young man is determined to push must be sold by January 1st regardless of price. This business is for sale or would be exchanged for city or country property.. Auction Price Store, 1125 E. 1st Street.

together with costs of advertising and expenses of sale.

D. A. CASHIN,
Secretary of Said Corporation.
Dated Fresno, Cal.; Sept. 5, 1905.

linquent assessment together with the cost of advertising and expense of sale.
By order of the board of directors.
A. S. CLEARY, Secretary.
Room 6, 109 Cal. St., San Francisco.

GEORGE M. PERDUE,
Trustee.
GRANT CORDREY,
Trustee.

PRICES CURRENT.

CHICAGO, Sept. 30.—The wheat market was decidedly weak throughout the session. The greatest weakness was manifested in the September option which ranged between 83 3/4 to 84 1/2. The day was all most favorable to the bears. Cables were lower. Receipts in the Northwest were heavy and the price of cash wheat at Minneapolis was off about two cents. In addition to the heavy movement in the Northwest, receipts today at all primary points in the United States showed a huge increase in total arrivals, being 1,700,000 bushels, compared with 1,065,000 bushels the corresponding day a year ago. At the opening December was off 1/4 to 3/4 at 84 1/2 to 84 3/4. Following withdrawal of support the market became still weaker. December dropped to 84 1/2 to 84 3/4. Part of the loss was regained on covering by shorts. September delivery showing the greatest reaction. The market, however, closed weak with December at 83 1/2. September closed at 83 1/2.

Considering the sharp break in wheat, the corn market held remarkably steady, although prices showed slight losses. The market closed steady. December opened unchanged to 1/4 lower at 43 1/2 to 44, sold off to 43 1/2 and closed at 43 1/2. The oats market was affected to some extent by the slump in wheat. The market, however, was held comparatively steady by the purchasing of nearly 1,000,000 bushels of May oats by a leading commission house. December closed at 28 1/2 to 29 1/2. With the exception of a small flurry in September pork the provisions market was steady. In general trading was very quiet. At the close January pork was off 1/2, lard was down 1/4 to 3/8, and ribs were lower.

Dried Fruit Prices.
NEW YORK.—Evaporated apples show continued firmness. Common to good 56 to 70 cents. Prunes are quiet and unchanged, with quotations ranging from 4 1/2 to 7 1/4 cents according to grade. Apricots are said to be firmer on spot but show no material change. Spot 8 1/2 to 9 cents. Peaches remain nominal in the absence of business. Raisins are quiet but show continued firmness. Loose muscades 5 1/2 to 7 1/2, seeded raisins 5 1/2 to 7 1/2 and London figs at 8 1/2 to 12.

Butter, Cheese and Eggs.
SAN FRANCISCO.—Butter: Fancy creamery 37, seconds 35. Cheese: Eastern 15 to 16; Young America 12 1/2 to 13. Eggs: Ranch 33 to 40; Eastern 20 to 28.

Vigorets.
A tiny, chocolate coated tonic laxative tablet, that gives VIGOR and health to the Stomach, Liver and Bowels, thereby curing:
Sick Headaches, Biliousness, Salty Complexion, Torpid Liver, Dyspepsia, Heartburn, Indigestion, Pimples, Loss of Appetite, Piles, Sour Stomach, Dizziness, Nausea, Poul Breath.

Take only one "VIGORET" at bed time and they will move the bowels gently, yet thoroughly each day and permanently cure—
CHRONIC CONSTIPATION
They cool, cleanse and purify the blood and are sold by all druggists in the packages of 50 tablets and 100 trial size 15 tablets.
Sold By GEO. H. MONROE
Druggist, Cor. Mariposa and J Sts.

"DAY" MALARIA CURE
First Dose Relieves Stops Chills at Once
Cures Malaria, Ague, and Chills and Fever in three days. Gives an appetite. A powerful but harmless tonic. Price 7 cents.
Sold By DUKE & COLSON

"DAY" MALARIA CURE
First Dose Relieves Stops Chills at Once
Cures Malaria, Ague, and Chills and Fever in three days. Gives an appetite. A powerful but harmless tonic. Price 7 cents.
Sold By DUKE & COLSON

"DAY" MALARIA CURE
First Dose Relieves Stops Chills at Once
Cures Malaria, Ague, and Chills and Fever in three days. Gives an appetite. A powerful but harmless tonic. Price 7 cents.
Sold By DUKE & COLSON

"DAY" MALARIA CURE
First Dose Relieves Stops Chills at Once
Cures Malaria, Ague, and Chills and Fever in three days. Gives an appetite. A powerful but harmless tonic. Price 7 cents.
Sold By DUKE & COLSON

UNCLE IKE
Has all his unredeemed diamonds marked in plain figures in the windows.
1831 Mariposa Street.

STENOGRAPHERS.
MISS HAMILTON—Public stenographer, Notary, Mimeograph, Rm. 141 Forsyth bldg. Phone Main 1324.

TENTS AND AWNING.
FRESNO TENT & AWNING CO., 1824 Fresno, Phone Main 663. Work guaranteed. Prices reasonable.

Have You Ever Tried Bronge's XXX Port Wine?

It's only $1.20 a gallon—and it would cost you anywhere else $2.
This XXX Port Wine is 8 years old, has a beautiful rich red color, is made of only the purest and best materials and has that genuine wine taste that is so much liked by lovers of good wine.

Bronge is also selling

XX Port Wine 50c a Gallon

Its quality is far above the price—so if you're in need of wines, just take your choice and you're sure being satisfied with either.

ALBERT BRONGE

VINEYARDIST
1151 I Street
Phone Main 536 Free Delivery.

ALBERT BRONGE

VINEYARDIST
1151 I Street
Phone Main 536 Free Delivery.

ALBERT BRONGE

DRESSMAKING.
MRS. O. D. SCULLY, fashionable dressmaker, 1316 J street. Phone main 1678.
MRS. KATE SKINNER, Dressmaking, Rooms 19-20, Fresno National Bank building.
ACCORDIAN PLEATING—Sunburst skirts, complete, $5. Forenoon. Mrs. E. C. Smith, 737 J. Main 948.
FASHIONABLE DRESSMAKING—Mrs. Schuiz, 1056 P street.
DRESSMAKING—At home or by day Miss E. White, 1427 I street. Phone Main 523.
DRESS MAKING and children's sewing, 742 H street, Main 1656.
UP-TO-DATE dressmaking; excellent fits; reasonable prices; 715 M street; Telephone Main 1641.

BUSINESS CARDS.
REMOVED—Mrs. M. Alfred's employment agency is permanently located at 832 I street, where she will be glad to meet her friends and patrons. Phone Main 143.
HAVE YOUR fall garments cleaned and pressed at the Fresno Dye works, 939 J street; Main 471.
ARCADE STABLES, 826 I street, main 346; second hand buggies for sale or trade; also store room for rent.
C. E. WHITE—Feed, livery and sale stable, cor. J and Mono. Main 975.
CHEAPEST FEEL—Shells and blocks. D. E. Nichols, 130 Effe. Phone Main 2381.
T. E. HUFF—Feed and livery stable, cor. Fresno and H. Main 636.
ROYAL CAFE—1836 Mariposa street; Excellent 20c meals. Phone Blue 247.
CARPETS—Fresno Steam Carpet Cleaning and Renovating Works takes up, cleans and relays carpets. Phone Main 355. Wm. M. Stone.

OSTEOPATHIC PHYSICIAN
DR. PARRETT—Osteopath; room 5-6, Bank Central Cal. bldg. Tel. Main 1450.
DR. MINERVA KEY CHAPPELL—147 Forsyth bldg. Main 1240. Res. Main 729.
DR. SARAH PUGH, Osteopathic physician; lady specialist. Room 151 Forsyth bldg. Phone Main 488.
VETERINARY SURGEONS.
FRESNO VETERINARY HOSPITAL—Entirely new and best equipped hospital in the valley. Drs. Longley and Betzold, 831 I st. Main 224.
THE FRESNO VETERINARY CO.'s hospital has been moved to the old Spinnery property, corner of A and Tulare streets. Williams and Hearn, props.

Physicians and Surgeons.
DRS. W. T. and J. L. MAUPIN—Office, Patterson blk. Main 461.
DR. A. H. WALLACE—Over Hollands. Phone Main 607; res. Main 1370.
PROFESSIONAL CARDS.
MRS. DR. J. S. JONES, blood purifier. Room 2, 1335 J street.

ESTRAYED.
LOST—Bay mare with colt. Return to F Street feed yard.
LOST—Bay mare four years old; had halter on and branded on left hip. C. M. Chalup, 1147 Fresno street. Phone main 1835.
LOST—One small buckskin mare, weight about 800; fresh rope burn on right hind foot. Attached to old top buggy. Please notify sheriff's office and receive reward.
LOST—Sord horse, weight about 1100; white face, one white hind foot. Palo Alto stables, corner H. Merced.

TAKEN UP.
TAKEN UP—One small brown mare; Inquire at Waverly ranch, Sauger.

PASTURAGE.
PASTURAGE for 200 head of stock; fine alfalfa and sugar cane; will fatten stock. Apply to Haber Bros & Co., 1140 J street.

FRESNO NATIONAL BANK.
(Opposite the Postoffice.)
Paid up capital $200,000
Surplus and undivided profits, $135,000
Thomas W. Patterson, president; V. F. McVey, vice-president; Dan Brown Jr., cashier; Am. S. Hayes, assistant cashier.

FARMERS' NATIONAL BANK OF FRESNO.
Paid up Capital $150,000
Surplus and Undivided Profits, $135,000
Alfred Kutner, President
E. R. Manheim, Vice Pres and Mgr.
Walter Shoemaker, Cashier
J. J. Rahill, Assistant Cashier

Safe Deposit Boxes for Rent.
The First National Bank of Fresno. Capital Paid Up $300,000.00
Surplus and Profits $350,000.00
O. J. Woodward, president; J. Vogel, vice president; W. J. Dickey, secretary; E. A. Walwood, cashier; W. R. Price, assistant cashier; Roy Fulliam, second assistant cashier. Safe deposit boxes for rent.

CEGAR FENCE POSTS and grape stakes in large quantities, delivered at Fresno and vicinity. D. L. Stewart, Curlew Meadows. P. O. address Pine Ridge.

FOR SALE—Fresh cows at reasonable prices. J. W. Martin, one mile east of Belmont school, Fresno.

FOR SALE—Buggy mare, buggies, harness, furniture, house and lot, cheap; 2230 Tulare.

ROOTED VINES—Emperor, Malaga, Thompson Seedless, Sultan, Muscat, Cornichon, Rose Peru, Tokay, Isabella and Zinfandel. We have the finest stock in Fresno county. Purchasers will do well to inspect ours. Stock before placing their orders. Also fruit trees of all kinds. Fowler Nursery Co., Fowler, Cal.

FOR SALE—A fine thoroughbred Holstein Friesian bull. Cheap. Geo. C. Roeding, 1215 J street, Main 99.

FOR SALE—Gentle driving mare, buggy and harness, cheap. Palo Alto Stables, Tulare and A streets.

FOR SALE—41,000 truck shakes. Inquire W. A. Noland, North Fork, Madera county, Cal.

FOR SALE—Good milch cow. Apply 159 Valeria.

FOR SALE—Five good second hand wagons. Woodward & Co., J and Kern streets.

FOR SALE—Cigar fixtures with counter. Show case, at present in use at Hughes hotel.

FOR SALE—A fine mountain ranch, cheap. Address Hawkins Hay Market, Fresno.

FOR SALE—Light camp wagon and cheap horse; 272 West avenue.

WANTED—Miscellaneous.

WANTED—To rent two or three furnished or unfurnished rooms for housekeeping. Residence portion. Apply Miss Glenn, California Hotel.
WANTED—To rent modern six-room cottage. Good location. Address "M," Box 33, Republican.
WANTED—Room and board by young married couple in private family; centrally located. Address B, box 26, Republican.
WANTED—A child to board; a good home. Apply 225 Effe street, phone 963 main.

WANTED—By young lady, board and room in private family; terms reasonable, within 15 minutes' walk of town. Address D, box 19, this office.
WANTED—Partner with small capital, can make $10 per day. Call at room 22, 1017 I street.

WANTED—Partner for good business. Call at room 22, 1017 I street.
WE CAN SELL your property. List it with us and be convinced. We have customers and want more city and country property. Call and see us. Pearson's Exchange, next to P. O.

WANTED—Horse and buggy a few months for his keep. Address K, box 32, this office.
IF YOU HAVE second-hand furniture to sell and want to get highest price for it call City Furniture Co., 1143 K street, Main 1877.

WANTED—Two rooms to board; men preferred; good location; 756 Nielson avenue.
WANTED—To trade new first-class organ for young driving mare; 1227 R street. Phone Black 195.

WANTED—To rent vineyard, 40 to 100 acres. Address rooms 8 and 9, Fresno National Bank building.
WANTED—Buy 50 tons of wine grapes, black and white. Apply 1232 F St.

WANTED—To do painting, paper hanging or tinting in exchange for horse and buggy; 375 Thesta. Phone Red 604.
WANTED—Six fresh cows; must be good milkers and good test. Phone State 2383.
600 MEN to have old hats made new; Rourke, 2020 Fresno street, Main 2006.

WANTED—SITUATIONS.
WANTED—By middle aged man, situation at light work not particular to wages. Apply 1324 J street.
WANTED—Good Japanese wishes a position to do chambermaid work or housework. Address 1512 Tulare st.

WANTED—Position as office assistant or bookkeeper by young man familiar with system and commercial law. S, box 30, Republican.
BOOKKEEPER, experienced, wishes steady employment, or part of the time. Books balanced. Address "B," box 19, Republican.

WANTED—Position by experienced bookkeeper; references, "D," box 8, Republican office.
WANTED—Position on vineyard by thoroughly experienced man; can give references. Address J. C., box 4, this office.

WANTED—By thirty Japanese pickers, job. If you have not picked yours, call at H. Yasui, care Mr. Monger, Suburban 2381.
WANTED—Position by young man of twenty, understands care of horses. Apply A, Box 10, Republican office.

WANTED—Situation as bookkeeper; best of references. Salary $75. Address B, box 16, this office.
FOR SALE—Miscellaneous.
FOR SALE—Good side spring buggy; will take part payment in lay or lump. P. D. Graft, 202 Glenn avenue.

FOR SALE—A No. 1 fresh Jersey cow. Apply 135 Poplar avenue.
FOR SALE—Berkshire stock hogs at Fancher Creek Nursery No. 3, 3 miles southeast of Sauger. Call at office, 1215 J street or at nursery, where stock can be seen.

FOR SALE—Good work team, wagon and harness. Apply to F street feed yard.
FOR SALE OR TRADE—Two fine standard bred mares, one driving or riding horse, and one light express or delivery wagon, nearly new. 116 Park avenue.

FOR SALE—Horses; can be seen at the Fresno Ice Delivery Co. stables on P street, near Mono.
FOR SALE—Thirty-five head of young Durham heifer calves; a few calves, and one good Durham bull. Price $600. Inquire of H. G. Macdon, Borden, Cal.

FOR SALE—Grocery store; a bargain; rent cheap; 1264 F street.
FOR SALE—40 head of dairy-bred heifers. Address Oscar Duke, Conejo, Cal.

FOR SALE—Hogs and pigs; Belmont, R. R. Co. S. Peter, Guerneville, Cal.
FOR SALE—Chaos, horse, harness and rubber tired buggy, 406 Poplar Ave. Tulare and A streets.

FOR SALE—10 head good young horses. Apply Williams and Hearn, corner Tulare and A streets.
FOR SALE OR TRADE—Automobile with tonneau. Inquire at 1137 I street.

CEGAR FENCE POSTS and grape stakes in large quantities, delivered at Fresno and vicinity. D. L. Stewart, Curlew Meadows. P. O. address Pine Ridge.
FOR SALE—Fresh cows at reasonable prices. J. W. Martin, one mile east of Belmont school, Fresno.

FOR SALE—Buggy mare, buggies, harness, furniture, house and lot, cheap; 2230 Tulare.

ROOTED VINES—Emperor, Malaga, Thompson Seedless, Sultan, Muscat, Cornichon, Rose Peru, Tokay, Isabella and Zinfandel. We have the finest stock in Fresno county. Purchasers will do well to inspect ours. Stock before placing their orders. Also fruit trees of all kinds. Fowler Nursery Co., Fowler, Cal.

FOR SALE—A fine thoroughbred Holstein Friesian bull. Cheap. Geo. C. Roeding, 1215 J street, Main 99.

FOR SALE—Gentle driving mare, buggy and harness, cheap. Palo Alto Stables, Tulare and A streets.

FOR SALE—41,000 truck shakes. Inquire W. A. Noland, North Fork, Madera county, Cal.

FOR SALE—Good milch cow. Apply 159 Valeria.

FOR SALE—Five good second hand wagons. Woodward & Co., J and Kern streets.

FOR SALE—Cigar fixtures with counter. Show case, at present in use at Hughes hotel.

FOR SALE—A fine mountain ranch, cheap. Address Hawkins Hay Market, Fresno.

FOR SALE—Light camp wagon and cheap horse; 272 West avenue.

HELP WANTED—MALE.

WANTED—Agents and managers wanted everywhere, extensive territory. "One Dollar a Year protects you." We issue more accident and sickness policies in the world, because we issue the most popular and cheapest insurance written; new plan; $1 a year pays for $500 policy; no assessments or dues; other amounts in proportion. Death benefit; weekly indemnity; specific indemnity for loss of limb, eyesight; free medical attendance; many other original and popular features. Issued to either sex without regard to nationality, color or occupation. All claims promptly and liberally settled; insurance assets $300,000. Representatives wanted everywhere; good territory still open; liberal, permanent contracts not necessary; previous experience not necessary. International Company, 231 Broadway, New York.

RELIABLE MEN—Everywhere to distribute circulars, samples and advertising matter. Good pay. No canvassing. Co-operative Advertising Co., 40 W 28th St., New York.

WANTED—Boy to attend cigar store; one who lives with his parents. Apply to J. G. Levy, 1030 I street.

Male Help Wanted.
200 Young Men and 25 Boys—For Pain's great spectacle "Last Days of Pompeii" in Fresno, nights (only) of October 6th and 7th. Apply 7 p. m. Tuesday, October 3d, to Mark Fenton, stage director, at Armory hall, in Barton theater building. No "rowdies" need apply.

WANTED—A messenger boy, 15 or 16 years of age, at Western Union Telegraph office. Permanent position to the right boy. Apply Monday morning, C. S. Morgan, manager.

WANTED—Trustworthy man to manage branch office and distributing depot for large manufacturer. Salary to start with $1800 first year and extra commissions and expenses. Applicant must have good reference and $2000 cash capital secured. Experience unnecessary. Address "Superintendent," 21 West Atwater street, Detroit, Mich.

A PERMANENT Business Office—$50 to $150 per week positive—Men and women wanted everywhere to operate sales parlors for the best ladies' and gents' dress shoe known; 10 original eight-selling health and comfort features; factory to consumer; previous experience unnecessary; profit possibilities unlimited; no risk; reply quick. So. Cal. Agency, 322 W 2d St., Los Angeles, Cal.

WANTED—An active young man to do collecting for a local mercantile house. Address H, box 30, Republican office.

WANTED—At once, two cash boys. Apply at E. Gottschalk & Co's.
WANTED—Insurance agents. Western Burial Contract company. B. E. Benson, superintendent, 1151 J.

BONNEY EMPLOYMENT office. Best of help furnished; male and female. Main 876; 1221 1/2 I street, Fresno.
WANTED—Men to learn barber trade. New method. Tuition earned while learning. Position guaranteed after 8 weeks. Gillman's Barber College, 627 Clay street, San Francisco, Cal.

ANY intelligent person may earn a good income corresponding for news-papers; no canvassing; experience unnecessary. Send for particulars. Northern Press Syndicate, Lockport, N. Y.

JACK'S EMPLOYMENT Bureau for reliable help, 1839 Tulare street. Phone Main 351.
PAUL MAYERS' free employment bureau for sober and reliable help, corner H and Kern. Phone Main 680.

HELP WANTED—FEMALE.

Female Help Wanted.
50 Girls (10 small)—For Pain's great spectacle, "Last Days of Pompeii" (as flower girls and lady attendants) in Fresno on nights of October 6th and 7th. Apply 7 p. m. Tuesday, October 3d, to Mark Fenton, stage director, at Armory hall, in Barton theater building.

WANTED—Girl for second work and care of two children over 4 years old. Four miles east of town on the Kennedy street. Apply at room 303, Forsyth bldg. Monday, 10 to 12 a. m.

WANTED—Competent girl for general housework. Wages, $25. Mrs. D. H. Troubridge, 1066 1/2 J.

WANTED—Girl for general housework. Apply 1827 Eldorado.
WANTED—Competent girl to do cooking and housework at 1007 R street.

WANTED—Girl for general housework. Apply 1745 J street.
WANTED—Girl for general housework. Apply evenings, 1760 J street.

WANTED—Young girl or Jap to assist in general housework. Must go home nights. Apply 857 T street.

WANTED—A girl for general housework. Address E. R., box 29, Republican office.

WANTED—A girl to do cooking and general housework. Apply 1407 K street.
WANTED—Girl for general housework. Danish or Swedish. Apply 1350 O.

WANTED—Girl for general housework, two in family. Apply 1662 J.
WANTED—Young lady for stenographer and bookkeeper. State, age, experience if any, and salary expected. Address Y, Z, box 3, this office.

WANTED—First-class cook. Apply to Mrs. Frank Short, 2125 Calaveras street.
WANTED—Active lady; each country; to demonstrate and display supplies. Salary $12 weekly; no capital or experience required. Silver Co., 720 Chestnut street, Phila., Pa.

LOST—Gold pin. Finder please return to 1361 J street.

LOST—Key to Yale lock. At Alexander & Goodman's corner. Finder return to this office and receive reward.

LOST—A bunch of keys on a heart-shaped ring. Finder return to 2521 Inyo for reward.

LOST—Silver watch, open face, Waltham. R. R. Engine on back of case. Apply 2232 Tulare, Park stables, and receive reward.

LOST—Watch fob, initial B and pin. C. P. S. D. 704. Call at Bell's office for reward.

FOUND.
FOUND—Eik's watch, charm. Call at San Joaquin Co.'s office, prove property and pay for ad.

FOUND—Bunch of keys. Owner prove property and pay for ad.

FOUND—Near Republican office, part of sack of potatoes and new horse. Call at this office and pay for ad.

FOR RENT—ROOMS.

FOR RENT—Nicely furnished front bedroom, suitable for two gentlemen, one block from Santa Fe Depot. Phone Main 2135.
FOR RENT—Two furnished rooms for housekeeping, 1134 P street.
FOR RENT—Two single rooms for gentlemen. Call have board next door; 1130 M street.
FOR RENT—Two front rooms and board; private family; $24 M St.
FOR RENT—Furnished housekeeping rooms; electric and gas lights; 1415 N street.
FOR RENT—Furnished rooms at 1819 Eldorado street.

FOR RENT—Unfurnished basement rooms at 1150 M street.
ONE OR TWO nicely furnished rooms for rent to man and wife or young ladies. Apply at 257 San Pablo Ave.
FOR RENT—Furnished housekeeping rooms; 728 Neilson avenue. Phone main 1453.

FOR RENT—Furnished housekeeping rooms, single or suites; 625 K street.
MECHANICS' LODGING HOUSE, corner H and Inyo. Free baths. Mrs. Stenbacher.
FOR RENT—Furnished front bedroom for gentleman; 1115 O St., Main 1073.

FOR RENT—Three furnished house- keeping rooms; Phone and bath; good shade; 310 Nielsen.
FOR RENT—Furnished rooms; rent reasonable; 1311 P street.
HOTEL LINCOLN—Furnished rooms by week or month. Rooms cool and airy. Heating and furniture new and clean. Prices reasonable. Cor. M and Kern streets. One block from park.

FOR RENT—Furnished housekeeping rooms, Cor. Mono and S streets.
FOR RENT—Cool furnished housekeep- ing rooms, 1445 K street.
FOR RENT—Furnished apartment in good location. Apply to W. G. Wharton, 1049 J street.

FOR RENT—Furnished housekeeping rooms, 2219 Merced street.
30 LIBERTY STREET, San Francisco; double and single rooms; hot and cold water, bath, good board. Terms reasonable.

FOR RENT—Cool rooms; also housekeeping rooms. Hotel San Jose.
FOR RENT—Furnished housekeeping rooms, two blocks from P. O. Apply 958 I street.

FOR RENT—Two rooms furnished for housekeeping, 1040 Q street, near Santa Fe.
FOR RENT—2 modern furnished house- keeping rooms, 1421 J street. Phone Black 1924.

FOR RENT—HOUSES.

FOR RENT—6-room cottage furnished or unfurnished. Inquire 1401 Belmont avenue or phone Black 1432.
FOR RENT—Houses at Gill Real Estate Agency, 1943 Fresno street.

FOR RENT—3-room, modern house, with bath. Apply cor. M and Mono.
FOR SALE—Homes in Fresno city on contract; same as rent; no loan to take out. Inquire at Gill Real Estate Agency, 1943 Fresno street.

FOR RENT—Five roomed cottage. Inquire immediately. Frank J. Craycroft, phone suburban 225.
FOR RENT—New house, six rooms, modern, convenient. Blackstone avenue. Apply to Noble Bros, room 116, Forsyth bldg.

FOR RENT—Modern brick flats, 6 and 5 rooms; 3142 Tulare street and 957 V street. Door open. F. M. Chittenden, 1152 J.
TO LEASE—Large rooming and board- ing house, fully furnished, close in, to responsible parties only. F. M. Chittenden & Co., Inc.

FOR RENT—New house; 6 rooms, hard finished. All modern conveniences; 460 Glenn avenue. Inquire 242 Neilson street.
FOR RENT—Cottage. Inquire 1704 I.

FOR RENT—9 roomed modern house; good location. Haber Bros. & Co., 1140 J street.
FOR RENT—5 room furnished cottage, bath, electric lights, shade, barn, chicken, 252 Clark street. Apply 2820 Mariposa street.

FOR RENT—8 room house, close in; inquire 2522 Ventura avenue. Phone main 2

Fashionable Paris' Decrees on Mourning Garments

PARIS, Aug. 12.—All Paris is at hand, takes the wearing of the habiliments of grief just as she does all other things, lightly. For awhile she is overwhelmed with the sense of her loss and then she begins to wonder if mourning is really becoming to her, and from that minute her mourning attire.

Some of the ladies of the brilliant party decided the Londoners by their costumes, but unfortunately several of them are in mourning, so that they did not go out as much as they would otherwise have done. At the many grand and ceremonious dinners and other functions the ladies of France could themselves.

Back in the streets given over to the splendid equipages of the rich, the poor people who had no place there while the season is in swing. And everywhere the people keep up the agitation over the failure of Sarah Bernhardt to be made a chevalier of the Legion of Honor when Miss Harter was made one. It seems that the sentiment grows as time passes and public feeling is greatly aroused. The divine Sarah is to be decorated, and another not so talented or so long on the stage to have the honor? It is not to be borne, and the people discuss the situation, which is a wonder, as in Paris ordinarily nothing seems to occupy the public mind more than twenty-four hours.

The American contingent now in the city is large, but there is little heard of it for the reason that the women are for the most part busy preparing for the fall campaign, and this necessitates many visits to the chief dressmakers and furnishers of every description. The men meanwhile are taking much needed lessons in automobilism. Just how to fly faster than the wind and avoid disaster, and in case of an accident to any one in the way to be far into the next arrondissement before the victim knows he is killed, is a great proof of capacity which has not been altogether mastered yet in America. And that brings me around to the question of mourning again, for naturally the relatives must wear black and be sad and abandoned to sorrow forever—or for six months.

In English mourning costumes are considered important, and the different degrees of relationship require certain ways of making a garment and certain kinds of material. Mourning is so important a thing in England that it becomes almost a function to wear it, and not one day less than fashion says she must wear it will an Englishwoman put it off. It is worn not as a penance, but as a sort of obligatory religious observance, and a woman must keep it up in the same way as she does all the intricacies of mourning, but the materials and fabrics produced, especially for mourning wear by the English manufacturers from the finest natural Australian wool are so rich and elegant that one must admire them. The Frenchwoman, on the other hand, takes the wearing of the habiliments of grief just as she does all other things, lightly. For awhile she is overwhelmed with the sense of her loss and then she begins to wonder if mourning is really becoming to her, and from that minute her mourning attire.

Some of the ladies of the brilliant party decided the Londoners by their costumes, but unfortunately several of them are in mourning, so that they did not go out as much as they would otherwise have done. At the many grand and ceremonious dinners and other functions the ladies of France could themselves.

Back in the streets given over to the splendid equipages of the rich, the poor people who had no place there while the season is in swing. And everywhere the people keep up the agitation over the failure of Sarah Bernhardt to be made a chevalier of the Legion of Honor when Miss Harter was made one. It seems that the sentiment grows as time passes and public feeling is greatly aroused. The divine Sarah is to be decorated, and another not so talented or so long on the stage to have the honor? It is not to be borne, and the people discuss the situation, which is a wonder, as in Paris ordinarily nothing seems to occupy the public mind more than twenty-four hours.

The American contingent now in the city is large, but there is little heard of it for the reason that the women are for the most part busy preparing for the fall campaign, and this necessitates many visits to the chief dressmakers and furnishers of every description. The men meanwhile are taking much needed lessons in automobilism. Just how to fly faster than the wind and avoid disaster, and in case of an accident to any one in the way to be far into the next arrondissement before the victim knows he is killed, is a great proof of capacity which has not been altogether mastered yet in America. And that brings me around to the question of mourning again, for naturally the relatives must wear black and be sad and abandoned to sorrow forever—or for six months.

In English mourning costumes are considered important, and the different degrees of relationship require certain ways of making a garment and certain kinds of material. Mourning is so important a thing in England that it becomes almost a function to wear it, and not one day less than fashion says she must wear it will an Englishwoman put it off. It is worn not as a penance, but as a sort of obligatory religious observance, and a woman must keep it up in the same way as she does all the intricacies of mourning, but the materials and fabrics produced, especially for mourning wear by the English manufacturers from the finest natural Australian wool are so rich and elegant that one must admire them. The Frenchwoman, on the other the skirts, are the distinguishing features. To one of the costumes has been added a short cape, which is divided in the back from waist to shoulders and reaches but to the waist line. This is made of that superlatively beautiful mourning material, eudora. Around the bottom of it and up the front and the slashed back is a fringe made of crape ribbon. This somehow gives the impression of a grief that knows and can know no solace. The dress skirt is long and lies in heavy folds, which the superb quality of the stuff, with its dead fineness and frosty bloom. This is the most fashionable of all the black goods, and the only one recognized as suitable for first mourning. It is half silk. Parametta and bombazine were once the bottom of it and up the front and the slashed back is a fringe made of crape ribbon. This somehow gives the impression of a grief that knows and can know no solace. The dress skirt is long and lies in heavy folds, which

At one of the largest houses in the world that make a specialty of mourning outfits there was a suit for a young lady mourning for a father. The skirt was laid in plaits; also the waist. The Louis XV. sleeves are seen on this, as on many other suits, and they end at the elbow with the deep up-turned cuffs. The hat has a bow of crape at the left side, and from the back hangs a long veil of waterproof crape.

There was a gown of eudora for a young widow. This was made to show the house a cap of white crape lisse as well as the little white roll along the front of the bonnet. There was one handsome suit of dull crape de soie, with a deep border of crape and the same in waist trimming. The hat was very stylish, with quills made of crape over wire. Elbow sleeves were worn with long suede gloves. For a widow (and widows always have the deepest mourning—at first—and change it soonest) there was a gown of eudora, with crape laid to the knees in one fold. This had a row of milliner's fully, but we owe something to appearances. A good plan is to have a handsome large black pin and take the heaviest folds of the veil and bring it to the left shoulder and fasten it there. The other end may fall over the face or backward, as preferred. It is generally thrown back and a thin net veil brought over the face. This has a crape border. The veil is worn over the face as long as the wearer's grief is violent enough to make her eyes red. Short round capes of almost any suitable cloth are made for fall wear, and following the fashion set by Duse, many of them have fringe. These little capes are as ugly in themselves that the very wearing of one shows that the wearer is so heartbroken that she does not care how she looks. For house wear there is a dull and flexible silk which makes quite as beautiful gowns as china crape, at half the cost and with the advantage that it does not gather all the dust in the universe. This silk is made with shirings as ornamentation and a little crape and sometimes dull black ribbon as finish. Jet-bright after the first three months of mourning and dull during that time—is used very often as trimming for garments worn during the period of mourning. Embroidery of dull silk is often seen on the waist and some short veils. Parasols are of armure silk, and even the portemonnaies are of dull black suede. Some of the most advanced of the smart set of Paris even have their dogs dyed black if nature has made them light colored.

Many of the younger members of the afflicted families do not like to wear the heavy regulation goods, and for them there are short dresses of surah or china silk, made in kilts or on similar lines. The object is to get something black that will be light and easy and yet may be made by the judicious addition of bits of white and black to pay the proper respect to the departed.

Take Care of Your Clothes. Many a girl comes home tired after a long outing, and as often as not forgets to shake her skirt free from dust before hanging it up. The pretty hat may be perhaps put in its box without a look as to how feathers or flowers have fared, veils, gloves and furs are put away anyhow, when just a few moments' work would never be missed, and these little attentions would do away with the tumbled look the clothes will have when next taken out.

Just a little folding, a little pulling out of plaits and bows, wringing bent stems of flowers, shaking out damp feathers—all will insure a happy condition of things when the day dawns. Silk blouses retain their freshness much longer when the sleeves are stuffed with tissue paper before putting them away (this is an excellent plan for dress sleeves as well), and boots last twice as long if they are put on trees which are taken off the feet and kept and the leather doesn't crackle. Boot trees are so inexpensive nowadays that they can be indulged in by women with quite moderate dress allowances.

Never neglect small repairs—a stitch in time saves not only nine, but ninety. Don't let buttons hang by their threads, darn small holes, never wear dirty or tumbled lace, brush off mud and blind frayed skirts. Fine feathers make fine birds, but never go in for only outside show. Your lingerie, corsets and stockings should be good, if plain, and always carefully kept in order. A clean cotton petticoat is better than a shabby silk one, and the smartest boots look bad if they are worn down at heel or minus buttons or tidy laces.

Remember the outward appearance is often an index of a person's character, and the dress apt to get "untidy" in the character of her habits of untidiness are indulged in.

The tidy girl makes a tidy wife and a tidy mother, and her influence goes far, like the ripples that spread in water after a stone has been thrown in it.

enough where all sorts of old things can be found, and rather than have no grandmother's room it would be well to purchase the necessary things.

The first is the tall clock, the next the spinning wheel and then the rag carpet, and even this can now be purchased for there are many demands for rag carpet. If the house is not very large let one of the girls arrange her room after this fashion, and it is certain that every one in the house will find it a favorite place.

If there is no money with which to buy antiques of the dealers in those things a clever boy can make the things himself and also big money. Bureaus and other beautiful things which require too fine workmanship can be dispensed with. Space and comfort should be the first consideration. It is quite possible for boys and even girls to make deep and cozy armchairs from barrels; it is not so difficult as it appears. To make one of these, get a strong barrel and saw away the staves from the front portion of what will be the chair and arms, leaving the rest for the back. Then bore holes at the top of the sawed off part, which is to form the seat, and pass very small round rods or wire through the springs. Then fasten in strongly strips of the carpetlike straps made for the purpose. These when solidly fastened give foundation to sew the springs to. When many springs are used, a small amount of wire or straps over them and fasten them. After this make a sort of quilt of some strong stuff and stuff this with hair with a thick layer of cotton over it. This is firmly nailed over the side pieces left for arms and over the back. Creases in the top of the seat, a padding should be taken of the spare pinning cheesecloth along and cutting it after it is pinned. When taken off this shows just how to cut the cover. This is sewed all around the edges, turned right side out and tacked to the back and arms by brass headed nails. A thick material of hair or cotton is put over the seat and drawn down tightly. A little cotton is brought around the front of the chair to soften the feel of the wood, and a valance is made to fit with perhaps a little bright furniture braid to cover the seam. Such a chair is a comfort.

Plain kitchen chairs are made in keeping with such a room by setting springs directly on the wooden seat and covering them with burlap and a cushion and then covering the whole chair with cretonne and a valance. These are really very pretty, and no one would imagine that they were common wooden chairs costing a few cents.

Cushions of any old fashioned material are in place in these pleasant rooms, and nothing in them should be too fine or frail for hard, everyday use.

A settle can be made of ordinary boards, but unless some one can carve a design on the back and arms it would better be upholstered with dark cretonne.

By wiping with a damp cloth, and it greatly saves the washing bill. Salmon should have a small head, thick shoulders and small tail. The scales should be bright and the flesh very red.

New chiffon gowns have skirts trimmed from the hem to the knees with a thin strip of tape and the color of the gauze. Colored chiffon worn over a white foundation is very effective with this trimming.

When being measured for shoes or when trying new ones on always stand up, placing both feet firmly on the ground, as the feet are larger standing than in a sitting posture.

Growing children must never be allowed to overwork their brains. Rapid growth is a strain of itself on a child's constitution.

Don't put one side of the mouth only when eating, for then the teeth have not all the same amount of exercise and decay sets in more rapidly on one side than the other.

To Clean Satin Shoes. White satin shoes may be easily cleaned at home. Stuff out the shoe in shape and rub it gently with a soft cloth dipped in methylenated spirit, repeating till clean. Dry with a clean soft cloth.

ETHEL LINGOW.

USEFUL RECIPES

GREEN PEPPER CURRY.—Cut a salt in the side of the peppers and remove seeds. Mince some meat very fine and season with salt. Add a very little garlic, a little onion, a little lemon juice and cook with a little water until the meat is done. Then stuff the peppers with the meat. Put in a saucepan, into which has been put a cup or more of coconut milk and a little turmeric, coriander and celery seeds, which have been previously browned and ground or pulverized. Then add a little green ginger, a little cinnamon and a red pepper. Mix and the day before can be used in this way. Serve with rice.

French Dressing For Salads.—Mix well together one tablespoonful of salt, one-half tablespoonful of white pepper, three tablespoonfuls of oil, one-quarter teaspoonful of onion juice, and one tablespoonful of vinegar. Mix and well mixed pour over the well washed and dried lettuce salad.

Creamed Sweetbreads.—Parboil the sweetbreads, clean off the skin and pipes, drop them into cold water and let stand until cold. Cut them very small, add cream sauce of one tablespoonful of butter, one of flour and one cupful of rich milk. Stir over the fire until quite thick, add the cut up sweetbreads and cook them until soft. Add three sprigs of parsley chopped fine and a glass of Madeira wine. Serve quickly.

Potato Croquettes.—Boil and mash one quart bowl full of potatoes, season with butter and salt and beat until light, add two well beaten eggs and roll into balls; roll in egg and bread crumbs and fry in hot lard.

Lemon Sherbet.—Measure two quarts of water, add the juice of nine lemons, one quart of cut sugar and two well beaten eggs. Rub the sugar on the rind of the lemons. When the sugar is melted, freeze and serve.

Bouillon.—Cut in small pieces three pounds of solid beef, pour over it two quarts of cold water and let it heat gradually on the back of the stove. After an hour bring it forward and boil up. Skim well, then allow it to simmer for six hours. Take off strain and let it stand overnight. Next day remove all fat, add one small onion, a stalk of celery, two leaves each of sage, thyme and bay leaves, two or three sprigs of parsley, six whole peppercorns, six whole cloves and salt to taste. Boil one-half hour gently, then strain through cheesecloth. This will make three pints.

To Clean Satin Shoes. White satin shoes may be easily cleaned at home. Stuff out the shoe in shape and rub it gently with a soft cloth dipped in methylenated spirit, repeating till clean. Dry with a clean soft cloth.

ETHEL LINGOW.

SEVERAL PHASES OF MOURNING ATTIRE.

There is as coquettish as her other garments. It is not altogether in France, however, that the elegant styles for mourning originate, for some of the English models, particularly since the death of the late queen of England, have been illustrations of what can be accomplished in the way of dressiness with somber wools and crapes.

These really stylish and beautiful gowns and wraps have in addition to their own beauty of line and finish the grace and distinction of the garb of woe. Recently Duse, the great actress, has had several gowns and wraps made for a new play. Long lines, sweeping and somber, with rich, heavy folds to lose themselves at the bottom. There is no trimming at the bottom save a rope of crape directly on the edge. At one of the largest houses in the world that make a specialty of mourning outfits there was a suit for a young lady mourning for a father. The skirt was laid in plaits; also the waist. The Louis XV. sleeves are seen on this, as on many other suits, and they end at the elbow with the deep up-turned cuffs. The hat has a bow of crape at the left side, and from the back hangs a long veil of waterproof crape.

There was a gown of eudora for a young widow. This was made to show the house a cap of white crape lisse as well as the little white roll along the front of the bonnet. There was one handsome suit of dull crape de soie, with a deep border of crape and the same in waist trimming. The hat was very stylish, with quills made of crape over wire. Elbow sleeves were worn with long suede gloves. For a widow (and widows always have the deepest mourning—at first—and change it soonest) there was a gown of eudora, with crape laid to the knees in one fold. This had a row of milliner's fully, but we owe something to appearances. A good plan is to have a handsome large black pin and take the heaviest folds of the veil and bring it to the left shoulder and fasten it there. The other end may fall over the face or backward, as preferred. It is generally thrown back and a thin net veil brought over the face. This has a crape border. The veil is worn over enough where all sorts of old things can be found, and rather than have no grandmother's room it would be well to purchase the necessary things.

The first is the tall clock, the next the spinning wheel and then the rag carpet, and even this can now be purchased for there are many demands for rag carpet. If the house is not very large let one of the girls arrange her room after this fashion, and it is certain that every one in the house will find it a favorite place.

If there is no money with which to buy antiques of the dealers in those things a clever boy can make the things himself and also big money. Bureaus and other beautiful things which require too fine workmanship can be dispensed with. Space and comfort should be the first consideration. It is quite possible for boys and even girls to make deep and cozy armchairs from barrels; it is not so difficult as it appears. To make one of these, get a strong barrel and saw away the staves from the front portion of what will be the chair and arms, leaving the rest for the back. Then bore holes at the top of the sawed off part, which is to form the seat, and pass very small round rods or wire through the springs. Then fasten in strongly strips of the carpetlike straps made for the purpose. These when solidly fastened give foundation to sew the springs to. When many springs are used, a small amount of wire or straps over them and fasten them. After this make a sort of quilt of some strong stuff and stuff this with hair with a thick layer of cotton over it. This is firmly nailed over the side pieces left for arms and over the back. Creases in the top of the seat, a padding should be taken of the spare pinning cheesecloth along and cutting it after it is pinned. When taken off this shows just how to cut the cover. This is sewed all around the edges, turned right side out and tacked to the back and arms by brass headed nails. A thick material of hair or cotton is put over the seat and drawn down tightly. A little cotton is brought around the front of the chair to soften the feel of the wood, and a valance is made to fit with perhaps a little bright furniture braid to cover the seam. Such a chair is a comfort.

Plain kitchen chairs are made in keeping with such a room by setting springs directly on the wooden seat and covering them with burlap and a cushion and then covering the whole chair with cretonne and a valance. These are really very pretty, and no one would imagine that they were common wooden chairs costing a few cents.

Cushions of any old fashioned material are in place in these pleasant rooms, and nothing in them should be too fine or frail for hard, everyday use.

A settle can be made of ordinary boards, but unless some one can carve a design on the back and arms it would better be upholstered with dark cretonne.

By wiping with a damp cloth, and it greatly saves the washing bill. Salmon should have a small head, thick shoulders and small tail. The scales should be bright and the flesh very red.

New chiffon gowns have skirts trimmed from the hem to the knees with a thin strip of tape and the color of the gauze. Colored chiffon worn over a white foundation is very effective with this trimming.

When being measured for shoes or when trying new ones on always stand up, placing both feet firmly on the ground, as the feet are larger standing than in a sitting posture.

Growing children must never be allowed to overwork their brains. Rapid growth is a strain of itself on a child's constitution.

Don't put one side of the mouth only when eating, for then the teeth have not all the same amount of exercise and decay sets in more rapidly on one side than the other.

To Clean Satin Shoes. White satin shoes may be easily cleaned at home. Stuff out the shoe in shape and rub it gently with a soft cloth dipped in methylenated spirit, repeating till clean. Dry with a clean soft cloth.

ETHEL LINGOW.

How to Fit Up a Grandmother's Room

PASTOR WAGNER in his book "The Simple Life" lays much stress on the grandmother's own private room and tells us that all cares and worries incidental to the hurried and restless life of the day were by common accord left outside that door when any one entered it. It was the abode of peace and calm, and its quaint furnishings of a bygone time but added to its pleasantness. He does not tell us exactly what the furnishings were, but we gather that everything there had its reason for being in some cherished remembrance or in its comfort and usefulness. It calls up a picture as pleasant as it is unusual in these days when all is for show.

In one of the finest mansions in New York is just such a room. It belonged to the old grandmother who could never forget her own simple life and its calm delights. Her son would never allow that precious room to lose one of its cherished pieces of furniture. The room was kept in order so long as he lived, and when weary of the stress and strain of being a millionaire he would go to this room, away up in the back of the house, where the sun came streaming in and the old style chimney gave its grateful warmth on cold days, and there he would spend the only peaceful hours of his busy life.

It is not only quite possible, but completely easy to create in any home a reasonable dimensions a "grandmother's room," which should be the haven of peace and quiet comfort for every member of a family. A bedroom, no matter how daintily it is furnished, is a place, no matter how magnificently furnished, no library, with its conventional furnishings, can ever quite fill the longing for simplicity in the hearts of almost every member of a family, even the ambitious mother or society doctor.

It is just here that the grandmother's room would be a comfort and a place of refuge where everything would speak of old days and restfulness and simplicity. If the grandmother is there to bless the place with her sweet presence, so much the better for all; but if she has gone beyond, then the happy associations of her life and love should make it still dearer.

On return to the room spoken of as existing in the New York mansion: It is in the top floor, at the back of the house, so as to be away from the street noises and to have the southern exposure. The windows have deep embrasures, and these are filled with pots of flowering plants, kept fresh and bright all the year around. The windows have half curtains of white muslin.

chimney place in the style of two or three generations ago. There is a spinning wheel and an old clock which has ticked away the hours of three generations. A couple of clawfoot tables and a bird is a little red velvet cushion for needles. There is an old fashioned low chair in which the grandmother had rocked all her own and her son's babies. A bag for work—and incidentally for peppermints—hangs at one side. In one corner is a high post bed with a patchwork quilt over it. There is a red moreen curtain all around, but drawn back to show the fat pillows.

Chairs, an old fashioned dresser and a big bureau of roomy drawers and solid make are there, all speaking of other times when veneer was unknown and wood was sold for just what it was.

By the side of the chimney and opposite the rocking chair is a deep armchair with a little hair covered footstool, and by the side of it is a small table with a whole array of pipes and tobacco jugs, match holders and all that goes to make a smoker happy.

There are few families who cannot find enough of the old and half for the good things to furnish one of these desirable places. The boys and girls, too, would appreciate it. Here they could pop corn and make taffy, things interdicted in the homes of most wealthy people. Here is a cozy place for the daughters to sew and make the pretty little Christmas and New Year gifts unseen by the parents and friends for whom they are intended.

If, however, there is no old fashioned furniture in the attic, there are stores of erris root and half a dram of powdered cloves. This applied with a power puff to the feet, etc., will give great relief. Baby should weigh three times as much at twelve months old as he did when born.

Sleeves are often of elbow length and worn with them are long mousquetaire gloves, usually of kid, but often, too, of cool silk in a pale color to match the gown. A single puff or a series that looks like clever draping, lace ruffles or deep cuffs tucked back at the elbows and framing short undersleeves are all good. Do not send children to bed hungry. Let them have a little milk pudding or bread and milk before going to bed.

Measures to Remember: Two teaspoonfuls equal one dessertspoonful, two dessertspoonful equal one tablespoonful, one small teaspoonful equals one gill, one small breakfast cup full equals half a pint, one dessertspoonful

of butter or dripping is one ounce, half a pound of flour equals a breakfast cup full.

The smartest glove is undoubtedly the elbow length white suede mousquetaire. Silk gloves, especially those with lace tops, are almost as fashionable. The elbow sleeve has brought this glove into prominence, no other showing the lace tops to advantage.

Save the washing of tablecloths by covering the nursery table with white oilcloth. All stains can be removed by wiping with a damp cloth, and it greatly saves the washing bill. Salmon should have a small head, thick shoulders and small tail. The scales should be bright and the flesh very red.

New chiffon gowns have skirts trimmed from the hem to the knees with a thin strip of tape and the color of the gauze. Colored chiffon worn over a white foundation is very effective with this trimming.

When being measured for shoes or when trying new ones on always stand up, placing both feet firmly on the ground, as the feet are larger standing than in a sitting posture.

Growing children must never be allowed to overwork their brains. Rapid growth is a strain of itself on a child's constitution.

Don't put one side of the mouth only when eating, for then the teeth have not all the same amount of exercise and decay sets in more rapidly on one side than the other.

To Clean Satin Shoes. White satin shoes may be easily cleaned at home. Stuff out the shoe in shape and rub it gently with a soft cloth dipped in methylenated spirit, repeating till clean. Dry with a clean soft cloth.

ETHEL LINGOW.

TYPICAL GRANDMOTHER'S ROOM.

POINTERS HERE AND THERE FOR THE WOMAN SEX.

Washing Buckles of tortoise shell, tooth powder, gum mint and channels for the face, all kinds of ornaments, and a place and most fashionable things are seen.

It is not only quite possible, but completely easy to create in any home a reasonable dimensions a "grandmother's room," which should be the haven of peace and quiet comfort for every member of a family. A bedroom, no matter how daintily it is furnished, is a place, no matter how magnificently furnished, no library, with its conventional furnishings, can ever quite fill the longing for simplicity in the hearts of almost every member of a family, even the ambitious mother or society doctor.

It is just here that the grandmother's room would be a comfort and a place of refuge where everything would speak of old days and restfulness and simplicity. If the grandmother is there to bless the place with her sweet presence, so much the better for all; but if she has gone beyond, then the happy associations of her life and love should make it still dearer.

On return to the room spoken of as existing in the New York mansion: It is in the top floor, at the back of the house, so as to be away from the street noises and to have the southern exposure. The windows have deep embrasures, and these are filled with pots of flowering plants, kept fresh and bright all the year around. The windows have half curtains of white muslin.

chimney place in the style of two or three generations ago. There is a spinning wheel and an old clock which has ticked away the hours of three generations. A couple of clawfoot tables and a bird is a little red velvet cushion for needles. There is an old fashioned low chair in which the grandmother had rocked all her own and her son's babies. A bag for work—and incidentally for peppermints—hangs at one side. In one corner is a high post bed with a patchwork quilt over it. There is a red moreen curtain all around, but drawn back to show the fat pillows.

Chairs, an old fashioned dresser and a big bureau of roomy drawers and solid make are there, all speaking of other times when veneer was unknown and wood was sold for just what it was.

By the side of the chimney and opposite the rocking chair is a deep armchair with a little hair covered footstool, and by the side of it is a small table with a whole array of pipes and tobacco jugs, match holders and all that goes to make a smoker happy.

There are few families who cannot find enough of the old and half for the good things to furnish one of these desirable places. The boys and girls, too, would appreciate it. Here they could pop corn and make taffy, things interdicted in the homes of most wealthy people. Here is a cozy place for the daughters to sew and make the pretty little Christmas and New Year gifts unseen by the parents and friends for whom they are intended.

If, however, there is no old fashioned furniture in the attic, there are stores of erris root and half a dram of powdered cloves. This applied with a power puff to the feet, etc., will give great relief. Baby should weigh three times as much at twelve months old as he did when born.

Sleeves are often of elbow length and worn with them are long mousquetaire gloves, usually of kid, but often, too, of cool silk in a pale color to match the gown. A single puff or a series that looks like clever draping, lace ruffles or deep cuffs tucked back at the elbows and framing short undersleeves are all good. Do not send children to bed hungry. Let them have a little milk pudding or bread and milk before going to bed.

Measures to Remember: Two teaspoonfuls equal one dessertspoonful, two dessertspoonful equal one tablespoonful, one small teaspoonful equals one gill, one small breakfast cup full equals half a pint, one dessertspoonful of butter or dripping is one ounce, half a pound of flour equals a breakfast cup full.

The smartest glove is undoubtedly the elbow length white suede mousquetaire. Silk gloves, especially those with lace tops, are almost as fashionable. The elbow sleeve has brought this glove into prominence, no other showing the lace tops to advantage.

Save the washing of tablecloths by covering the nursery table with white oilcloth. All stains can be removed by wiping with a damp cloth, and it greatly saves the washing bill. Salmon should have a small head, thick shoulders and small tail. The scales should be bright and the flesh very red.

New chiffon gowns have skirts trimmed from the hem to the knees with a thin strip of tape and the color of the gauze. Colored chiffon worn over a white foundation is very effective with this trimming.

When being measured for shoes or when trying new ones on always stand up, placing both feet firmly on the ground, as the feet are larger standing than in a sitting posture.

Growing children must never be allowed to overwork their brains. Rapid growth is a strain of itself on a child's constitution.

Don't put one side of the mouth only when eating, for then the teeth have not all the same amount of exercise and decay sets in more rapidly on one side than the other.

To Clean Satin Shoes. White satin shoes may be easily cleaned at home. Stuff out the shoe in shape and rub it gently with a soft cloth dipped in methylenated spirit, repeating till clean. Dry with a clean soft cloth.

ETHEL LINGOW.

Autumn Fashions of Paris Still In the Chrysalis Stage

PARIS, Aug. 5.—Marcus Aurelius, the exponent of the simple life in Rome nearly 2,000 years ago, said, "Do few things." But, to return to the striped materials, they vary in size from pin width to work going forward. Some of the latest crepe de chine are seventy inches wide.

A few of the restless ones of this world who never dream in pleasant places go out to the restaurants to dine "par chic." They get up parties of forty, and after dinner, in spite of the heat and indifference to the poetic charms of the night, they dance madly to the strains of a Tzigane band. These elegants, too, adopt the simple gown of lawn in lavender, blue or pink, with white always in the lead.

A dainty frock I observed the other afternoon was of pink lawn with waist and skirt inserted with guipure lace. A baby sash of pink liberty was worn with this simple costume. The parasol matched the dress, and was trimmed with pinked out flounces, and, as the fashion of the moment, a wrist bag matching the parasol was carried.

It is all very well to say that the season is almost over and there is no use bothering about clothes until the autumn, but when this melancholy season arrives one feels more acutely than the falling leaf if one also falls short of an appropriate gown. So, if provident, one at least leaves an order with the couturiere to forward some things to the autumn address—that is, you do if you are of the elect of the earth, the chosen minority. If you're not, you listen attentively to the counsel of the advanced fashion chronicler, who speaks with very little authority at this early stage of the sartorial game.

Fashions move in circles, and you have only to get far enough behind to be in the lead. A case illustrating this point is the current of the tight skirt made with many cores and usually circular. These same despised jupes, if fashioned with straight widths, are available for most of the new patterns.

The dressmakers are going to have their own troubles with the new striped materials that are to be so fashionable in a few weeks. Plaids were difficult enough in all conscience to make up, but the fitting of a striped skirt is double trouble, as every stripe must be matched at every seam. Manufacturers, however, appear this season to be in sympathy with the couturiers and are making the full fabrics twice as wide as usual. Not only in woollens, but in silk and crepe de chine, is this good work going forward. Some of the latest crepe de chine are seventy inches wide.

But, to return to the striped materials, they vary in size from pin width to it is to be extremely smart. In or out of style a black gown must remain the most distinguished one a woman can wear. A black confection for evening wear, trimmed with bands of hand-would expect. In the dark colors so quaintly modish nowadays it is a charming contrast to the light colors in which every one appears on smart occasions.

I don't believe you have heard about the latest detachable flounce idea. It's the loveliest thing for the woman who buttons, and it is the work of a few minutes to attach the flounce. An old silk dress that will not supply an entire skirt can be depended upon to yield several fluffy flounces.

One hears on all sides that flounces have gone out of fashion. This statement is true to a certain extent, but one well-gowned woman I know always has at least two of these attractive frocks in her wardrobe both winter and summer. During the warm weather hazard lengths may be picked up at less than half price and can be made, with the aid of the small seamstress, into dainty house gowns for winter. Becoming colors should be selected and great care exercised as to the design. A large, sprawling pattern on a small woman accentuates her diminutive proportions of a "daughter of the gods" divinely fair and divinely tall. If you think of investing in one of these flounces be sure not to purchase the inartistic tan and brown combination so many women have a fatal habit of buying. In reality, these colors become dingy before they are really solid, and in no way do they wear half so well as a pretty light colored silk.

I was buying a traveling hat the other day, and a remark of the shopgirl rather appealed to me. "If madame takes this French sailor," holding up a stunning creation, "retrogress in the back," she will be charmed, for there is nothing to interfere with her repose when train tided." This sensible suggestion brought to mind how a chapeau can make or mar the delights of a journey. Anything in shape approaching a projecting brim at the back instantly dismisses all thought of a restful lounge. Almost any small hat tilted forward is practical for touring, and while on this subject there came from a reliable quarter a hint as to the conversation in a hotel corridor. The pretty girl, evidently wife of the looking man accompanying her, inquired solicitously, "Is my hat on straight?"

"Yes, hurry or we'll be late," came the comforting reply.

"Are you sure it's on perfectly straight?"

"Yes, I tell you it couldn't be on straighter."

"Then, Harry, dear, I'm awfully sorry, but I'll have to go upstairs and fix it. You know it isn't stylish to wear this kind of hat straight."

Miss's puncture will not be so tried if the perfectly round felt turbans, promised for fall wear, materialize. Rumor has it they are to be trimmed with ostrich feathers, starting almost directly at the back and coiling over on the hair or quite round to the opposite side. Black shapes with colored feather or colored felts with black plumes are considered assured of the best millinery recognition. The chic of these toques rests on their studied plainness except for the feather adornment.

The charming romance of Miss Williams, one of your American beauties from a southern state, which culminated in her marriage last week to the Prince de Bearn, was a pretty ceremony. The young bridegroom was an attaché of the French legation at Washington, and he and his bride spent last summer at Newport, where the romance is said to have begun. The dainty bride gown was of soft white satin, the skirt ornamented with a Greek key design carried out in lace and tiny ruffles of satin. The simple bodice had a lace yoke and puffed sleeves, and the skirt was edged with a small bunch of orange blossoms.

The princess's gown is always a favorite model for evening costumes, and when the bodice is draped, it is particularly becoming to slight figures. No trimming is necessary on the skirt of a silk or satin wedding gown, and a dainty lace yoke trimmed with cobweb ruffles is sufficient for the bodice. The plain style that relies upon the beauty of the material and graceful draping is smartest and often most effective. A decidedly unique idea for wedding veils is being carried out by a French girl of my acquaintance. She is painting herself a drapery of chiffon with shadowy sprays of orange blossoms that give the effect of a border, but are really in detached bunches. The painting is done in white, and the effect is stunning.

There is an odd superstition in M. Worth's workshop. When a wedding gown is being made there is a rush among the sewing girls to thread the first needle with a hair from their own head and pass it through the material. Whoever is first in this race will be the first to marry.

CATHERINE TALBOT.

Fancy Hosiery in Favor.

The embroidery on stockings is very elaborate. Rosbuds showered over the front and other blossoms, such as forget-me-nots, look pretty, but all such decorations tend to increase the appearance of the size of the ankle. To reduce this nothing is better than a narrow stripe, and fortunately for stock stockings are also in fashion. Just white pin stripes about half an inch apart are smart. Stockings to match shoes in color are absolutely necessary to the well-dressed woman, so a stock of hosiery will be required by all now, as shoes are of many shades—brown, fawn, gray and, of course, black.

A Stunning Evening Gown

THE evening gown illustrated is of light green crepe. A Watteau effect is carried out in the trimming. On the skirt between festoons and bands of lace are circular motifs surrounding large pink chifon roses. A similar adornment is arranged on the slightly décolleté bodice. The girlish use of striped crepe and gives a princess effect that is very becoming to a slight figure.

Three Beauty Secrets.

A ripe apple eaten half an hour before breakfast every morning is a great complexion clearer and beautifier. The morning is the best time to eat fruit.

Leban juice and fresh cream make an excellent nourishing food for the skin. The former tones it up, while the latter supplies the fat needed to nourish it if wrinkles are to be kept at bay.

To avoid chapped hands keep a box of oatmeal soap at hand and wash them over with it every time you wash your hands. Imperfect drying is the most frequent cause of chaps.

Return of the Eton Coat.

The return of the Eton coat will be hailed by most women with joy. It is a very near relation of the bolero, but it is usually characterized by collar and tiny revers, also pointed fronts and plain coat sleeves. A popular everyday costume of the summer is the plaid skirt and the Eton to match. It is a style which is even more useful than the old coat and skirt, which we have loved so long and so wisely and which even now we shall not entirely part from, though the coats are longer and the skirts more elaborately made.

Styles While You Wait.

Mrs. Styles want a hat, but it must be in the latest style. Place Shopman—Kindly take a chair, madam, and wait a few minutes; the fashion is just changing.

The Hen Convention a Novel Idea In Entertainments

If you are desirous of entertaining a lot of the feminine in an afternoon function one of these August days startle even the bored ones into interest by bidding them come to a Hen Convention. This is how a clever hostess in a fashionable country neighborhood, one noted for the originality of her "affairs," entertained last week.

Several days before the function she sent out to about thirty of her special friends the following announcement:

A Hen Convention will be held at The Cedars on Wednesday, Aug. 14, 4 to 6 p. m. Will you come and cackle?

Some of the replies were very funny. Here are a few samples of them.

The Misses Lawrence have much pleasure in accepting Mrs. Bailey's kind invitation to cackle.

This was written on a card illustrated with a clever pen and ink sketch of two cackling chickens—presumably the Misses Lawrence themselves—rushing with outstretched wings to reach a sedate hen—supposedly the hostess—who was watching over a third chicken.

Another reply ran in this wise: The old hen of Crowlands regrets very much that she is not feeling strong enough to go to the hen convention on Wednesday. She hopes the young hens and little ducks will spend a happy afternoon.

The preparations for this convention were very simple. The necessary number of programmes, made on unruled sheets of white note paper, were decorated at the top with colored pictures of hens cut from poultry advertisements.

Inside was a list of the guests. As each guest arrived a programme was given her, and she was told privately by the hostess the name of the hen she was to represent, which knowledge had been questioned as to its color, habits, etc., and her quizzers guessed which hen she represented. A great clucking and cackling began in the enclosure on the lawn fitted up like a poultry yard, fenced in with chicken netting and logs supplied for roosts. Directly each one knew the was competition, and great was the effort to find out and write opposite the name in her programme the cognomen of the hen represented. The following rules

mas, high tails, heavy in legs; Buff Cochins, poor layers; Black Langshans, good layers; Plymouth Rock, cuckoo color.

After tea, which was handed at half past 5, a bell was rung, and the list giving the names of the guests and the hens they represented was read aloud. The guests were asked to check off on their programmes the names they had filled in correctly and to put a line through those they had not. The

of questions or replies. Great fun was made by the many questions put to each other as to whether they were good sitters—fancy or ornamental—good for table, good layers and so on. I have forgotten to say that the hostess made a separate list of the guests, setting after each the name of the bird she represented.

After tea, which was handed at half past 5, a bell was rung, and the list giving the names of the guests and the hens they represented was read aloud. The guests were asked to check off on their programmes the names they had filled in correctly and to put a line through those they had not. The

of questions or replies. Great fun was made by the many questions put to each other as to whether they were good sitters—fancy or ornamental—good for table, good layers and so on. I have forgotten to say that the hostess made a separate list of the guests, setting after each the name of the bird she represented.

After tea, which was handed at half past 5, a bell was rung, and the list giving the names of the guests and the hens they represented was read aloud. The guests were asked to check off on their programmes the names they had filled in correctly and to put a line through those they had not. The

of questions or replies. Great fun was made by the many questions put to each other as to whether they were good sitters—fancy or ornamental—good for table, good layers and so on. I have forgotten to say that the hostess made a separate list of the guests, setting after each the name of the bird she represented.

After tea, which was handed at half past 5, a bell was rung, and the list giving the names of the guests and the hens they represented was read aloud. The guests were asked to check off on their programmes the names they had filled in correctly and to put a line through those they had not. The

of questions or replies. Great fun was made by the many questions put to each other as to whether they were good sitters—fancy or ornamental—good for table, good layers and so on. I have forgotten to say that the hostess made a separate list of the guests, setting after each the name of the bird she represented.

After tea, which was handed at half past 5, a bell was rung, and the list giving the names of the guests and the hens they represented was read aloud. The guests were asked to check off on their programmes the names they had filled in correctly and to put a line through those they had not. The

of questions or replies. Great fun was made by the many questions put to each other as to whether they were good sitters—fancy or ornamental—good for table, good layers and so on. I have forgotten to say that the hostess made a separate list of the guests, setting after each the name of the bird she represented.

of questions or replies. Great fun was made by the many questions put to each other as to whether they were good sitters—fancy or ornamental—good for table, good layers and so on. I have forgotten to say that the hostess made a separate list of the guests, setting after each the name of the bird she represented.

After tea, which was handed at half past 5, a bell was rung, and the list giving the names of the guests and the hens they represented was read aloud. The guests were asked to check off on their programmes the names they had filled in correctly and to put a line through those they had not. The

of questions or replies. Great fun was made by the many questions put to each other as to whether they were good sitters—fancy or ornamental—good for table, good layers and so on. I have forgotten to say that the hostess made a separate list of the guests, setting after each the name of the bird she represented.

After tea, which was handed at half past 5, a bell was rung, and the list giving the names of the guests and the hens they represented was read aloud. The guests were asked to check off on their programmes the names they had filled in correctly and to put a line through those they had not. The

of questions or replies. Great fun was made by the many questions put to each other as to whether they were good sitters—fancy or ornamental—good for table, good layers and so on. I have forgotten to say that the hostess made a separate list of the guests, setting after each the name of the bird she represented.

After tea, which was handed at half past 5, a bell was rung, and the list giving the names of the guests and the hens they represented was read aloud. The guests were asked to check off on their programmes the names they had filled in correctly and to put a line through those they had not. The

of questions or replies. Great fun was made by the many questions put to each other as to whether they were good sitters—fancy or ornamental—good for table, good layers and so on. I have forgotten to say that the hostess made a separate list of the guests, setting after each the name of the bird she represented.

After tea, which was handed at half past 5, a bell was rung, and the list giving the names of the guests and the hens they represented was read aloud. The guests were asked to check off on their programmes the names they had filled in correctly and to put a line through those they had not. The

of questions or replies. Great fun was made by the many questions put to each other as to whether they were good sitters—fancy or ornamental—good for table, good layers and so on. I have forgotten to say that the hostess made a separate list of the guests, setting after each the name of the bird she represented.

After tea, which was handed at half past 5, a bell was rung, and the list giving the names of the guests and the hens they represented was read aloud. The guests were asked to check off on their programmes the names they had filled in correctly and to put a line through those they had not. The

of questions or replies. Great fun was made by the many questions put to each other as to whether they were good sitters—fancy or ornamental—good for table, good layers and so on. I have forgotten to say that the hostess made a separate list of the guests, setting after each the name of the bird she represented.

After tea, which was handed at half past 5, a bell was rung, and the list giving the names of the guests and the hens they represented was read aloud. The guests were asked to check off on their programmes the names they had filled in correctly and to put a line through those they had not. The

of questions or replies. Great fun was made by the many questions put to each other as to whether they were good sitters—fancy or ornamental—good for table, good layers and so on. I have forgotten to say that the hostess made a separate list of the guests, setting after each the name of the bird she represented.

After tea, which was handed at half past 5, a bell was rung, and the list giving the names of the guests and the hens they represented was read aloud. The guests were asked to check off on their programmes the names they had filled in correctly and to put a line through those they had not. The

of questions or replies. Great fun was made by the many questions put to each other as to whether they were good sitters—fancy or ornamental—good for table, good layers and so on. I have forgotten to say that the hostess made a separate list of the guests, setting after each the name of the bird she represented.

After tea, which was handed at half past 5, a bell was rung, and the list giving the names of the guests and the hens they represented was read aloud. The guests were asked to check off on their programmes the names they had filled in correctly and to put a line through those they had not. The

of questions or replies. Great fun was made by the many questions put to each other as to whether they were good sitters—fancy or ornamental—good for table, good layers and so on. I have forgotten to say that the hostess made a separate list of the guests, setting after each the name of the bird she represented.

After tea, which was handed at half past 5, a bell was rung, and the list giving the names of the guests and the hens they represented was read aloud. The guests were asked to check off on their programmes the names they had filled in correctly and to put a line through those they had not. The

of questions or replies. Great fun was made by the many questions put to each other as to whether they were good sitters—fancy or ornamental—good for table, good layers and so on. I have forgotten to say that the hostess made a separate list of the guests, setting after each the name of the bird she represented.

After tea, which was handed at half past 5, a bell was rung, and the list giving the names of the guests and the hens they represented was read aloud. The guests were asked to check off on their programmes the names they had filled in correctly and to put a line through those they had not. The

of questions or replies. Great fun was made by the many questions put to each other as to whether they were good sitters—fancy or ornamental—good for table, good layers and so on. I have forgotten to say that the hostess made a separate list of the guests, setting after each the name of the bird she represented.

After tea, which was handed at half past 5, a bell was rung, and the list giving the names of the guests and the hens they represented was read aloud. The guests were asked to check off on their programmes the names they had filled in correctly and to put a line through those they had not. The

of questions or replies. Great fun was made by the many questions put to each other as to whether they were good sitters—fancy or ornamental—good for table, good layers and so on. I have forgotten to say that the hostess made a separate list of the guests, setting after each the name of the bird she represented.

After tea, which was handed at half past 5, a bell was rung, and the list giving the names of the guests and the hens they represented was read aloud. The guests were asked to check off on their programmes the names they had filled in correctly and to put a line through those they had not. The

of questions or replies. Great fun was made by the many questions put to each other as to whether they were good sitters—fancy or ornamental—good for table, good layers and so on. I have forgotten to say that the hostess made a separate list of the guests, setting after each the name of the bird she represented.

After tea, which was handed at half past 5, a bell was rung, and the list giving the names of the guests and the hens they represented was read aloud. The guests were asked to check off on their programmes the names they had filled in correctly and to put a line through those they had not. The

of questions or replies. Great fun was made by the many questions put to each other as to whether they were good sitters—fancy or ornamental—good for table, good layers and so on. I have forgotten to say that the hostess made a separate list of the guests, setting after each the name of the bird she represented.

After tea, which was handed at half past 5, a bell was rung, and the list giving the names of the guests and the hens they represented was read aloud. The guests were asked to check off on their programmes the names they had filled in correctly and to put a line through those they had not. The

of questions or replies. Great fun was made by the many questions put to each other as to whether they were good sitters—fancy or ornamental—good for table, good layers and so on. I have forgotten to say that the hostess made a separate list of the guests, setting after each the name of the bird she represented.

After tea, which was handed at half past 5, a bell was rung, and the list giving the names of the guests and the hens they represented was read aloud. The guests were asked to check off on their programmes the names they had filled in correctly and to put a line through those they had not. The

of questions or replies. Great fun was made by the many questions put to each other as to whether they were good sitters—fancy or ornamental—good for table, good layers and so on. I have forgotten to say that the hostess made a separate list of the guests, setting after each the name of the bird she represented.

After tea, which was handed at half past 5, a bell was rung, and the list giving the names of the guests and the hens they represented was read aloud. The guests were asked to check off on their programmes the names they had filled in correctly and to put a line through those they had not. The

of questions or replies. Great fun was made by the many questions put to each other as to whether they were good sitters—fancy or ornamental—good for table, good layers and so on. I have forgotten to say that the hostess made a separate list of the guests, setting after each the name of the bird she represented.

After tea, which was handed at half past 5, a bell was rung, and the list giving the names of the guests and the hens they represented was read aloud. The guests were asked to check off on their programmes the names they had filled in correctly and to put a line through those they had not. The

of questions or replies. Great fun was made by the many questions put to each other as to whether they were good sitters—fancy or ornamental—good for table, good layers and so on. I have forgotten to say that the hostess made a separate list of the guests, setting after each the name of the bird she represented.

After tea, which was handed at half past 5, a bell was rung, and the list giving the names of the guests and the hens they represented was read aloud. The guests were asked to check off on their programmes the names they had filled in correctly and to put a line through those they had not. The

of questions or replies. Great fun was made by the many questions put to each other as to whether they were good sitters—fancy or ornamental—good for table, good layers and so on. I have forgotten to say that the hostess made a separate list of the guests, setting after each the name of the bird she represented.

After tea, which was handed at half past 5, a bell was rung, and the list giving the names of the guests and the hens they represented was read aloud. The guests were asked to check off on their programmes the names they had filled in correctly and to put a line through those they had not. The

of questions or replies. Great fun was made by the many questions put to each other as to whether they were good sitters—fancy or ornamental—good for table, good layers and so on. I have forgotten to say that the hostess made a separate list of the guests, setting after each the name of the bird she represented.

After tea, which was handed at half past 5, a bell was rung, and the list giving the names of the guests and the hens they represented was read aloud. The guests were asked to check off on their programmes the names they had filled in correctly and to put a line through those they had not. The

of questions or replies. Great fun was made by the many questions put to each other as to whether they were good sitters—fancy or ornamental—good for table, good layers and so on. I have forgotten to say that the hostess made a separate list of the guests, setting after each the name of the bird she represented.

After tea, which was handed at half past 5, a bell was rung, and the list giving the names of the guests and the hens they represented was read aloud. The guests were asked to check off on their programmes the names they had filled in correctly and to put a line through those they had not. The

of questions or replies. Great fun was made by the many questions put to each other as to whether they were good sitters—fancy or ornamental—good for table, good layers and so on. I have forgotten to say that the hostess made a separate list of the guests, setting after each the name of the bird she represented.

After tea, which was handed at half past 5, a bell was rung, and the list giving the names of the guests and the hens they represented was read aloud. The guests were asked to check off on their programmes the names they had filled in correctly and to put a line through those they had not. The

of questions or replies. Great fun was made by the many questions put to each other as to whether they were good sitters—fancy or ornamental—good for table, good layers and so on. I have forgotten to say that the hostess made a separate list of the guests, setting after each the name of the bird she represented.

After tea, which was handed at half past 5, a bell was rung, and the list giving the names of the guests and the hens they represented was read aloud. The guests were asked to check off on their programmes the names they had filled in correctly and to put a line through those they had not. The

of questions or replies. Great fun was made by the many questions put to each other as to whether they were good sitters—fancy or ornamental—good for table, good layers and so on. I have forgotten to say that the hostess made a separate list of the guests, setting after each the name of the bird she represented.

After tea, which was handed at half past 5, a bell was rung, and the list giving the names of the guests and the hens they represented was read aloud. The guests were asked to check off on their programmes the names they had filled in correctly and to put a line through those they had not. The

Dainties For the Summer Table

BEEF OLIVES.—Take thin slices of cold beef four inches long. Make a forcemeat of bread, herbs, salt and pepper and a little melted butter and mix. Place the forcemeat in a line along the side of meat, roll up and tie with white cord. Place upright in a pan of boiling water and simmer gently ten or twelve minutes. Take off the cord before serving.

Salmon Pudding.—To a nice salmon steak add its weight in finely crumbled bread and one tablespoonful of butter. Carefully knead the mass, season with pepper and salt and two well beaten eggs. Place the mixture in a greased mold and steam one and a half hours. Serve with white sauce. Canned salmon may be used.

Celery on Toast.—Thoroughly clean and trim stalks of celery about three inches long. Tie in bundles like asparagus and boil in the usual way until quite tender. Drain and arrange on pieces of hot buttered toast on a hot dish. Pour over the whole some cheese sauce sprinkled lightly with chopped parsley. Garnish the dish with crisp fried croutons and sprigs of parsley. Serve immediately; otherwise the sauce will become tough.

Fish Pie.—One ounce of butter, one onion, one ounce of flour, one pint of milk, three eggs, one and a half pounds of codfish, chopped parsley, cayenne pepper and salt. Fry two tablespoonfuls of minced onion in the butter; then add the flour and gradually the milk. Season with salt, cayenne and parsley. Boil the eggs till hard and free the fish of skin and bones. Grease a pie dish, put in a layer of fish, then a layer of sliced egg, and so on till all is used, seasoning each layer of egg. Pour all over the sauce, which should be cold when used. Cover with a good puff paste and bake.

Simple Tomato Salad.—Take six tomatoes, remove the skin by dipping them in boiling water and peel with a spoon. Cut into thin slices. Chop a medium sized onion very fine and sprinkle it over the tomatoes, together with a seasoning of salt and pepper. Pour over all four table-spoonfuls of salad oil, to which is added a tablespoonful of white vinegar.

Watercress Fern.—Fronds of maidenhair fern, if fully matured, may be kept ten days or a fortnight if laid in the folds of a damp towel. This is the method employed by florists for keeping cut ferns, and it is far more successful than the usual one of immersing the fronds in water.

To Cleanse Boots.—Equal quantities of molasses, vinegar and sweet oil mixed with a little lampblack cleans boots admirably.

costume, almost invariably made with a square cut bodice, accompanied by a transparent gimp. The sleeves frequently call for thin underclothes, and the costume for street wear sometimes needs a coat.

Don't wear an elaborate blouse with a shirt waist skirt nor a shirt waist with a trained "dress" skirt either. To see a girl with a lace blouse and a picture of a utterly unconscious of the incongruity of her plain walking skirt, is an absurdity, yet one that is in evidence very often.

mountain girl, eleven years old, flaged a railway train by waving her petticoat and stopped it from going into a cave in a thousand feet deep. So precatious of the service was the railway company that it will give Nannie Gibson a college education.

Miss Emma Ray Marshall of New York is one of the few successful well paid designers of dress in America. She is very ambitious and hopes to equal the oriental rug designers.

What answers for a shirt waist this season is usually a rather ornate needs barrels any more. Mrs. Seaman was formerly a newspaper woman, "Nellie Ely."

The most popular new novelist in England at present is Mrs. Henry de la Pasture. The story which brought her fame is "Peter's Mother," which critics class as perfect in its literary art. Mrs. de la Pasture is also a successful playwright.

A delegation of women from the Women Workers' League of Great Britain and Ireland is traveling through this country investigating the condition of

ON THE STAGE WHERE WOMEN ARE SEEN AND HEARD.

House cleaning is now by air suction machines. Even the leather belts are on girlish lines. They dip in front and often are held in the back with a large buckle. Burned, painted and colored leathers are pressed into service for belts, and these same leathers are used for collars, waistcoat lines, cuffs, etc., upon motorizing costumes.

To make honey water dissolve one tablespoonful of honey in one quart of water; add the juice of one lemon. This is a pleasant drink for invalids. It is not entirely without soothing action on the throat when a cough is present and if the water is very cold is a pleasant drink in summer.

Shaped belts of colored leather—tan, blue, red or green—are trimmed with two narrow bands of patent leather. Some very pretty simple toques and turbans suitable for traveling are of rough straw weaves, one very coarse and loosely woven being a great favorite. It is the acme of fashion to have belt buckle and

Our Special Clothing Announcement Appears On Page 3

Monday's Bargain News

Sure to be read by well posted folks with keen interest. It is just a glimpse at the news of the day; the headlines, but there is a story of surprising interest behind it. Every section of the store is aglow with newness; the fall season gets its start now; there are thousands of dollars worth of new goods at your service tomorrow, and so priced that you are sure to save money, no matter what you buy.

House Furnishings Have the Right of Way

Here is a sale that will stir prudent people to prompt action; a sale that will cause intense enthusiasm; a sale full of rich values, coming just at a time when these things are most needed.

Buy liberally tomorrow—we will tell you a trade secret—prices are sure to advance—there is a shortage of both wool and cotton; mills and factories are raising prices right now. If we hadn't bought in such large quantities long ago, we would have been caught and pinched like many merchants we know.

Our forethought is your gain; we might hang out for more profit; for higher prices—and get it; but we are building business in a better way; saving you more; welding our friendship in stronger bonds. Be here tomorrow; emulate the early bird—it will pay you.

Lace Curtains, 50c

Good for small rooms, halls or kitchen; Nottingham net; 30 inches wide; 2 1/2 yards long; assorted patterns.

Tennis Flannel, 7c

The regular 10c grade of other stores; cotton prices are climbing higher; get all you need of this now; 27 inches wide; heavy body; light, medium or dark colors.

Bleached Muslin, 8c

Just as good as Lonsdale or Fruit of the Loom; soft finished; firm round threads; full yard wide; it is well worth making a special trip to secure.

Cotton Bats, 7c

If you are making comforters you will want a lot of these excellent bats; snow white; sanitary cotton; full half pound in each bat; they sell regularly at 10c.

Good Towels, 9c

Heavy huck; extra thick and absorbent; 18x37 inches in size; fast color; red border; all hemmed and ready for use.

20c Drapery Cloth, 15c

The new 21 inch Momic cloth; Japanese and floral designs; it is the most kind for couch covers, draperies or easy corners.

Spun Glass Lining, 10c

The genuine Spun Glass that never sells for less than 20c a yard; full yard wide; all colors including black or white.

Black Dress Goods

44 inch black silk lustre; English weaves; $1 goods; yard...89c
50 inch black silk brilliantine; a very handsome, lustrous weave; worth 75c a yard; special for 59c
45 inch all wool batistes; new soft, elegant materials; for evening or street costumes; well worth $1.50 a yard; special for...$1.00
44 inch Cravenette suitings; rain proof; pin mixtures; for suits or coats; $1.50 goods; yard...$1.00

Millinery Buying Begins in Earnest

You will find crowds of fashionable ladies in our millinery section every day; women who have been all over town—seen everything and make their selections here.

We are glad to have our hats tested and compared with those shown elsewhere; the decision is sure to be in our favor; we are sticking closely to our slogan of this season "Millinery elegance without extravagance."

We will save you from a quarter to a third of the money you have decided to spend; we will give you a prettier hat; please you better; give you a larger choice.

You are as welcome to look as to buy; don't fret about taking up the time of our salespeople. You will be made to feel thoroughly at home.

These Street Hats Will Be on Sale Tomorrow

$4.25 The Brunswick; a natty tailored hat of French felt; in all white or Alice blue; bound in white satin; natural wings and white satin ribbon decorations.

75c Misses' school hats; Tricorn and Colonial shapes; patent leather crowns and bindings; colors navy, tan and brown.

$3.00—French sailors; stitched felt; in reseda green with Coque pompoms in shaded effects; color navy and white.
$2.85—Trimmed turbans; hand made; hand shirred; all colors; use your own trimmings.

Cravenette Coats, $12.50

The 40 inch kind; loose backs; loose fronts; some strapped in the back; latest leg of mutton sleeves; collarless; fine broad trimmed pockets.

Serge Suits, $12.50

Not one worth less than $15, some even more; beautiful of good looks; all wool; many jackets; collars trimmed in velvet; and silk soutache; heavy; front and back trimmed in velvet; silk armholes; fitted hips and pleated flares.

$5 Walking Skirts, $3.50

Exceptionally good values; latest lengths; correct lines; skirts that have the right bang; plain or fancy; designed; 7 gates; fitted tops and pleated flares.

Children's Dresses, $1.50

All wash; tastefully made; all new; mostly trimmed.

Women's Wrappers, 98c

Wash all of $1.50; some few sizes missing; Sea Island percales.

School Shoes, $1.25

Misses' school kind; soft uppers; extra strong sole; perfect fit.
Boys' box calf shoes; double soles;

Grocery Specials

Pels Naptha Soap, bar...5c
Blueing, large bottle...7c
6x6 Dish, pkg...19c
Parson's Ammonia, bottle...15c
Babcock's Lye, 2 cans...15c
Alpine Cream, 2 cans...25c
Rolled Oats, 8 lbs...30c
Surprise Coffee, lb...28c
Bamford's Baking Powder, 1 lb...28c
Venard's Chocolate, can...21c
California Cheese, 2 lbs...25c

Bazaar Specials

15c Lunch Boxes...10c
10c Dish Pans...8c
10c Whisk Brooms...25c
20c Nickel Plated Stifiers...25c
35c Tin Buckets...19c
25c Crumb Trays, with brush...19c
15c Towel Rollers...10c
$1.25 Oscilch Dusters...$1.50
21 Liqueur...73c
21 Malted Milk...73c
25c Cherry Pastoral...73c
25c Lane's Tea...73c
$1 Pinkham's Blood Purifier...73c

Redlick's
FRESH MEATS

Shirt Waist Sale Monday

Every one crisp with newness; the descriptions do not do justice to the garment. Words won't picture their beauty or their elegance. There is real economy in getting them now. Prices are very moderate; selections are at the best; everything is in your favor.

$1.75—A very handsome waist of all-wool; a soft, clingy material; made with tucked or shirred yoke; full leg of mutton sleeves; tucked gaudier cuffs; the new striped or checked patterns; all colors.

$4.50—An all-wool waist of very fine texture; made with an embroidered front; shirred yoke and fancy cuffs; a waist that can not be duplicated anywhere under $6.

$1.98—A very fine alpaca waist; in black only; charmingly tucked and pleated; full sleeves; long tucked cuffs; try to buy the same quality anywhere else and it will cost you at least $3.

hook back, sizes 9 to 13 1/2 $1.25
Children's hook proof calf skin shoes; soft, sturdy uppers; sizes 8 1/2 to 11 $1.25

WEEK'S PAY EMBEZZLED.

Foreman of Davis Ranch Escapes With $200.
Complainant was made about 10 o'clock last evening at police headquarters that the foreman at the Davis ranch, in Scandinavian colony, had run off with the week's pay for the gang of men, about $200.

This employee, who is a Slavonian, it was reported, received the money in the afternoon, to pay to the men when they quit work. In the evening he did not appear with the coin, and investigation showed that he had left the ranch.

Two of the men were selected to come to town and make complaint. They first told their story at the sheriff's office, then went to the police headquarters. The night officer there told them that the police had no jurisdiction in Scandinavian colony, and a warrant must be secured from Justice Smith.

It was feared that the man would come to Fresno, and leave the county by train.

STEAMER ALAMEDA IS ON THE ROCKS

Ran Aground Near Fort Point In a Fog.

ALL PASSENGERS TRANSFERRED IN SAFETY.

Attempts Were Being Made at Midnight to Haul Her Off After Lightening.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 30.—The steamer Alameda, of the Oceanic Steamship Company's line which started for Honolulu today, ran aground and at midnight was still fast on the rocks off Fort Point, just inside the heads and not far from where the Rio Janeiro is supposed to have gone down. Lighters are alongside and her cargo is being taken off. It is reported that the vessel is leaking, indicating that her bottom is damaged.

When the steamer went on the rocks Captain Thomas Dowdell was in command and Pilot C. H. Johnson was directing her course. In addition to a cargo valued at $100,000 the Alameda had on board thirty-six passengers.

The vessel went ashore during a heavy fog, which shut down suddenly and lifted almost as quickly, but after the damage had been done. The lifting of the fog, however, greatly facilitated the work of rescuing the passengers, which was done skillfully and expeditiously. All were transferred to the revenue cutter Golden Gate without discomfort and later landed at Pacific Street wharf.

The Alameda left her wharf at 11 a. m. for Honolulu. As she passed the Presidio the mists suddenly swept in from the sea. Pilot Johnson gave orders to slow down and he and Captain Dowdell listened for the guiding sound of either Lime Point or Fort Point whistles.

As they listened, the liner was caught by a swirl of the flood tide and carried toward the rocks, where she now rests. She struck gently. But few of the passengers had any idea that the vessel was aground. Then the engines stopped and most of the passengers thought the stop had been made to let off the pilot and it was only when the fog lifted and they saw the fort looming up over the bow that they knew why the Alameda was no longer going ahead.

All on board join in paying a tribute to Captain Dowdell's coolness which was largely responsible for the calm way in which the passengers met the situation when they learned the worst. The discipline was perfect, and fifteen minutes after the Alameda struck the passengers filed into the dining saloon and ate luncheon with much more composure than some of them could have commanded had she been out among the off-shore swells. After luncheon the passengers were quietly told to pack up their grips and prepare to leave the ship. There was no hurry, no excitement.

A few seconds after the liner struck, one of the whistles for a sound of which her navigators had been straining their ears was heard right ahead. It was the Fort Point fog signal. Five minutes later the whistle at Lime Point blew a maddening blast. Meanwhile the Alameda's own whistle was shrieking, and in response to her signals of distress boats were launched from the government life saving stations at Fort Point, Point Bonita and Golden Gate section. The Fort Point crew was the first to reach the Alameda. Then the fog cleared and the Point Bonita life savers were alongside shortly after.

By one of the life boats a request for assistance was sent ashore and telephoned to the city. In a little more than an hour after the Alameda struck the passengers were all on board the Golden Gate comfortably watching the efforts being made to drag the liner from the rocks. In less than four hours hope of getting her afloat until the next high tide had been abandoned. Lighters were alongside to receive the cargo and powerful tugs were standing by to render such aid as they could. Captain Dowdell and crew are still aboard.

The Alameda is an iron screw steamer of 3158 tons. She was built in 1883 by W. Cramp & Sons, Philadelphia. Her length is 314 feet, breadth 41, depth 17.3 feet.

TRADE TREATY WITH GERMANY

NEW PROPOSALS READY TO SEND TO WASHINGTON.

Reciprocity, However, Seems Not Likely to Be Realized Yet, Though Hope Exists.

BERLIN, Sept. 30.—The German government's definite proposals to the United States for a commercial treaty are about ready to go forward to Washington. They have been prepared because of a request of the state department, which inquired in June precisely what it was that Germany wanted, if the existing arrangement was unsatisfactory. Chancellor Von Buelow asked the German chambers of commerce and the organizations of the individual trades to inform the government of their ideas of the lines a new convention should take.

These reports, some of which have been called form a mass of material on which the second division of the foreign office, that devoted to trade policies and consular administration, had been working. Dr. Von Koerner, director of the department, who more than anyone else carried through the different Russian and Austrian treaties, has the American affair in hand.

Americans doing business in Germany who have built up the import trade in American manufactures are continually asked by Germans what they think of the prospect of a reciprocal treaty, and they usually reply that the outlook is doubtful, but they have been considerably cheered by the recent action of the New York and other American chambers of commerce in regard to a trade treaty.

Dr. Peters, dentist, 1033 1 street, Open Sundays, 9 to 4. Phone Main 423.

GRAFTING EVIL IN MILWAUKEE

Grand Jury Report Exposes the Rotten State

PRESIDENT OF CITY COUNCIL IS INDICTED.

Gambling Has Been Openly Conducted For Years and Perjury Is Notorious.

MILWAUKEE, Sept. 30.—Cornelius Corcoran of the common council of this city, together with a former alderman and two private citizens, was indicted by the grand jury in its final sitting, which ended tonight at 10 o'clock. Corcoran is charged with selling hay and oats to the city, which is a violation of city statute, which states that no officer holder shall enter into a contract to sell goods of any kind to the city.

Frank C. Klode, president of a local furniture company which sold furniture to the county, is indicted on a charge of bribery. William Murphy, a former alderman, is charged with bribery, and Fred Schultz, a newspaper reporter, with bribery. The grand jury recommends the calling of grand juries periodically. The total result of the grand jury's work was 18 indictments, involving thirty-five persons.

In its report on the labors of the summer, the grand jury took occasion to say that its investigation had developed a most surprising state of affairs—"vice and crime regularly organized and fostered."

"We doubt," continued the report, "if one person in 1000 knows the corrupt way in which the affairs of this community have been conducted. The effort fully to expose these conditions has been opposed by corrupt interests and the systematic resistance of powerful influences, apparently syndicated to conceal the truth and encourage crime. We have been hampered by the efforts of witnesses to conceal the facts, and in many of these instances it has been apparent that the witnesses were testifying falsely. Our observations regarding the vice and crime of perjury is such that we must characterize it as nothing short of outrageous."

The report states that the administration of the sheriff's office for the past six years has been investigated and that it has been found that after the office was placed on a salary basis a system of fee taking grew up at variance with the meaning of the statutes. It recommends that this fee taking be still further scrutinized and that the county board take steps to stop this form of grafting. Many ways in which the sheriff's office profits from these fees are mentioned. Bribery, the report says, is an every day affair.

The recent raid upon gambling houses and prosecution of the keepers and inmates thereof by the district attorney, office discloses that in the city of Milwaukee there have been for years at least regularly equipped, wide-open gambling houses. The investigation discloses, the report says, that the eight gambling houses raided were permitted in the very heart of the city and without interference to conduct games of faro, roulette, craps and poker, while other gamblers, who sought to start such games in their places of business were promptly raided by the police. The report says that since the starting of the investigation of affairs in county and city in 1903, there has been a noticeable decline in "grafting" and other corruption.

MISSISSIPPI WAS SAFELY LAUNCHED

SMALLEST BATTLESHIP NOW BEING CONSTRUCTED.

Displacement is Three Thousand Tons Less Than That of Other Vessels Building.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 30.—In the presence of a distinguished party of guests, the battleship Mississippi was launched at 2:55 o'clock this afternoon at the yards of the William Cramp Ship and Engine Building company. The vessel's sponsor was Miss Mabel Clara Money, daughter of United States Senator Money. Owing to the prevalence of yellow fever in the South, Governor Yrdum of Mississippi and his staff were unable to attend the launching. The governor was represented by Senator Money. The guests included Admiral Dewey, Lieutenant Commander Wood, Rear Admiral Rogers, Major Weaver, of this city, naval officers stationed here and in Washington and many prominent civilians.

The christening party consisted of Senator and Mrs. Money, Miss Money and her fiancé, Dr. William W. Kitchen. They were escorted to the yard by General George B. Williams, Cramp's Washington representative, who accompanied them to this city. Immediately after the launching luncheon was served. Special interest is attached to the battleship Mississippi since it carries the smallest displacement of any United States battleship now being built, with the exception of the Idaho, a sister ship.

The displacement of these two vessels is 15,000 tons each, while all the later battleships, including the Vermont, Kansas and Minnesota, now being completed in other ship yards, have a displacement of 18,000 tons.

The Mississippi will be equal to many battleships of 18,000 tons displacement and no vessel of the same displacement in any navy of the nations carries equally heavy batteries. The main batteries will consist of four 12-inch breechloading rifles, mounted in two turrets; eight 8-inch breechloading rifles in four turrets; eight 7-inch breechloaders behind, consequent armor; and two 21-inch submerged torpedo tubes; also, the secondary batteries, twelve 3-inch, six 3-pounder, two 1-pounder automatics, two 1-pounder rapid fire guns, two 3-inch field pieces, two machine guns and six automatics.

The Mississippi will be 375 feet in length on the water line and the length over all will be 382, with a beam of 77 feet. The ship will be equipped with eleven knots. The ship will be equipped with triple expansion engines of 10,000 indicated horse power, driven with eight Babcock and Wilcox

A Cough Resolution

The season is approaching when coughs are apt to prevail. Resolve to avoid coughs if possible this year.

It is possible by having at hand a thoroughly reliable remedy and using it promptly. Such a remedy should be kept in the medicine closet of every home. The remedy to keep is

Baker's "974" Cough Syrup

This remedy has been so long and thoroughly tried as to leave no doubt that it is superior in every way.

Pleasant to take, prompt in results and equally good for young and old. You ought to have a favorite cough cure. Test this one and you will have.

PRICE 50 CENTS

Baker & Colson Drug Co.

FRESNO CALIF.

PHONE MAIN 87.

Showing New Axminster Carpets $1.25 a Yard

And they're beauties, too.

For variety, for taste and for up-to-date-ness, these carpets surpass anything that ever has been shown in Fresno.

You'll find them in all the latest designs, and in all the latest colors.

Take your choice of the new blue, the new reds, the new browns or the new greens.

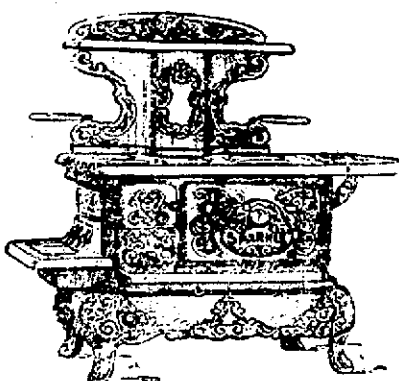

Our Axminster carpets always wear well, have a decided rich appearance and very much admired by all lovers of pretty and artistic carpets.

We can also show you a handsome line of Body Brussels, Velvets and Tapestry Brussels.

W. PARKER LYON

THE FURNITURE KING

1132-1140 I STREET

CLOSING OUT

All our Stoves, Ranges, Heaters, Agateware, Tinware, Etc.

At Cost and Below

We are going out of this line.

WORMSER FURNITURE CO.
PATTERSON BLOCK, J STREET, FRESNO.

HASTE MAKES WASTE

unless you drive an auto. All the knowing ones in this vicinity are wasting no time in their haste to own either

A WHITE, A PIERCE, AN AUTO. CAE OE A REO.

The White is a steam car, in which speed and comfort predominate. The other two are gasoline cars, either one of which will give you an immense amount of service for a small outlay of money in the initial cost. "The Pierce Stanhope" or "Great Arrow," the Autocar Runabout and the Reo Touring Car are here awaiting your inspection. If you'll come in, we'll put the machines through their paces.

WATERMAN BROS.

$4.50 Carmen Bracelets $3.65
$6.00 Carmen Bracelets $4.65
$7.00 Carmen Bracelets $5.25

A special sale. Just a fine opportunity for all admirers of these Carmen bracelets to purchase one at a price that is far below their regular selling price.

These bracelets are very stylish, lend to the wrist a most graceful effect and are quite the fad now.

See the window display—then make your selection early.

H. B. OBERLIN
The Progressive Jeweler,
1119 J Street,
Fiske Block.

THE TOGGERY

Irving Winter, Prop. Fresno's Own Boy
1940 TULARE STREET.

Beautiful suitings in the popular grey shade will be very stylish for fall and winter, cut in the swiftest fashion, long coats with deep vents either in center or side of coat, trousers cut peg-top which hang gracefully and fit over the top of shoes. We have them in number of shades.

Post Office Block